Ike Proposes Extension Of Mutual Trade

Outlines Economic Program For Nation

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to extend the Reciprocal Trade Act for a year while his administration searches for "more effective solutions" to world economic problems.

The act is due to expire June 12. It is a law sponsored by the Roosevelt-Truman administrations to expand the international exchange of goods by mutual agreements lowering tariffs and other trade barriers. Under the law the President can negotiate such agreements with foreign nations without submitting the pacts to Congress.

A 12-month extension, the President told Congress in a special message, would be an interim measure allowing "for the temporary continuation of our present trade program pending completion of a thorough and comprehensive re-examination of the economic foreign policy."

"I believe that such a re-examination is imperative in order to develop more effective solutions to the international economic problems today confronting the United States and its partners in the community of free nations," Eisenhower said.

Demo Agreement Seen

Sen. Taft of Ohio, Republican floor leader in the Senate, indicated there may be a fight over any new reciprocal trade program, but he said he was agreeable to postponing it for a year, as the President's proposal would do.

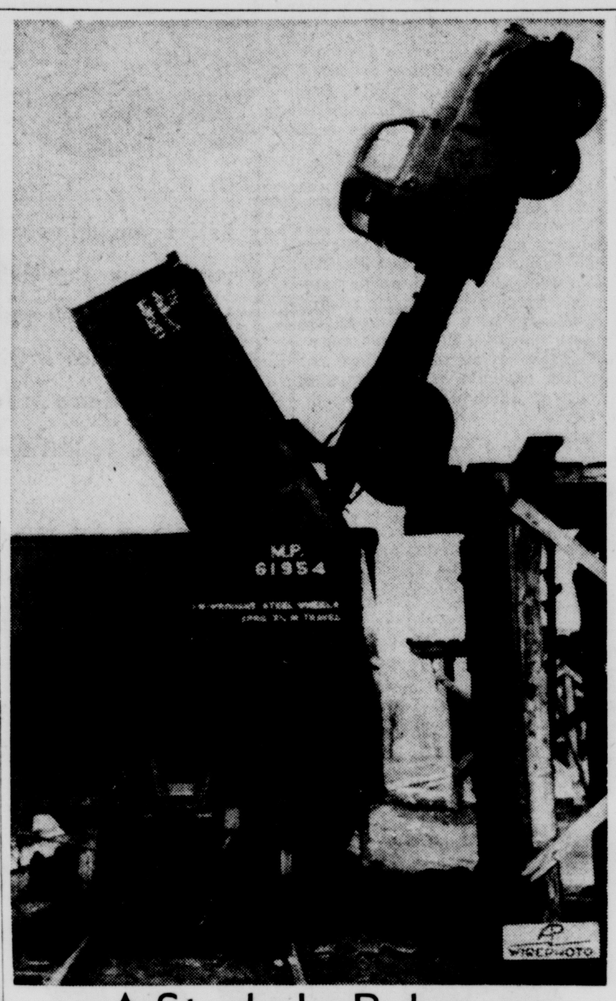
At a news conference later, Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) said he thinks the Democrats will go along with a one-year extension of the present act.

High traiff forces in Congress have fought Democratic reciprocal trade policies for years, contending that American industry and agriculutre have been forced into unfair competition with low-cost foreign markets.

Co-Operation A "Must"

The United States and its allies must co-operate in a wide range of economic activities to maintain a strong Free World, the President said. Among the "musts" he included:

"Adoption of sound internal policies, creation of conditions fostering international investment, assistance to underdeveloped areas, progress towards freedom of international payments and convertibility of currencies, and trade arrangements aimed at the widest possible multi-lateral trade."



A Study In Balance

Driver Gordon Robinson couldn't do this again if he tried. He backed his dump truck up a ramp at Carbondale, Ill., to unload coal into the rail car. The tailgate of the truck failed to open as he started to unload. The weight shifted to the rear of the truck, causing it to upend and come to rest with the rear wheels at the edge of the platform.

Red Ministers Still Working In Boston, Counterspy Says

Philbrick Declares He Belonged To Cell

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—A former counterspy within the Communist party said today five persons he knew as steeled, disciplined members of a secret Red under-ground in Boston still are serving there as ministers.

Herbert A. Philbrick, who told of attending his first meeting of the underground cell, Pro-4, in a fashionable Beacon Hill apartment, was called into a closed door session of the Senate internal security subcommittee to name names.

Philbrick had testified in an open session he spent nine years as a Communist, all the while reporting secretly to the FBI, and the last two years were in this "deeply underground" cell made up of some 70 to 80 Bostonians of culture and distinction.

There were no doubts in the minds of anyone in the cell, he said, that they were operating under discipline of the International Communist party, not the American party, and were elements of a Moscow - controlled conspiracy" operating outside the laws of this country."

As a Christian, he said, it was a terrific shock to learn there were seven or eight "hardened, steeled, disciplined members posing as ministers of the Gospel." So far as he knows, Philbrick said, they were Communists before becoming ministers rather than ministers converted to Communism.

Through his testimony, which dealt mostly with Communist activities in general, the subcommittee backed into the touchy subject of Reds in churches. This was the first definite word brought out by a witness in public hearings that the Communists have infested the field of religion.

Hammarskjold Is New UN Head

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., April 7 (AP)—The General Assembly today gave final approval to the East-West big powers' choice of Sweden's Dag Hammarskjold as secretary general of the United Nations.

The Swedish diplomat-economist succeeds Trygve Lie, a former Norwegian Labor party man who held the job through seven turbulent years as the U. N.'s first administrative boss.

Lie, a frequent target of Russian abuse in recent years, will formally hand over the reins to the 47-year-old Swede at ceremonies here Friday.

In a farewell speech, the burly 57-year-old Lie told the Assembly today the ability of both East and West to agree on a successor "fulfilled the main hope that moved me to submit my resignation last November."

The General Assembly, acting on a recommendation of the Security Council, elected the Swede 57-1, with one abstention and one member absent. The council nominated Hammarskjold a week ago.

He is expected to arrive from Stockholm Thursday and to take the oath of office Friday for a five-year term in the $40,000-a-year tax free job.

Iranian Police Forestall Riots

TEHRAN, Iran, April 7 (AP) — Supporters of Iran's two rivals for power, Premier Mohammed Mossadegh and the Shah, were quickly dispersed by police today when they tried to stage demonstrations.

Government security forces raided headquarters of the Nazi-like Sumka Party and the rightest pro-Shah Arya Party, seizing firearms, swords and incendiary materials.

Mossadegh's National Front deputies sought to push a bill through parliament giving the cabinet supreme power over the Shah, but were hamstrung by lack of a quorum.

Later these deputies announced they would not attend any more closed sessions of Parliament to consider the legislation. They said it had been debated long enough and now they wanted action in open meeting. This they will try to get Thursday.

Attorneys Named For Ice Show Suits

BALTIMORE, April 7 (AP) — Four Baltimore attorneys were named today to represent numerous plaintiffs in damage suits against ice-skating star Sonja Henie starting here April 27.

Lawyers for the many plaintiffs have designated Paul Berman, Allen A. Davis Jr., Charles G. Page and Leonard Weinberg as trial counsel in the combined case. Benjamin C. Howard of Baltimore is attorney for Miss Henie and the Sonja Henie Ice Show.

The suits—more than 300 representing claims totaling nearly six million dollars which have been filed—grew out of the collapse of stands before a performance of Miss Henie's ice show at the Fifth Regiment Armory here March 6, 1952.

Woman's Ring Nearly Costs Her Life In Freak Mishap

TULSA, Okla., April 7 (AP)—Mrs. Calvin Yost dangled from the third floor of an elevator shaft, her finger ring caught on the thread of a bolt in the safety gate.

There she hung nearly five minutes, 50 feet above the lift's floor, before she was rescued.

A fellow employe in a variety store raised the elevator back to her feet—and when it touched she fainted.

Mrs. Yost experienced her fantastic ordeal yesterday. She told this story today:

A window display clerk, on the store's third floor, she placed a number of boxes on the freight elevator, one of the kind whose top can be folded back in sections to permit loading of lengthy articles.

As she lowered the safety gate and pulled the control cable, the pile of boxes started to tumble. To brace them she turned with her left hand against the gate, her right steadying the load.

"It was terrible then," Mrs. Yost recalled. "The elevator went on and I found myself suspended. My ring had caught on a bolt on the elevator gate. I couldn't reach the cable to stop the elevator because it was on my left."

Her screams brought an employe and a customer to the shaft, but they couldn't pull the 145-pound woman over the gate.

Another employe, Katherine Ash, boarded the lift on the first floor. Seeing the "hatch" was up, she started raising the elevator.

"I heard it coming," said Mrs. Yost. "I braved a look down and there was Katherine with a look as if pleading for me to hang on. Then I felt my feet touch—and that's the last I remember."

War Spending Must Be Cut By $4 Billion

Humphrey Declares More Paring Needed

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey warned today that military spending would have to be cut four billion dollars if the budget is to be balanced next year—and six to seven billion would have to be sliced off to pave the way for tax cuts.

He quickly added he doesn't think anybody is in a position yet to say whether such reductions can be accomplished — "I know I can't."

Humphrey gave his views to a Senate appropriations subcommittee amid a series of rapid developments in the federal taxes - spending picture:

1. Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), told reporters Secretary of Defense Wilson has been talking about a two billion dollar cut in military spending but "some others have been discussing a four billion reduction."

2. The Committee for Economic Development (CED), an influential organization of businessmen and economists, suggested total federal spending can be trimmed about $6,600,000,000 for the year beginning July 1. The CED said such a cut would permit a series of reductions in taxes on individuals and corporations to take effect as scheduled under present laws.

3. Chairman Bridges (R-NY) of the Senate Appropriations Committee said after a conference with President Eisenhower that government outlays "can be cut all along the line—including defense—with-security."

4. Chairman Johnson (D-Texas) of the Senate Democratic Policy Committee said members are apprehensive about "panicky" talk of cutting military spending and weakening defenses if a truce is negotiated in Korea.

Brownell Asserts US Can't Afford To Curb Treaties

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell said today "we can ill afford" to restrict the nation's treaty making power—"the one great peacetime weapon this country possesses."

It is needed, he told the Senate Judiciary Committee, as a means of solving international problems and of winning and keeping friends and allies.

Brownell was the second Cabinet member in as many days to speak out against a proposed constitutional amendment which would require a separate act of Congress, passed by both Senate and House, to make any treaty provision effective as law within this country. Legislative action also would be required to make executive agreements effective.

At present, the Senate alone ratifies treaties, while executive agreements do not require legislative action.

Secretary of State Dulles said yesterday the President would need full power to make executive agreements with allies in case of war, and the nation would require broad treaty powers for the subsequent peace.

Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) and other sponsors of the amendment have contended that international agreements could wipe out safeguards now written into the Constitution. Opponents have disputed this view.

Declaring that the world is "fraught with peril," Brownell told the committee:

"On every hand we have need for friends and allies—the old who have dealt securely with us in the past, the new who can rely upon the example of the past."

Ike, Adenauer Meet, See Agreement

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—West Germany's chancellor, Konrad Adenauer, met with President Eisenhower today for the first of a series of crucial talks on European defenses against communism.

The German leader arrived in Washington with a pledge of "loyal and helpful" partnership in the struggle for world freedom.

"The German people are on the side of freedom," Adenauer said when he was met at the National Airport by Vice President Nixon and Secretary of State Dulles.

"We shall be the loyal and helpful partner on the grave and difficult road on which the United States is leading mankind to freedom."

Soviets Ask U.S. To Drop Demands For Germ Warfare Investigation

U. S. Switches Approach To 'Crisis Years'

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—The United States has worked out a shift in approach to the problem of Western European defense, which involves plans for dealing with the Communist military threat over the next 20 or 30 years and dropping the idea of cold war "crisis years."

Secretary of State Dulles is expected to submit the plan at the North Atlantic council meeting opening April 23 at Paris, along with an announcement that the U. S. intends to level off its vast post-Korea military spending.

The policy revision is understood reliably to have been threshed out in the National Security Council. The council, the highest defense planning agency, is composed of the President, secretaries of state and defense and other top officials.

Original plans for the buildup of North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces were based on the concept of a so-called year of maximum danger when the threat of Soviet attack would reach a peak. A recent target date for NATO readiness was 1954, which was fixed after the date had been shifted forward several times.

Top authorities for the last two years, however, are reported authoritatively to have been thinking along these lines:

Any military buildup toward a crisis year will inevitably be followed by a letdown when targets are reached. What the U. S. must seek is a level of economy which can sustain an adequate defense establishment over 20 or 30 years.

Cruiser Baltimore Will Take Part In Coronation Review

LONDON, April 7 (AP)—Nine lines of ships, each line seven miles long, will greet Queen Elizabeth II at her giant coronation naval review June 15, the Admiralty announced today.

The 1,590-ton dispatch vessel Surprise will take the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh on a 90-minute journey between the lines.

As the Surprise reaches the reviewing point at Spithead, off the Southern English coast, every battleship, cruiser and aircraft carrier in the massive fleet will fire a royal salute of 21 guns.

Every country having diplomatic relations with Britain has been asked to send a ship to the review. The United States will send the 13,600-ton cruiser Baltimore. Russia has said she will send a ship but has not announced what type.

Fighting Heavy Despite Parleys

SEOUL, Wednesday, April 8 (AP)—U. S. Sabre jets Tuesday shot down two Communist MIG jets and shot up eight more by pilot estimates in a day which saw hot action in the air and aground.

Thunderjets behind the Sabre screen swept to within 12 miles of the Manchurian border and smashed Red transportation facilities.

South Korean infantrymen lost a bitter struggle to hold a rugged 2,000-foot hill on the Central Front which they twice wrested from the Communists during the day.

There was no apparent letup of pressure anywhere despite progress made by Allied and Communist negotiators on prisoner exchange at Panmunjom.

The main ground action centered about a hill outpost between Christmas Hill and Capitol Hill in Central Korea, scene of fighting for eight days.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said well over half of the Chinese attack force of 180 men were killed or wounded last night in storming the height.

Bottleneck Memorial Statue To Be Moved

WILLIAMSPORT, Md., April 7 (AP)—Williamsport has decided to move its World War I memorial, which has stood for many years in the middle of the main street, which is also U. S. Route 11 and a heavily traveled north-south highway.

The memorial, a statue of a World War I soldier atop a marble block, will be moved to a nearby park. City officials said too many cars had run into it.

FACES SURGERY — British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden has cancelled his scheduled departure to Southern Europe and the Balkans because of illness. The diplomat was hospitalized for a gall bladder operation.

Hall 'Acceptable' To Taft As GOP National Leader

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—Former Rep. Leonard W. Hall of New York apparently was assured election as Republican national chairman with the announcement today by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) that Hall is "acceptable" to him.

But the circumstances of Taft's belated approval were such as to put Hall on notice that his regime will be watched closely for any signs that he is promoting the political future of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

The national committee will meet Friday to elect a successor to C. Wesley Roberts, who resigned after a Kansas legislative committee held he violated the spirit of that state's anti-lobbying law in acting as a public relations man in the 1951 sale of a hospital to the state.

Hall, now a surrogate judge, is reported to have the clearance of President Eisenhower and Taft's statement today seemed to point to the unanimous election of the New Yorker.

Taft said he had no choice among the candidates for the chairmanship but looked forward to "working harmoniously" with the man the committee chooses.

Noting that he had discussed with Hall his views on what the committee should do in the way of "full publicity and organization for the re-election of a Republican Congress in November, 1954," Taft added:

"His selection would be entirely acceptable to me, as would that of a number of others who have been proposed."

Envoy Returns To USSR

LONDON, April 7 (AP)—Sir Alvary Gascoigne, Britain's envoy to the Soviet Union, left London by air for Moscow today after six days of high level consultations on the new Soviet "peace offensive."

Two weeks ago, Sir Alvary was instructed to stay in Moscow despite the fact his home leave in Britain was long overdue. As the Red peace offensive gathered speed last week, however, he was hurriedly recalled for talks.

Red Delegate Makes Plea In 'Mild' Speech

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., April 7 (AP)—The Soviet Union, in one of its mildest speeches on a major issue in the U. N., appealed today to the United States to drop demands for an impartial investigation of Communist germ warfare charges against the U. S. and U. N. armies in Korea.

Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin told the 60-nation U. N. Political Committee that Moscow would not press details of ist charges if the United States would ratify the Geneva Protocol of 1925 prohibiting bacterial weapons. The U. S. has said it would not ratify because the instrument is not enforcible.

Ambassador Ernest A. Gross, United States delegate, has been calling since last June for an impartial commission to investigate the Red accusations. He said after the committee adjourned he will study Zorin's speech and perhaps answer tomorrow. The U. S. hopes the committee will approve the commission tomorrow, even though the USSR will not co-operate.

Western diplomats expressed amazement at the soft tone of Zorin's approach. They cautioned, however, that Zorin appeared to be asking in effect for the United States to admit it had been using germ warfare and to promise not to do it again. They added that the U. S. hardly would agree to any move that might be tantamount to an admission of guilt.

Victor Andres Belaunde, Peru, and Alexis Kyrou, Greece, called attention to the new peace "atmosphere" in the world and urged the committee to take that into account in continuing the debate.

Zorin said the Soviet delegation took into consideration "the whole atmosphere" in which the present issue is being discussed and had no intention of "sharpening" the situation.

Zorin said Gross' complaints that the charges are nothing but propaganda did not knock down the "facts" brought out in testimony he said was given by "two high ranking" American officers and in other evidence.

Fernand Van Langenhove, Belgium, said everyone knows how the Russians obtain testimony and that no one in the room really believed the "so-called confessions" of the two officers. He said a plausible explanation for the whole campaign is that Peiping wanted to cover up the lack of sanitary and medical services during recent epidemics.

Woman With Polio, 'Negative' Blood Becomes Mother

EVANSTON, Ill., April 7 (AP)—A woman with an Rh negative blood factor and suffering from polio gave birth to a premature baby Monday.

Both are doing fine today.

A 10-man medical team was on hand in the delivery room because any of the three complications—prematurity, Rh negative blood or polio—is a peril to life.

The mother, Mrs. Leah Kindlein, 24, was found to have polio when she was taken to Evanston Hospital Sunday for the expected birth.

The birth of the 5 pound, 6 ounce girl was without complications, and no blood transfusions were required. The birth was a month ahead of time.

The mother apparently has a very light case of polio with some weakness of leg muscles, attendants said.

FTC Probing Alleged Used Car Racket In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, April 7 (AP)—A leading Baltimore car dealer said today the Federal Trade Commission is investigating complaints that some used car dealers are operating a racket in Baltimore.

The dealer, R. Bruce Livie, said the FTC investigation was a result of a letter he had written to Governor McKeldin asking for legislation to curb the operations of "unethical" dealers.

The disclosure of the FTC investigation follows closely a report by the Better Business Bureau that it receives daily complaints of excessive finance charges from used car purchases.

Bureau Manager Edwin M. Lockard said some buyers have been charged as much as 50 per cent of the unpaid balance on used cars for carrying charges.

An Army officer, Lockard said, had to pay finance charges of $811 on a balance of $1,319 for a second-hand coupe.

A woman reported to the bureau that she paid finance charges totaling $356.56 on a balance of $618 for a car she needed to drive to work. The car broke down while being driven away from the lot.

Livie told the governor the unethical practices resulted from "either inadequate laws or no laws at all," and asked the governor to name a commission to investigate the problem and recommend legislations.

McKeldin, in reply, assured Livie of support in any move for adequate legislation, and said the matter was being referred to the FTC. Livie said the FTC notified him a few days later that it was starting its inquiry.

Reds Promise To Produce Figures Today

Both Sides Hold To Reservations

BULLETIN

MUNSAN, April 8 (Wednesday)—(INS)—The Communists today advised the Allies they will return a total of 600 sick and wounded prisoners, 150 of them non-Koreans.

MUNSAN, Wednesday, April 7 (AP)—Allied negotiators hoped to obtain a definite commitment from the Communists today on how many sick and wounded captives the Reds will exchange on a voluntary basis and how soon the transfer can begin.

Agreement in principle on the exchange of all sick and wounded prisoners who want to go home was reached speedily Tuesday. This raised some hopes here that an overall formula for halting the long Korean War may have been found.

United Nations and Communist liaison teams were scheduled to meet for the third time in as many days in Panmunjom at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. Tuesday, EST).

On today's agenda were five unsettled points in a nine-point program proposed by the U. N. Command. Four other points were agreed upon Tuesday.

The Communists said they would produce today or tomorrow the number of sick and wounded they are ready to hand over. The figures may include interned civilians as well as prisoners.

The U. N. Command had a similar figure ready.

The Communist delegation, headed by North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho and the Allied delegation led by Rear Adm. John C. Daniel each made vital reservations which if applied later to Operation Big Switch — the exchange of able bodied prisoners—could settle the last issues barring a truce.

The reservations were:

1. The U. N. Command accepted a Communist pledge for direct repatriation of sick and wounded with the exception that no such prisoner would be sent home against his will. This spelled out the vital Allied insistence that no prisoner be forced back to Communist domination.

2. The Communist delegation agreed with the Allied exception but stipulated that prisoners who were not directly repatriated could be sent to a neutral nation. This wrote into the sick and wounded exchange plan the essential part of the overall settlement proposed March 30 by Red China's premier and foreign minister Chou En-lai.

Grammer To Die For Slaying Wife; Appeal Is Filed

BALTIMORE, April 7 (AP)—Hanging was decreed today for George Edward Grammer, 36-year-old office manager who killed his wife so he could marry a new love and almost got away with it by making murder look like an automobile accident.

Judge Herman M. Moser imposed the death penalty. He said he could find no excuse for such "a cunning scheme . . . a dastardly plan . . . an atrocious, despicable killing."

Grammer's counsel later signed papers taking the case to the State Court of Appeals at Annapolis. Death sentences always go to the governor. The present governor, Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin, has cancelled all three to come before him since he took office early in 1951.

After hearing the evidence as both judge and jury, at Grammer's request, the judge said he was convinced the accused had killed his wife deliberately so he would be free to marry Miss Mathilda Mizibrocky, 28-year-old United Nations stenographer from Hamilton, Ont.

Grammer's lawyer made a plea for mercy today with the argument the slaying was the result of a long, bitter, drink-punctuated argument, a sudden impulsive thing, second degree murder, perhaps no worse than manslaughter.

But Judge Moser said the frustration of Grammer's "desire to be with a woman other than his wife is not the sort of provocation which would justify the court in mitigrating the penalty."

Red Ministers Still Working In Boston, Counterspy Says

Philbrick Declares He Belonged To Cell

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—A former counterspy within the Communist party said today five persons he knew as steeled, disciplined members of a secret Red under-ground in Boston still are serving there as ministers.

Herbert A. Philbrick, who told of attending his first meeting of the underground cell, Pro-4, in a fashionable Beacon Hill apartment, was called into a closed door session of the Senate internal security subcommittee to name names.

Philbrick had testified in an open session he spent nine years as a Communist, all the while reporting secretly to the FBI, and the last two years were in this "deeply underground" cell made up of some 70 to 80 Bostonians of culture and distinction.

There were no doubts in the minds of anyone in the cell, he said, that they were operating under discipline of the International Communist party, not the American party, and were elements of a Moscow - controlled conspiracy" operating outside the laws of this country."

As a Christian, he said, it was a terrific shock to learn there were seven or eight "hardened, steeled, disciplined members posing as ministers of the Gospel." So far as he knows, Philbrick said, they were Communists before becoming ministers rather than ministers converted to Communism.

Through his testimony, which dealt mostly with Communist activities in general, the subcommittee backed into the touchy subject of Reds in churches. This was the first definite word brought out by a witness in public hearings that the Communists have infested the field of religion.

Hammarskjold Is New UN Head

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., April 7 (AP)—The General Assembly today gave final approval to the East-West big powers' choice of Sweden's Dag Hammarskjold as secretary general of the United Nations.

The Swedish diplomat-economist succeeds Trygve Lie, a former Norwegian Labor party man who held the job through seven turbulent years as the U. N.'s first administrative boss.

Lie, a frequent target of Russian abuse in recent years, will formally hand over the reins to the 47-year-old Swede at ceremonies here Friday.

In a farewell speech, the burly 57-year-old Lie told the Assembly today the ability of both East and West to agree on a successor "fulfilled the main hope that moved me to submit my resignation last November."

The General Assembly, acting on a recommendation of the Security Council, elected the Swede 57-1, with one abstention and one member absent. The council nominated Hammarskjold a week ago.

He is expected to arrive from Stockholm Thursday and to take the oath of office Friday for a five-year term in the $40,000-a-year tax free job.

Brownell Asserts US Can't Afford To Curb Treaties

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell said today "we can ill afford" to restrict the nation's treaty making power—"the one great peacetime weapon this country possesses."

It is needed, he told the Senate Judiciary Committee, as a means of solving international problems and of winning and keeping friends and allies.

Brownell was the second Cabinet member in as many days to speak out against a proposed constitutional amendment which would require a separate act of Congress, passed by both Senate and House, to make any treaty provision effective as law within this country. Legislative action also would be required to make executive agreements effective.

At present, the Senate alone ratifies treaties, while executive agreements do not require legislative action.

Secretary of State Dulles said yesterday the President would need full power to make executive agreements with allies in case of war, and the nation would require broad treaty powers for the subsequent peace.

Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) and other sponsors of the amendment have contended that international agreements could wipe out safeguards now written into the Constitution. Opponents have disputed this view.

Declaring that the world is "fraught with peril," Brownell told the committee:

"On every hand we have need for friends and allies—the old who have dealt securely with us in the past, the new who can rely upon the example of the past."

Cruiser Baltimore Will Take Part In Coronation Review

LONDON, April 7 (AP)—Nine lines of ships, each line seven miles long, will greet Queen Elizabeth II at her giant coronation naval review June 15, the Admiralty announced today.

The 1,590-ton dispatch vessel Surprise will take the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh on a 90-minute journey between the lines.

As the Surprise reaches the reviewing point at Spithead, off the Southern English coast, every battleship, cruiser and aircraft carrier in the massive fleet will fire a royal salute of 21 guns.

Every country having diplomatic relations with Britain has been asked to send a ship to the review. The United States will send the 13,600-ton cruiser Baltimore. Russia has said she will send a ship but has not announced what type.

Fighting Heavy Despite Parleys

SEOUL, Wednesday, April 8 (AP)—U. S. Sabre jets Tuesday shot down two Communist MIG jets and shot up eight more by pilot estimates in a day which saw hot action in the air and aground.

Thunderjets behind the Sabre screen swept to within 12 miles of the Manchurian border and smashed Red transportation facilities.

South Korean infantrymen lost a bitter struggle to hold a rugged 2,000-foot hill on the Central Front which they twice wrested from the Communists during the day.

There was no apparent letup of pressure anywhere despite progress made by Allied and Communist negotiators on prisoner exchange at Panmunjom.

The main ground action centered about a hill outpost between Christmas Hill and Capitol Hill in Central Korea, scene of fighting for eight days.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said well over half of the Chinese attack force of 180 men were killed or wounded last night in storming the height.

Hall 'Acceptable' To Taft As GOP National Leader

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—Former Rep. Leonard W. Hall of New York apparently was assured election as Republican national chairman with the announcement today by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) that Hall is "acceptable" to him.

But the circumstances of Taft's belated approval were such as to put Hall on notice that his regime will be watched closely for any signs that he is promoting the political future of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

The national committee will meet Friday to elect a successor to C. Wesley Roberts, who resigned after a Kansas legislative committee held he violated the spirit of that state's anti-lobbying law in acting as a public relations man in the 1951 sale of a hospital to the state.

Hall, now a surrogate judge, is reported to have the clearance of President Eisenhower and Taft's statement today seemed to point to the unanimous election of the New Yorker.

Taft said he had no choice among the candidates for the chairmanship but looked forward to "working harmoniously" with the man the committee chooses.

Noting that he had discussed with Hall his views on what the committee should do in the way of "full publicity and organization for the re-election of a Republican Congress in November, 1954," Taft added:

"His selection would be entirely acceptable to me, as would that of a number of others who have been proposed."

Envoy Returns To USSR

LONDON, April 7 (AP)—Sir Alvary Gascoigne, Britain's envoy to the Soviet Union, left London by air for Moscow today after six days of high level consultations on the new Soviet "peace offensive."

Two weeks ago, Sir Alvary was instructed to stay in Moscow despite the fact his home leave in Britain was long overdue. As the Red peace offensive gathered speed last week, however, he was hurriedly recalled for talks.

Woman With Polio, 'Negative' Blood Becomes Mother

EVANSTON, Ill., April 7 (AP)—A woman with an Rh negative blood factor and suffering from polio gave birth to a premature baby Monday.

Both are doing fine today.

A 10-man medical team was on hand in the delivery room because any of the three complications—prematurity, Rh negative blood or polio—is a peril to life.

The mother, Mrs. Leah Kindlein, 24, was found to have polio when she was taken to Evanston Hospital Sunday for the expected birth.

The birth of the 5 pound, 6 ounce girl was without complications, and no blood transfusions were required. The birth was a month ahead of time.

The mother apparently has a very light case of polio with some weakness of leg muscles, attendants said.

Grammer To Die For Slaying Wife; Appeal Is Filed

BALTIMORE, April 7 (AP)—Hanging was decreed today for George Edward Grammer, 36-year-old office manager who killed his wife so he could marry a new love and almost got away with it by making murder look like an automobile accident.

Judge Herman M. Moser imposed the death penalty. He said he could find no excuse for such "a cunning scheme . . . a dastardly plan . . . an atrocious, despicable killing."

Grammer's counsel later signed papers taking the case to the State Court of Appeals at Annapolis. Death sentences always go to the governor. The present governor, Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin, has cancelled all three to come before him since he took office early in 1951.

After hearing the evidence as both judge and jury, at Grammer's request, the judge said he was convinced the accused had killed his wife deliberately so he would be free to marry Miss Mathilda Mizibrocky, 28-year-old United Nations stenographer from Hamilton, Ont.

Grammer's lawyer made a plea for mercy today with the argument the slaying was the result of a long, bitter, drink-punctuated argument, a sudden impulsive thing, second degree murder, perhaps no worse than manslaughter.

But Judge Moser said the frustration of Grammer's "desire to be with a woman other than his wife is not the sort of provocation which would justify the court in mitigating the penalty."

Iranian Police Forestall Riots

TEHRAN, Iran, April 7 (AP) — Supporters of Iran's two rivals for power, Premier Mohammed Mossadegh and the Shah, were quickly dispersed by police today when they tried to stage demonstrations.

Government security forces raided headquarters of the Nazi-like Sumka Party and the rightest pro-Shah Arya Party, seizing firearms, swords and incendiary materials.

Mossadegh's National Front deputies sought to push a bill through parliament giving the cabinet supreme power over the Shah, but were hamstrung by lack of a quorum.

Later these deputies announced they would not attend any more closed sessions of Parliament to consider the legislation. They said it had been debated long enough and now they wanted action in open meeting. This they will try to get Thursday.

Attorneys Named For Ice Show Suits

BALTIMORE, April 7 (AP) — Four Baltimore attorneys were named today to represent numerous plaintiffs in damage suits against ice-skating star Sonja Henie starting here April 27.

Lawyers for the many plaintiffs have designated Paul Berman, Allen A. Davis Jr., Charles G. Page and Leonard Weinberg as trial counsel in the combined case. Benjamin C. Howard of Baltimore is attorney for Miss Henie and the Sonja Henie Ice Show.

The suits—more than 300 representing claims totaling nearly six million dollars which have been filed—grew out of the collapse of stands before a performance of Miss Henie's ice show at the Fifth Regiment Armory here March 6, 1952.

Woman's Ring Nearly Costs Her Life In Freak Mishap

TULSA, Okla., April 7 (AP)—Mrs. Calvin Yost dangled from the third floor of an elevator shaft, her finger ring caught on the thread of a bolt in the safety gate.

There she hung nearly five minutes, 50 feet above the lift's floor, before she was rescued.

A fellow employe in a variety store raised the elevator back to her feet—and when it touched she fainted.

Mrs. Yost experienced her fantastic ordeal yesterday. She told this story today:

A window display clerk, on the store's third floor, she placed a number of boxes on the freight elevator, one of the kind whose top can be folded back in sections to permit loading of lengthy articles.

As she lowered the safety gate and pulled the control cable, the pile of boxes started to tumble. To brace them she turned with her left hand against the gate, her right steadying the load.

"It was terrible then," Mrs. Yost recalled. "The elevator went on and I found myself suspended. My ring had caught on a bolt on the elevator gate. I couldn't reach the cable to stop the elevator because it was on my left."

Her screams brought an employe and a customer to the shaft, but they couldn't pull the 145-pound woman over the gate.

Another employe, Katherine Ash, boarded the lift on the first floor. Seeing the "hatch" was up, she started raising the elevator.

"I heard it coming," said Mrs. Yost. "I braved a look down and there was Katherine with a look as if pleading for me to hang on. Then I felt my feet touch—and that's the last I remember."

Ike, Adenauer Meet, See Agreement

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—West Germany's chancellor, Konrad Adenauer, met with President Eisenhower today for the first of a series of crucial talks on European defenses against communism.

The German leader arrived in Washington with a pledge of "loyal and helpful" partnership in the struggle for world freedom.

"The German people are on the side of freedom," Adenauer said when he was met at the National Airport by Vice President Nixon and Secretary of State Dulles.

"We shall be the loyal and helpful partner on the grave and difficult road on which the United States is leading mankind to freedom."

Bottleneck Memorial Statue To Be Moved

WILLIAMSPORT, Md., April 7 (AP)—Williamsport has decided to move its World War I memorial, which has stood for many years in the middle of the main street, which is also U. S. Route 11 and a heavily traveled north-south highway.

The memorial, a statue of a World War I soldier atop a marble block, will be moved to a nearby park. City officials said too many cars had run into it.

FTC Probing Alleged Used Car Racket In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, April 7 (AP)—A leading Baltimore car dealer said today the Federal Trade Commission is investigating complaints that some used car dealers are operating a racket in Baltimore.

The dealer, R. Bruce Livie, said the FTC investigation was a result of a letter he had written to Governor McKeldin asking for legislation to curb the operations of "unethical" dealers.

The disclosure of the FTC investigation follows closely a report by the Better Business Bureau that it receives daily complaints of excessive finance charges from used car purchases.

Bureau Manager Edwin M. Lockard said some buyers have been charged as much as 50 per cent of the unpaid balance on used cars for carrying charges.

An Army officer, Lockard said, had to pay finance charges of $811 on a balance of $1,319 for a second-hand coupe.

A woman reported to the bureau that she paid finance charges totaling $356.56 on a balance of $618 for a car she needed to drive to work. The car broke down while being driven away from the lot.

Livie told the governor the unethical practices resulted from "either inadequate laws or no laws at all," and asked the governor to name a commission to investigate the problem and recommend legislations.

McKeldin, in reply, assured Livie of support in any move for adequate legislation, and said the matter was being referred to the FTC. Livie said the FTC notified him a few days later that it was starting its inquiry.

Crippled Vet Is Hurt In Tussle With Policemen

SNOW HILL, Md., April 7 (AP)—John L. Sanford Jr., state's attorney for Worcester County, said today he is investigating the injury of a crippled war veteran in a scrape with Pocomoke City police last Saturday night.

Richard E. Cullen, Salisbury attorney who is district judge advocate for the Veterans of Foreign Wars in the lower Eastern shore counties, announced the case also will be taken up by the veterans' organization at its next meeting April 19.

John Blades, 28, of Snow Hill, wounded in the left leg overseas in World War II, was arrested and charged with drunken driving and resisting arrest as the result of the incident.

A companion, Buddy William White, 24, also of Snow Hill, was charged with resisting arrest.

The officers involved were Chief of Police Arthur Brittingham of Pocomoke City and Patrolman Orville Outten.

Brittingham said Blades grabbed him by the ear and "I had to crown him with a blackjack to break him loose."

Blades has bandaged cuts on his forehead and the back of his head when he appeared yesterday before Magistrate Solomon J. Small to answer the charges.

His attorney asked the case be transferred to another jurisdiction and the charges now are due for a hearing before Magistrate James B. Robins at Ocean City Friday night.

The scuffling was touched off Saturday night when Blades pulled up in a no-parking area alongside a tavern and White went inside. Outten ordered Blades to drive on. Blades circled the block and an argument broke out when he pulled up again at the tavern.

BUS-HOME BURNS—A flash fire following a kerosene explosion in this converted bus-home 1½ miles south of East Palestine, Ohio, claimed the lives of six persons. The bus was the makeshift home of the Beon V. Hinkle family. Hinkle, his three young children, Mrs. Patricia Jack and her young son were victims of the tragic fire.

Bus Fare Increase Draws Fire From City Of Baltimore

BALTIMORE, April 7 (AP)—The city today told Maryland's Public Service Commission the Baltimore Transit Co. isn't entitled to raise its base fare to 20 cents a ride.

The present fare is 17 cents and the commission has before it Baltimore Transit's plea for the increase.

The city filed a petition asking permission to intervene in opposition to the increase.

"It cannot be justified either on the basis of the transportation service presently afforded or on the basis that it will result in financial benefit to the company," said the city's petition.

To raise the fare, it went on, would be "unjust and unreasonable." It said an increase is not required to enable the company to earn a fair return on its investment.

Mau Mau Plot To Kill Priest Foiled

NAIROBI, Kenya, April 7 (AP)—A Roman Catholic priest, the Rev. P. J. McGill, today foiled a band of 100 Mau Maus sent to kill him. He told police, who intercepted the would-be attackers and shot six of them dead.

Father McGill, who has a mission at Kiriku, 60 miles from Nairobi, had been reported marked for death by a Mau Mau secret court for denouncing the terrorists.

Friendly Kikuyu tribesmen warned him last night that the death squads were on their way. The priest set out alone through Mau Mau territory on an eight-mile journey to the nearest police post. A patrol from the Forthall-Kiambu border region intercepted the Mau Maus, members of a secret society pledged to drive the whites from Kenya.

'Murder Flat' Probe Resumed

LONDON, April 7 (AP)—Police in blue overalls intensified their brick-by-brick search today for possible more corpses and clues in and about London's grimy "house of death" where the battered remains of six women and possibly one more already have been found.

A pole thrust up a chimney stack by a detective bumped into some unknown object and started today's all-out search. Scotland Yard detectives at once began dismantling the entire chimney.

Other detectives pried up more floorboards, swept and examined the cinders from an old fire, probed drainpipes and drew plans for more excavations in the back garden.

Meantime John Reginald Christie, long-time occupant of the house in London's sleazy Notting Hill Gate district, is due to appear in court again tomorrow for the second time. He was detained last week after a nation-wide manhunt and charged with the slaying of his wife, whose body was among those found in the murder house. He is under questioning about the deaths of the five other women, most of whom were strangled.

Wilson, 40, chief of medical services at Lackland Air Force Base. He is in serious condition from a bullet which entered his chest and lodged in his spine.

Mrs. Van Fleet, who friends said brooded over her husband's death, has charged that Air Force and Army doctors were responsible for her husband's death "through neglect and other contributing factors."

SALISBURY, Md., April 7 (AP)—Cooper Darby, 26, of nearby Hebron, was sent to prison to start serving a 10-year sentence today for criminal assault on an 11-year-old Hebron girl.

A Wicomico County Circuit Court jury found Darby guilty last night after a day-long trial before Judge E. Dale Adkins. The attack was in December.

Prosecution of Darby was interrupted by a mistrial last month. A juror collapsed only a few minutes after testimony began and the trial had to be started all over again.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 7 (AP)—A 9-year-old boy from Marley Park is to be given a hearing April 16 in Anne Arundel County Juvenile Court on charges of attempting to set fire to three homes in his neighborhood.

Patrolman M. L. Dillon said only slight damage was reported in each case.

Two of the fires were yesterday and one was last Saturday, Dillon said. He said an 11-year-old girl accused the boy of setting the two fires yesterday, one of which was started by lighting a broom placed against a front door and another by lighting trash in a cellar.

Blaze Destroys Sharptown Plant

SHARPTOWN, Md., April 7 (AP)—Fire raced through a two-story building 400 feet long here tonight, and until the wind changed threatened to spread through this Wicomico County town of some 200 dwellings.

The plant of the Marvil Package Co. was destroyed in the blaze. The two-story frame building, 75 by 400 feet, was understood to be well stocked with materials for manufacturing baskets and wood containers.

Charles Windsor, a cashier in a local bank, said about 200 persons were employed in the plant.

There was no official estimate of the damage, but observers at the scene put it at figures ranging from $70,000 up to a million.

Prosecution of Darby was interrupted by a mistrial last month. A juror collapsed only a few minutes after testimony began and the trial had to be started all over again.

Blaze Destroys Sharptown Plant

SHARPTOWN, Md., April 7 (AP)—Fire raced through a two-story building 400 feet long here tonight, and until the wind changed threatened to spread through this Wicomico County town of some 200 dwellings.

The plant of the Marvil Package Co. was destroyed in the blaze. The two-story frame building, 75 by 400 feet, was understood to be well stocked with materials for manufacturing baskets and wood containers.

Charles Windsor, a cashier in a local bank, said about 200 persons were employed in the plant.

There was no official estimate of the damage, but observers at the scene put it at figures ranging from $70,000 up to a million.

Pittsburgh Group Seeks TV Permit

WASHINGTON, April 7 (INS)—A communications lawyer said today that a group of Pittsburgh educators and community leaders will apply this week for Government approval to operate a non-commercial education television station on Channel 13 in Pittsburgh.

Henry G. Fischer declared that the application will be made by the "Metropolitan Pittsburgh Educational Television Station" Corp. and will be sent to the Federal Communications Commission within a few days.

Fischer said the group consists of representatives from the Pittsburgh school system, the University of Pittsburgh, and other educational and civic interests.

Fischer said the educational station plans to transmit programs using the antenna tower of Pittsburgh Station KDKA, but declined to say where the main studios would be located.

Bus Fare Increase Draws Fire From City Of Baltimore

BALTIMORE, April 7 (AP)—The city today told Maryland's Public Service Commission the Baltimore Transit Co. isn't entitled to raise its base fare to 20 cents a ride.

The present fare is 17 cents and the commission has before it Baltimore Transit's plea for the increase.

The city filed a petition asking permission to intervene in opposition to the increase.

"It cannot be justified either on the basis of the transportation service presently afforded or on the basis that it will result in financial benefit to the company," said the city's petition.

To raise the fare, it went on, would be "unjust and unreasonable." It said an increase is not required to enable the company to earn a fair return on its investment.

Mau Mau Plot To Kill Priest Foiled

NAIROBI, Kenya, April 7 (AP)—A Roman Catholic priest, the Rev. P. J. McGill, today foiled a band of 100 Mau Maus sent to kill him. He told police, who intercepted the would-be attackers and shot six of them dead.

Father McGill, who has a mission at Kiriku, 60 miles from Nairobi, had been reported marked for death by a Mau Mau secret court for denouncing the terrorists.

Friendly Kikuyu tribesmen warned him last night that the death squads were on their way. The priest set out alone through Mau Mau territory on an eight-mile journey to the nearest police post. A patrol from the Forthall-Kiambu border region intercepted the Mau Maus, members of a secret society pledged to drive the whites from Kenya.

'Murder Flat' Probe Resumed

LONDON, April 7 (AP)—Police in blue overalls intensified their brick-by-brick search today for possible more corpses and clues in and about London's grimy "house of death" where the battered remains of six women and possibly one more already have been found.

A pole thrust up a chimney stack by a detective bumped into some unknown object and started today's all-out search. Scotland Yard detectives at once began dismantling the entire chimney.

Other detectives pried up more floorboards, swept and examined the cinders from an old fire, probed drainpipes and drew plans for more excavations in the back garden.

Meantime John Reginald Christie, long-time occupant of the house in London's sleazy Notting Hill Gate district, is due to appear in court again tomorrow for the second time. He was detained last week after a nation-wide manhunt and charged with the slaying of his wife, whose body was among those found in the murder house. He is under questioning about the deaths of the five other women, most of whom were strangled.

WIESBADEN, April 7—(INS)—U. S. Air Force Headquarters reported tonight that a twin-engined Canadian Airliner crashed near Zeibruecken in the Saar Territory and that several of the six persons aboard were injured.

The Air Force said engine trouble caused the crash.

H. M. Campbell, Canadian vice air marshal, an unidentified Canadian Air Force general and four crew members were reported aboard.

TOWSON, Md., April 7 (AP)—William Stanley, 24-year-old Baltimore Negro convicted of raping a mental patient at Spring Grove State Hospital, today was sentenced to life in prison.

The victim was a 37-year-old white woman whose mental age, it was testified, is 5½ years. She was the chief prosecuting witness.

Stanley was found guilty of committing the offense Feb. 28 while employed as a music teacher at the hospital. He pleaded innocent before Circuit Judge J. Howard Murray, who heard the case without a jury.

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

War In Indo-China

The visit of French Premier Rene Mayer to Washington the last week in March afforded the first opportunity for comprehensive discussions between French political leaders and members of the Eisenhower administration on means of breaking the military stalemate in Indo-China. The talks are expected to bring new efforts by the United States to strengthen French-Vietnamese operations against Communist-led rebels in that key area on the southern border of China. The Indo-China war, now in its seventh year, has been a constant drain on the limited economic and manpower resources of France and has reduced her defense capabilities on the continent of Europe.

President Eisenhower assigns the same strategic importance to the struggle in Indo-China as to the war in Korea. American military shipments to that area have priority second only to arms and ammunition for United Nations forces in Korea. The joint communique issued at the end of the French-American policy talks stated that operations against the Reds in Indo-China and Korea "cannot be successfully carried out without full recognition of their interdependence." An armistice in Korea would be of small benefit to the free world if the Communists took advantage of it to support more aggressive action in Indo-China.

Since 1950, the former French colony of Indo-China has been divided into three autonomous states —the State of Vietnam and the Kingdoms of Laos and Cambodia — each separately associated with France in the French Union. The real struggle has been waged in Vietnam, the long coastal belt stretching from the border of China to the southern tip of the peninsula. In Vietnam, the French-sponsored Bao Dai government, supported by its national army and stronger forces of the French Union, is engaged in large-scale war with the regime headed by the Moscow-trained Communist Ho Chi Minh. The revolutionary regime has enjoyed recognition from the USSR, Red China, and all other Communist countries since early 1950. It represents a strictly Communist-controlled nationalist movement popularly known as the Viet Minh.

Altogether, the Viet Minh is estimated to have about 400,000 effectives. In addition to some six light combat divisions, it has district units, guerrilla detachments, and political infiltrators. Only in north Vietnam are the Communists organized in division strength. There they are entrenched in a mountainous region where they have good connections with supply and training centers in Red China.

Most of the French Union and Vietnam forces also are located on the critical northern front, with the present balance remaining so even that neither side alone can deliver a crushing blow. Recent strategic maneuvers of Red forces toward the northwest have caused concern that they may be preparing a thrust across Laos to the upper reaches of the Mekong River along the frontiers of Thailand and Burma.

French, Vietnamese, and American authorities hold that the main hope of achieving a military victory in Indo-China lies in further development of effective Vietnam national forces. Those forces now total about 155,000, but only about half of them are in the regular army, which consists of combat infantry battalions and logistical units organized in six small divisions. The Vietnamese regulars are French-trained and largely American equipped; about 800 French officers are still assigned to their units.

As in Korea, the chief needs for strengthening the native army are effective training and modern weapons with which to equip new units. Plans prepared by French and Vietnamese officials now are under intensive study in Washington. They call not only for strengthening Vietnamese divisions to aid the French in crushing Ho's regular forces, but also for creation of 54 light, commando-type battalions, which, it is hoped, will be able gradually to drive guerrillas out of key areas in the countryside.

Because the Vietnam national army is a major symbol of growing Vietnamese independence, the plans now under study have political as well as military importance. And in post-war Indo-China, solutions to the military problem and the political problem have long been interdependent.

Consultation On Defense

American, British, French, Australia and New Zealand military and naval leaders are meeting in Hawaii this week on the over-all problems of Pacific Defense. These meetings are of the informal Pacific liasion group that has been set up separately from the "Anzus" organization created under the security treaties between the U. S. and Australia and the U. S. and New Zealand.

Those treaties were ratified by the U. U. Senate by voice votes in the spring of 1952. Similar treaties were ratified also with Japan and the Philippines. They pledge each signatory to recognize that any armed attack on the other would be dangerous to its own security, and to act to meet the common danger in accordance with its own constitutional processes.

Great Britain and France wanted "in" on those formal arrangements. So did the Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa. But this country preferred to keep its hands untied on the war against the British in Malaya and the war against the French in Indo-China and, indeed, on its own program for Pacific defense.

Call Her Madame

Perle Mesta, the ubiquitous U. S. minister to Luxembourg, was so sure that the Eisenhower administration was going to pick up her option that she had made plans for a gay continental spring and some high jinks at Queen Elizabeth's coronation in June.

But then came that telegram from Washington. The pink slip said in effect that her resignation, which she had submitted as a formality, had been accepted. "It was a great shock, being so sudden," said madame minister.

But madame minister needn't fret for lack of something to do. Gwen Cafritz, who took Perle's place at the Washington punch bowl, along with many another notable who sparkled in the diadem of the Truman administration, appears to have dropped out of sight. Anyhow, there haven't been any stories lately about Mrs. Cafritz throwing cozy little suppers for 300 or more.

So Perle can move back to Washington, not as a relief party pitcher, but as a regular.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Meals Should Give Pleasure, Not Dyspepsia

To eat when worried or upset is an insult to the digestive system. The stomach is unprepared to receive food and the valves that open and close the entrance to and exit from the gastric pouch are tense and irritable. The American business man is the classic example of this offense; no wonder he suffers from ulcer or spastic bowel. The majority talk nothing but shop at lunch and during dinner mull over the affairs of the day instead of eating in peace and quiet with the family.

When the emotional system is on an even keel and we are all set for a delicious meal, the flow of saliva and other digestive juices is stimulated so that by the time food reaches the stomach it is ready for digestion. The same reflexes stimulate the normal muscular movements of the stomach, which push the food onward and downward. There is no delay and the chemical changes that take place in the stomach are as nature intended: the content of acid, pepsin, and other ferments is just right. Furthermore, when the chemical process is brewing properly there is a minimum of fermentation with gas formation.

On the other hand, indigestion follows when the emotions are disturbed because of worry, fear, disgust, anger, or pain. These upsets affect the digestive glands adversely and as a result the flow of saliva and digestive juices is deranged. The churning movements of the stomach also are disorganized; they may be too fast or too strong and now and then go into reverse so that regurgitation occurs. The distress that follows is not imaginary even though it has its origin in the "nerves."

When anxiety and stress are inevitable it is advisable to eat bland foods to overcome the indigestion that is bound to arise. The individual should eat slowly and avoid fried and heavy foods, tough fibered meats and vegetables, pickles, and highly seasoned sauces. The stomach and intestines have all they can do to digest these products under average circumstances and should not be forced to, tackle them when the emotions are topsy-turvy.

However, there are other causes of indigestion, including faulty eating habits, and we are all familiar with the warnings concerning too much, too little, too fast, too hot, too cold, and too tired. Neglected dentures, infected gums, and poor teeth interfere with chewing and affect digestion secondarily. Dyspepsia also may be indicative of a more serious disorder and, when it persists, X-rays and other tests are in order. Peptic ulcer may be brewing when pain appears with clockwork regularity before meals and is relieved by food. The indigestion associated with gall bladder trouble is likely to be worse after eating, more so after consuming fatty foods or harsh vegetables like cabbage and onions. It is well to remember also that indigestion after 40 may point to heart disease and when the physician suggests an electrocardiogram, he is trying to investigate the problem from all angles.

TOMORROW: Relax during everyday activities.

CAN'T SMELL

Mrs. E. writes: I had bronchial pneumonia some months ago and have since lost my sense of smell. Do you think the disease is responsible or the antibiotic the physician prescribed?

REPLY

Neither is responsible. I would be more inclined to blame nasal congestion on the siege of pneumonia.

OPENING THE WINDPIPE

B. H. writes: What is a tracheotomy?

REPLY

An emergency operation in which the surgeon makes an incision directly into the windpipe somewhere between the Adam's apple and the collar bone. This procedure is done to save the individual from strangulation when there is obstruction in the throat or larynx.

CHILD'S CORPORATION

Mrs. J. C. writes: Should I be concerned about my 5-year-old child's enlarged protruding abdomen? He is healthy and eats well and is not fat.

REPLY

Probably not, as many 5-year-olds have not yet shed their little pot belly. You might ask your physician about it, however, the next time you see him because there are a few conditions such as megacolon and hookworm that lead to protuberant abdomen.

EFFECTS OF FROSTBITE

F. T. writes: I was frostbitten last winter and have been told I will have the trouble again this winter. Are there any precautions I can take to ward off another attack?

REPLY

Individuals who have been frostbitten develop an abnormal sensitivity to cold but the difficulty can be avoided by dressing warmly and steering clear of excessive exposure. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on frostbite.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Senator Ives Will Recommend Congressional Salary Increases; Pentagon Passages Puzzle Under Secretary; Ike Cool Toward Some Educators

WASHINGTON—Irving Ives, New York Republican, and one of the few GOP senators who ran far ahead of Eisenhower in his state, is about to introduce legislation which some of his constituents won't like. However, Ives will be taking an important step for better government.

Furthermore, Eisenhower will give him powerful support.

Ives will tackle the delicate problem of congressional salaries, will propose that they be increased, perhaps even doubled.

What the public may not realize is that while everyone else's salary has increased, while wages have been given periodic boosts, and while the cost of living has zoomed, the salaries of senators and congressmen have stood still.

An ambassador's salary has increased from $15,000 to an average of $22,000. The President's salary has gone up from $75,000 a year to $100,000. But congressmen's salaries have remained stationary.

This is due chiefly to timidity. No congressman likes to face a re-election fight after he has voted to give himself an increase. An opponent can murder him, partly because the public doesn't understand the problem. This columnist has repeatedly urged that congressional salaries be increased, and that simultaneously the Justice Department crack down hard on any Nixon funds, kickbacks, etc.

Senator Ives is now planning to introduce a bill increasing congressional salaries to $25,000. He is in a better position to do this than some, because unfortunately he plans to retire from Congress at the end of the present term, so he will get no benefit from the increase.

President Eisenhower will make a strong move backing him up. Ike may act even ahead of Ives, and urge that the members of Congress get paid more.

Pentagon Labyrinth

Henry J. Kaiser, auto and airplane manufacturer, was lunching at the Pentagon Building with Roger Kyes, late of General Motors, now undersecretary of Defense.

After they had finished their lunch, Kyes excused himself, said he had an appointment with his colleague, Undersecretary of the Navy Charles Thomas, in another part of the Pentagon. Simultaneously an aide came in, handed Kyes a little map showing the exact location of Mr. Thomas's office in the mammoth building which houses the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Henry Kaiser stayed behind a few minutes to make a phone call, then went downstairs to catch a taxi. On the way he met Kyes, who apologized.

"I'm lost," confessed the undersecretary of Defense. "I can't find the undersecretary of the Navy's office."

Campus Probes

When president of Columbia, General Eisenhower took a vigorous stand against campus probes by Congress.

Now in the White House, however, the President avoided any direct comment on the House investigation of colleges during a recent chat with a congressional group. Instead, he remarked that there could be no academic freedom "in the abstract"—in other words, it had to be real and thriving, not a matter of lip service.

Academic freedom, said the President, is the result of all our other freedoms and cannot exist separately and independently of the general freedoms guaranteed by the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

He also said that the true test of any institution of learning was whether it moved in the direction of making good citizens.

When he became head of Columbia University, Ike recalled, he told officials there that he didn't want the job unless he had complete freedom to fire any Communists that might be on the faculty. He added that people should be willing to answer questions about their political beliefs before a congressional committee, or anywhere else.

"If they are not willing to answer that kind of question, I don't want them around," said Ike.

Political Independent

President Eisenhower was reminded that there were more than two political parties represented in Congress when independent Congressman Frazier Reams of Toledo, Ohio, sat next to him at a recent White House luncheon.

"How did you happen to become an independent?" asked the President.

"Because the two major political parties abdicated in my district and weren't serving the best interests of the people in electing congressmen," replied Reams.

"Very interesting," observed Ike. "Are you like Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon?"

"No sir," grinned the Toledoan. "I believe you would call Senator Morse a self-designated independent, since he has never run as one. I was elected twice on an independent ticket."

NOTE—Reams has lived up to his political label. Sometimes he votes with the Republicans, sometimes with the Democrats, but he doesn't take orders from anybody.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

WASHINGTON, Apr. 5 (INS) — WANTED—tough American, able to keep secret, must have thorough knowledge of atomic and hydrogen bombs, and patience enough to withstand new rash of debate now brewing in UN. Long hours, modest pay, but tax free. Apply Henry Cabot Lodge, chief, American Delegation, United Nations, N. Y.

Something must be rotten in Atomgrad, the perhaps mythical Russian nuclear fission headquarters in the Urals. The Reds want to reopen the question of UN control of the atom. They have indicated they were just spoofing during their 2-year demand that we beat our atomic stockpile into plowshares before they'd consider entering into any pact aimed at saving the human species from a slight case of extinction.

We'll be happy to resume the talks. We always are.

But let's not be carried away by this sudden googly-eyed deportment of our sworn enemies. If the Reds had any confidence in their atomic program, they wouldn't be interested in reopening talks in New York. They'd be busy sticking pins in prospective U. S. targets.

Hence the urgent need for the appointment soon of a man who can talk atomic turkey when the time comes. It is not a job for a dreamy scientist who never could understand why we used the bomb in the first place or why we didn't share it with our allies and co-belligerents instead of putting one of them (Russia) to the trouble of stealing it.

Nor is it a job for any member of the present or past American teams at UN who might be impressed by and grateful for, any show of cooperation on the part of the perennially difficult enemy of free men.

This new Soviet assault on our atomic citadel via negotiation, as a supplement to past and probably present espionage, calls for a special defense on our part. Mr. Lodge, busy with the big picture, is hardly the man to handle the matter for our side. He needs a first class, preferably hard-headed, spokesman who — as one deeply concerned atomic leader told me today—"understands quite clearly that if the Reds had been in the driver's seat in the atomic bomb race we'd all now be cinders."

Speculation around Washington as to what prompted the Russians to indicate they are willing to yield to at least one important point in the atom argument has taken several paths. One suggestion is that this is just part of a general determination to persuade the world that all has changed in the Kremlin since Stalin's death. But responsible observers of the atomic scene believe there might be more to it than that.

Former President Truman is not the only high-ranking person who is dubious about the existence of a Russian A-Bomb, or, at least, a practicable one. It is not likely that he would have sounded off quite so positively if there was no question about the Soviet Union's possession of history's most devastating tool of war.

The report persists that at least one and perhaps two of the three known atomic detonations inside Russia might have been stupendous accidents wherein fissionable material was improperly treated and backfired—in which case Russia must have lost many valuable technicians and costly installations and equipment. The Reds haven't tested one of their bombs (or plants) since October 22, 1951.

The incredible know-how we have displayed during the Yucca Flat tests must have had profound effect on the Kremlin. We have told the world directly or indirectly that we have atomic weapons that range in yield from perhaps 2,000 tons of TNT to almost 50 times that amount. We have officially announced that our hydrogen bomb is well past the stage of theory. We have packaged our A-Bombs in containers as varied as artillery shells and finny casings of assorted sizes that can be dropped by planes ranging from jet fighters to intercontinental bombers.

The new Russian appeal for a renegotiation has come on the heels of the latest successful series of tests in Nevada. That fact could remove the act from the realm of coincidence or conciliation. All the more reason why we now need a Grade A man to keep our atomic superiority from being dissipated over the conference table.

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — They're just beginning to realize it around here —that Soviet Russia by suddenly moving toward a "cease fire" agreement in Korea has confronted the Western Alliance with a crisis in "peace" that may provide a more dangerous threat of large-scale war in the next few years than an unchanged "cold war" might have brought.

For merely to enumerate the consequences of the "cease fire" is to sketch the scope of the dilemma to which the Western Allies will have to find the answer or be entrapped.

First, the moment there's a "cease fire," the British will indicate their belief that Red China should be admitted to the UN and Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists be abandoned.

Political Conference Next

Second, since the armistice agreement settles only the questions relating to a "cease fire," the next step is a "political" conference at which the future of Korea must be considered. Here the Communists will insist on the North Koreans staying in power. Any "unification" plan, in their eyes, must start with dominance by the North Koreans. Already the South Koreans are making public demonstrations demanding that Chinese forces be completely withdrawn from all Korea, that North Korean forces be disarmed, and that no member of the UN give aid to Communist North Korea "militarily, financially or otherwise."

Third, if the South Koreans are "sold out" in any "political conference," it means that the North Koreans will overrun all of Korea and render futile everything that the UN forces have tried to do since June 1950 and for which America has incurred more than 130,000 casualties.

Fourth, if the South Koreans are disaffected, how will the UN keep peace in Korea? Today the South Korean divisions are being trained intensively to fight against the Communist enemy. Can they be trained in the face of a possible "sell out"? If, on the other hand, there's no change in the setup and Korea continues divided into two armed camps indefinitely, then what results can it be said that "collective security" has brought about?

Fundamental Differences

Fifth, there is a certainty of fundamental differences between the United States and Britain over the Korean issues. The British want to wash up the whole Korean affair, abandon the South Korean government, forget the Chinese Nationalists, admit Red China into the UN, let nature take its course, and call it a day. This is exactly what American isolationists used to demand—a policy of national self-interest. British isolationism today is a dominant policy irrespective of whether Conservatives or Laborites are in power in London.

Sixth, will the United States sacrifice all the objectives for which the Korean War was fought and go along with Britain—or will the two major allies split apart? The latter is what the Soviets undoubtedly have wanted to see happen long ago. The chance of driving a wedge between Britain and America on the Far East has been there for two years now, but Stalin lately either didn't see the chance and Malenkov did—or else the time was not ripe until now to put the British-American alliance to a test. The Soviets will do that now—and the more the subject is examined, the more it appears fraught with real danger. For, if the British pull away from America on the Far Eastern policy, it will inevitably mean a resurgence of American isolationism, which is beginning to say that America not only has no business in the Far East but none in Europe either—and that it is time to bring American boys home from all overseas lands.

The American "isolationists" have a new argument. They say that the Truman "isolationists" were much worse—they isolated American armies in Korea, got little help from the Allies, accepted nevertheless Allied interference in military operations, and finally the isolation became complete when ammunition needed in Korea was withheld so a certain type of "sit-down" war could be fought with American boys as the guinea pigs of an empirical diplomacy. It's the kind of argument that will be heard on the stump in the next congressional elections if the present administration joins with Britain in giving up the objectives for which American boys were told they were shedding their blood these last 33 months in Korea.

Real Worrying In Washington

"Collective security" and continued membership by the United States in the UN are related to the failure or success of the Korean War and, when the facts are all in, there will have to be a realistic appraisal of whether Uncle Sam was played for a sucker in Korea and whether he will not by inference find himself in the same fix in Europe if appeasement becomes the rule in the future "peace" conferences which are to follow a "cease fire." The domestic political line-up can be seriously affected by the debate on these points.

How to preserve Allied solidarity in the face of the Soviet's biggest opportunity to break it down is the real issue which the new era of "peace" conversations poses for America and Britain. For, if Allied solidarity does break down — the Soviet regime can do what it pleases in Europe and even risk large-scale war. They're doing some real worrying here in Washington as the much-to-be-desired armistice in Korea comes closer to being consummated.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Teachers Union

When one goes among professors these days, it is startling to find that so many of them are jittery over the prospects of being called as witnesses before congressional committees. Few are ever called. Not all are unfriendly witnesses; for instance, Dr. Harry D. Gideonse, president of Brooklyn College, Dr. William Jansen, superintendent of schools in New York City, Dr. Bella Dodd, former Communist, and Dr. William H. Withers, who had taught at Lehigh University, Teachers College of Columbus University, and Queens College, were friendly witnesses, aiding the congressional committees with their expert knowledge.

Only those who have something to hide need fear these investigations.

Professor Withers testified that at one stage of his life, he was actually groomed to be a member of the Communist party. He was then at New College, an institution for the education of teachers in which political activity was encouraged. He had joined the Teachers Union, he thinks, in 1935. He testified that "the Teachers Union was under Communist control at that time."

Dr. Withers was an active member of Local 537 of the Teachers Union situated at Teachers College. He testified before the Jenner Committee:

". . . after 1937 I begun to realize that the control of Local 537 was definitely Communist, and in 1939 a group of us who were non-Communists in Local 537 organized what we called an independent caucus, in which we attempted to defeat Communist propositions in the plenary sessions of the union."

The value of Dr. Wither's testimony is that it confirms the pattern of deceit. It is not illegal for any man in this country to be a Communist; it is indecent to be deceitful. On this subject, Dr. Withers testified:

". . . they did not usually admit publicly that they were Communists. In fact, officers of the union never admitted that. They attempted to follow a set of policies which presumably would be accepted by liberals generaly. But nevertheless, their policies were always consistent with the Communist party lines. . .

"Senator (Willis) Smith. So the fact that members may not proclaim their identity as members of the Communist party is no indication that they are not working as Communists wherever they are located?

"Mr. Withers. That is true. In fact, it has often been a definite policy of the Communist party to try to disguise membership, particularly in the case of a person who might be regarded as a front for the Communist party. The higher up you are in the educational world, the greater the degree of reputation you have publicly, the less use you are to the Communist party openly."

This statement was not made by a so-called witch-hunter; it was made by a professor of standing and experience who was speaking of his own knowledge. Had these Communistic professors proclaimed themselves, they would have had little influence upon other teachers and perhaps upon their students. They posed as liberals.

Dr. Withers explained to the Jenner Committee the methods employed by these disguised Communist professors:

". . . the theory of the Communist party, as I understood it, in the early days, and I think it still holds good, is that people are put in strategic, what might be called strategic positions. Now, in a sense, a teacher is in a strategic position. He is in a strategic position not simply because he is able to introduce his ideas into class discussions or into his lectures, but he is primarily in a strategic position because after hours, after class hours, he can exercise a very important influence upon the ideas of students who gather around him.

"The typical action of the Communist teacher is to become a popular person with students, to curry favor with the students, to appear to be a courageous person, to appear to be a person who is without sin and is always against sin, to be a person who is constantly fighting for what is idealistic. A lot of young people accept this view that the Communist teacher has of himself, and as a result become a part of what might be called a coterie of the Communist teacher. Then they begin to become active. They are gradually educated into Communist activity, and it is for that purpose that the Communist teacher is most useful to the Communist party . . ."

This is as complete an answer as I have yet seen on this subject.

War In Indo-China

The visit of French Premier Rene Mayer to Washington the last week in March afforded the first opportunity for comprehensive discussions between French political leaders and members of the Eisenhower administration on means of breaking the military stalemate in Indo-China. The talks are expected to bring new efforts by the United States to strengthen French-Vietnamese operations against Communist-led rebels in that key area on the southern border of China. The Indo-China war, now in its seventh year, has been a constant drain on the limited economic and manpower resources of France and has reduced her defense capabilities on the continent of Europe.

President Eisenhower assigns the same strategic importance to the struggle in Indo-China as to the war in Korea. American military shipments to that area have priority second only to arms and ammunition for United Nations forces in Korea. The joint communique issued at the end of the French-American policy talks stated that operations against the Reds in Indo-China and Korea "cannot be successfully carried out without full recognition of their interdependence." An armistice in Korea would be of small benefit to the free world if the Communists took advantage of it to support more aggressive action in Indo-China.

Since 1950, the former French colony of Indo-China has been divided into three autonomous states —the State of Vietnam and the Kingdoms of Laos and Cambodia — each separately associated with France in the French Union. The real struggle has been waged in Vietnam, the long coastal belt stretching from the border of China to the southern tip of the peninsula. In Vietnam, the French-sponsored Bao Dai government, supported by its national army and stronger forces of the French Union, is engaged in large-scale war with the regime headed by the Moscow-trained Communist Ho Chi Minh. The revolutionary regime has enjoyed recognition from the USSR, Red China, and all other Communist countries since early 1950. It represents a strictly Communist-controlled nationalist movement popularly known as the Viet Minh.

Altogether, the Viet Minh is estimated to have about 400,000 effectives. In addition to some six light combat divisions, it has district units, guerrilla detachments, and political infiltrators. Only in north Vietnam are the Communists organized in division strength. There they are entrenched in a mountainous region where they have good connections with supply and training centers in Red China.

Most of the French Union and Vietnam forces also are located on the critical northern front, with the present balance remaining so even that neither side alone can deliver a crushing blow. Recent strategic maneuvers of Red forces toward the northwest have caused concern that they may be preparing a thrust across Laos to the upper reaches of the Mekong River along the frontiers of Thailand and Burma.

French, Vietnamese, and American authorities hold that the main hope of achieving a military victory in Indo-China lies in further development of effective Vietnam national forces. Those forces now total about 155,000, but only about half of them are in the regular army, which consists of combat infantry battalions and logistical units organized in six small divisions. The Vietnamese regulars are French-trained and largely American equipped; about 800 French officers are still assigned to their units.

As in Korea, the chief needs for strengthening the native army are effective training and modern weapons with which to equip new units. Plans prepared by French and Vietnamese officials now are under intensive study in Washington. They call not only for strengthening Vietnamese divisions to aid the French in crushing Ho's regular forces, but also for creation of 54 light, commando-type battalions, which, it is hoped, will be able gradually to drive guerrillas out of key areas in the countryside.

Because the Vietnam national army is a major symbol of growing Vietnamese independence, the plans now under study have political as well as military importance. And in post-war Indo-China, solutions to the military problem and the political problem have long been interdependent.

Consultation On Defense

American, British, French, Australia and New Zealand military and naval leaders are meeting in Hawaii this week on the over-all problems of Pacific Defense. These meetings are of the informal Pacific liasion group that has been set up separately from the "Anzus" organization created under the security treaties between the U. S. and Australia and the U. S. and New Zealand.

Those treaties were ratified by the U. U. Senate by voice votes in the spring of 1952. Similar treaties were ratified also with Japan and the Philippines. They pledge each signatory to recognize that any armed attack on the other would be dangerous to its own security, and to act to meet the common danger in accordance with its own constitutional processes.

Great Britain and France wanted "in" on those formal arrangements. So did the Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa. But this country preferred to keep its hands untied on the war against the British in Malaya and the war against the French in Indo-China and, indeed, on its own program for Pacific defense.

Call Her Madame

Perle Mesta, the ubiquitous U. S. minister to Luxembourg, was so sure that the Eisenhower administration was going to pick up her option that she had made plans for a gay continental spring and some high jinks at Queen Elizabeth's coronation in June.

But then came that telegram from Washington. The pink slip said in effect that her resignation, which she had submitted as a formality, had been accepted. "It was a great shock, being so sudden," said madame minister.

But madame minister needn't fret for lack of something to do. Gwen Cafritz, who took Perle's place at the Washington punch bowl, along with many another notable who sparkled in the diadem of the Truman administration, appears to have dropped out of sight. Anyhow, there haven't been any stories lately about Mrs. Cafritz throwing cozy little suppers for 300 or more.

So Perle can move back to Washington, not as a relief party pitcher, but as a regular.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Meals Should Give Pleasure, Not Dyspepsia

To eat when worried or upset is an insult to the digestive system. The stomach is unprepared to receive food and the valves that open and close the entrance to and exit from the gastric pouch are tense and irritable. The American business man is the classic example of this offense; no wonder he suffers from ulcer or spastic bowel. The majority talk nothing but shop at lunch and during dinner mull over the affairs of the day instead of eating in peace and quiet with the family.

When the emotional system is on an even keel and we are all set for a delicious meal, the flow of saliva and other digestive juices is stimulated so that by the time food reaches the stomach it is ready for digestion. The same reflexes stimulate the normal muscular movements of the stomach, which push the food onward and downward. There is no delay and the chemical changes that take place in the stomach are as nature intended: the content of acid, pepsin, and other ferments is just right. Furthermore, when the chemical process is brewing properly there is a minimum of fermentation with gas formation.

On the other hand, indigestion follows when the emotions are disturbed because of worry, fear, disgust, anger, or pain. These upsets affect the digestive glands adversely and as a result the flow of saliva and digestive juices is deranged. The churning movements of the stomach also are disorganized; they may be too fast or too strong and now and then go into reverse so that regurgitation occurs. The distress that follows is not imaginary even though it has its origin in the "nerves."

When anxiety and stress are inevitable it is advisable to eat bland foods to overcome the indigestion that is bound to arise. The individual should eat slowly and avoid fried and heavy foods, tough fibered meats and vegetables, pickles, and highly seasoned sauces. The stomach and intestines have all they can do to digest these products under average circumstances and should not be forced to tackle them when the emotions are topsy-turvy.

However, there are other causes of indigestion, including faulty eating habits, and we are all familiar with the warnings concerning too much, too little, too fast, too hot, too cold, and too tired. Neglected dentures, infected gums, and poor teeth interfere with chewing and affect digestion secondarily. Dyspepsia also may be indicative of a more serious disorder and, when it persists, X-rays and other tests are in order. Peptic ulcer may be brewing when pain appears with clockwork regularity before meals and is relieved by food. The indigestion associated with gall bladder trouble is likely to be worse after eating, more so after consuming fatty foods or harsh vegetables like cabbage and onions. It is well to remember also that indigestion after 40 may point to heart disease and when the physician suggests an electrocardiogram, he is trying to investigate the problem from all angles.

TOMORROW: Relax during everyday activities.

CAN'T SMELL

Mrs. E. writes: I had bronchial pneumonia some months ago and have since lost my sense of smell. Do you think the disease is responsible or the antibiotic the physician prescribed?

REPLY

Neither is responsible. I would be more inclined to blame nasal congestion on the siege of pneumonia.

OPENING THE WINDPIPE

B. H. writes: What is a tracheotomy?

REPLY

An emergency operation in which the surgeon makes an incision directly into the windpipe somewhere between the Adam's apple and the collar bone. This procedure is done to save the individual from strangulation when there is obstruction in the throat or larynx.

CHILD'S CORPORATION

Mrs. J. C. writes: Should I be concerned about my 5-year-old child's enlarged protruding abdomen? He is healthy and eats well and is not fat.

REPLY

Probably not, as many 5-year-olds have not yet shed their little pot belly. You might ask your physician about it, however, the next time you see him because there are a few conditions such as megacolon and hookworm that lead to protuberant abdomen.

EFFECTS OF FROSTBITE

F. T. writes: I was frostbitten last winter and have been told I will have the trouble again this winter. Are there any precautions I can take to ward off another attack?

REPLY

Individuals who have been frostbitten develop an abnormal sensitivity to cold but the difficulty can be avoided by dressing warmly and steering clear of excessive exposure. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on frostbite.

Working Up To The High Board

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Senator Ives Will Recommend Congressional Salary Increases; Pentagon Passages Puzzle Under Secretary; Ike Cool Toward Some Educators

WASHINGTON—Irving Ives, New York Republican, and one of the few GOP senators who ran far ahead of Eisenhower in his state, is about to introduce legislation which some of his constituents won't like. However, Ives will be taking an important step for better government.

Furthermore, Eisenhower will give him powerful support.

Ives will tackle the delicate problem of congressional salaries, will propose that they be increased, perhaps even doubled.

What the public may not realize is that while everyone else's salary has increased, while wages have been given periodic boosts, and while the cost of living has zoomed, the salaries of senators and congressmen have stood still.

An ambassador's salary has increased from $15,000 to an average of $22,000. The President's salary has gone up from $75,000 a year to $100,000. But congressmen's salaries have remained stationary.

This is due chiefly to timidity. No congressman likes to face a re-election fight after he has voted to give himself an increase. An opponent can murder him, partly because the public doesn't understand the problem. This columnist has repeatedly urged that congressional salaries be increased, and that simultaneously the Justice Department crack down hard on any Nixon funds, kickbacks, etc.

Senator Ives is now planning to introduce a bill increasing congressional salaries to $25,000. He is in a better position to do this than some, because unfortunately he plans to retire from Congress at the end of the present term, so he will get no benefit from the increase.

President Eisenhower will make a strong move backing him up. Ike may act even ahead of Ives, and urge that the members of Congress get paid more.

Pentagon Labyrinth

Henry J. Kaiser, auto and airplane manufacturer, was lunching at the Pentagon Building with Roger Kyes, late of General Motors, now undersecretary of Defense.

After they had finished their lunch, Kyes excused himself, said he had an appointment with his colleague, Undersecretary of the Navy Charles Thomas, in another part of the Pentagon. Simultaneously an aide came in, handed Kyes a little map showing the exact location of Mr. Thomas's office in the mammoth building which houses the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Henry Kaiser stayed behind a few minutes to make a phone call, then went downstairs to catch a taxi. On the way he met Kyes, who apologized.

"I'm lost," confessed the undersecretary of Defense. "I can't find the undersecretary of the Navy's office."

Campus Probes

When president of Columbia, General Eisenhower took a vigorous stand against campus probes by Congress.

Now in the White House, however, the President avoided any direct comment on the House investigation of colleges during a recent chat with a congressional group. Instead, he remarked that there could be no academic freedom "in the abstract"—in other words, it had to be real and thriving, not a matter of lip service.

Academic freedom, said the President, is the result of all our other freedoms and cannot exist separately and independently of the general freedoms guaranteed by the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

He also said that the true test of any institution of learning was whether it moved in the direction of making good citizens.

When he became head of Columbia University, Ike recalled, he told officials there that he didn't want the job unless he had complete freedom to fire any Communists that might be on the faculty. He added that people should be willing to answer questions about their political beliefs before a congressional committee, or anywhere else.

"If they are not willing to answer that kind of question, I don't want them around," said Ike.

Political Independent

President Eisenhower was reminded that there were more than two political parties represented in Congress when independent Congressman Frazier Reams of Toledo, Ohio, sat next to him at a recent White House luncheon.

"How did you happen to become an independent?" asked the President.

"Because the two major political parties abdicated in my district and weren't serving the best interests of the people in electing congressmen," replied Reams.

"Very interesting," observed Ike. "Are you like Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon?"

"No sir," grinned the Toledoan. "I believe you would call Senator Morse a self-designated independent, since he has never run as one. I was elected twice on an independent ticket."

NOTE—Reams has lived up to his political label. Sometimes he votes with the Republicans, sometimes with the Democrats, but he doesn't take orders from anybody.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

WASHINGTON, Apr. 5 (INS) — WANTED—tough American, able to keep secret, must have thorough knowledge of atomic and hydrogen bombs, and patience enough to withstand new rash of debate now brewing in UN. Long hours, modest pay, but tax free. Apply Henry Cabot Lodge, chief, American Delegation, United Nations, N. Y.

Something must be rotten in Atomgrad, the perhaps mythical Russian nuclear fission headquarters in the Urals. The Reds want to reopen the question of UN control of the atom. They have indicated they were just spoofing during their 2-year demand that we beat our atomic stockpile into plowshares before they'd consider entering into any pact aimed at saving the human species from a slight case of extinction.

We'll be happy to resume the talks. We always are.

But let's not be carried away by this sudden googly-eyed deportment of our sworn enemies. If the Reds had any confidence in their atomic program, they wouldn't be interested in reopening talks in New York. They'd be busy sticking pins in prospective U. S. targets.

Hence the urgent need for the appointment soon of a man who can talk atomic turkey when the time comes. It is not a job for a dreamy scientist who never could understand why we used the bomb in the first place or why we didn't share it with our allies and co-belligerents instead of putting one of them (Russia) to the trouble of stealing it.

Nor is it a job for any member of the present or past American teams at UN who might be impressed by and grateful for, any show of cooperation on the part of the perennially difficult enemy of free men.

This new Soviet assault on our atomic citadel via negotiation, as a supplement to past and probably present espionage, calls for a special defense on our part. Mr. Lodge, busy with the big picture, is hardly the man to handle the matter for our side. He needs a first class, preferably hard-headed, spokesman who — as one deeply concerned atomic leader told me today—"understands quite clearly that if the Reds had been in the driver's seat in the atomic bomb race we'd all now be cinders."

Speculation around Washington as to what prompted the Russians to indicate they are willing to yield to at least one important point in the atom argument has taken several paths. One suggestion is that this is just part of a general determination to persuade the world that all has changed in the Kremlin since Stalin's death. But responsible observers of the atomic scene believe there might be more to it than that.

Former President Truman is not the only high-ranking person who is dubious about the existence of a Russian A-Bomb, or, at least, a practicable one. It is not likely that he would have sounded off quite so positively if there was no question about the Soviet Union's possession of history's most devastating tool of war.

The report persists that at least one and perhaps two of the three known atomic detonations inside Russia might have been stupendous accidents wherein fissionable material was improperly treated and backfired—in which case Russia must have lost many valuable technicians and costly installations and equipment. The Reds haven't tested one of their bombs (or plants) since October 22, 1951.

The incredible know-how we have displayed during the Yucca Flat tests must have had profound effect on the Kremlin. We have told the world directly or indirectly that we have atomic weapons that range in yield from perhaps 2,000 tons of TNT to almost 50 times that amount. We have officially announced that our hydrogen bomb is well past the stage of theory. We have packaged our A-Bombs in containers as varied as artillery shells and finny casings of assorted sizes that can be dropped by planes ranging from jet fighters to intercontinental bombers.

The new Russian appeal for a renegotiation has come on the heels of the latest successful series of tests in Nevada. That fact could remove the act from the realm of coincidence or conciliation. All the more reason why we now need a Grade A man to keep our atomic superiority from being dissipated over the conference table.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — They're just beginning to realize it around here —that Soviet Russia by suddenly moving toward a "cease fire" agreement in Korea has confronted the Western Alliance with a crisis in "peace" that may provide a more dangerous threat of large-scale war in the next few years than an unchanged "cold war" might have brought.

For merely to enumerate the consequences of the "cease fire" is to sketch the scope of the dilemma to which the Western Allies will have to find the answer or be entrapped.

First, the moment there's a "cease fire," the British will indicate their belief that Red China should be admitted to the UN and Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists be abandoned.

Political Conference Next

Second, since the armistice agreement settles only the questions relating to a "cease fire," the next step is a "political" conference at which the future of Korea must be considered. Here the Communists will insist on the North Koreans staying in power. Any "unification" plan, in their eyes, must start with dominance by the North Koreans. Already the South Koreans are making public demonstrations demanding that Chinese forces be completely withdrawn from all Korea, that North Korean forces be disarmed, and that no member of the UN give aid to Communist North Korea "militarily, financially or otherwise."

Third, if the South Koreans are "sold out" in any "political conference," it means that the North Koreans will overrun all of Korea and render futile everything that the UN forces have tried to do since June 1950 and for which America has incurred more than 130,000 casualties.

Fourth, if the South Koreans are disaffected, how will the UN keep peace in Korea? Today the South Korean divisions are being trained intensively to fight against the Communist enemy. Can they be trained in the face of a possible "sell out"? If, on the other hand, there's no change in the setup and Korea continues divided into two armed camps indefinitely, then what results can it be said that "collective security" has brought about?

Fundamental Differences

Fifth, there is a certainty of fundamental differences between the United States and Britain over the Korean issues. The British want to wash up the whole Korean affair, abandon the South Korean government, forget the Chinese Nationalists, admit Red China into the UN, let nature take its course, and call it a day. This is exactly what American isolationists used to demand—a policy of national self-interest. British isolationism today is a dominant policy irrespective of whether Conservatives or Laborites are in power in London.

Sixth, will the United States sacrifice all the objectives for which the Korean War was fought and go along with Britain—or will the two major allies split apart? The latter is what the Soviets undoubtedly have wanted to see happen long ago. The chance of driving a wedge between Britain and America on the Far East has been there for two years now, but Stalin lately either didn't see the chance and Malenkov did—or else the time was not ripe until now to put the British-American alliance to a test. The Soviets will do that now—and the more the subject is examined, the more it appears fraught with real danger. For, if the British pull away from America on the Far Eastern policy, it will inevitably mean a resurgence of American isolationism, which is beginning to say that America not only has no business in the Far East but none in Europe either—and that it is time to bring American boys home from all overseas lands.

The American "isolationists" have a new argument. They say that the Truman "isolationists" were much worse—they isolated American armies in Korea, got little help from the Allies, accepted nevertheless Allied interference in military operations, and finally the isolation became complete when ammunition needed in Korea was withheld so a certain type of "sit-down" war could be fought with American boys as the guinea pigs of an empirical diplomacy. It's the kind of argument that will be heard on the stump in the next congressional elections if the present administration joins with Britain in giving up the objectives for which American boys were told they were shedding their blood these last 33 months in Korea.

Real Worrying In Washington

"Collective security" and continued membership by the United States in the UN are related to the failure or success of the Korean War and, when the facts are all in, there will have to be a realistic appraisal of whether Uncle Sam was played for a sucker in Korea and whether he will not by inference find himself in the same fix in Europe if appeasement becomes the rule in the future "peace" conferences which are to follow a "cease fire." The domestic political line-up can be seriously affected by the debate on these points.

How to preserve Allied solidarity in the face of the Soviet's biggest opportunity to break it down is the real issue which the new era of "peace" conversations poses for America and Britain. For, if Allied solidarity does break down — the Soviet regime can do what it pleases in Europe and even risk large-scale war. They're doing some real worrying here in Washington as the much-to-be-desired armistice in Korea comes closer to being consummated.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Teachers Union

When one goes among professors these days, it is startling to find that so many of them are jittery over the prospects of being called as witnesses before congressional committees. Few are ever called. Not all are unfriendly witnesses; for instance, Dr. Harry D. Gideonse, president of Brooklyn College, Dr. William Jansen, superintendent of schools in New York City, Dr. Bella Dodd, former Communist, and Dr. William H. Withers, who had taught at Lehigh University, Teachers College of Columbus University, and Queens College, were friendly witnesses, aiding the congressional committees with their expert knowledge.

Only those who have something to hide need fear these investigations.

Professor Withers testified that at one stage of his life, he was actually groomed to be a member of the Communist party. He was then at New College, an institution for the education of teachers in which political activity was encouraged. He had joined the Teachers Union, he thinks, in 1935. He testified that "the Teachers Union was under Communist control at that time."

Dr. Withers was an active member of Local 537 of the Teachers Union situated at Teachers College. He testified before the Jenner Committee:

". . . after 1937 I begun to realize that the control of Local 537 was definitely Communist, and in 1939 a group of us who were non-Communists in Local 537 organized what we called an independent caucus, in which we attempted to defeat Communist propositions in the plenary sessions of the union."

The value of Dr. Wither's testimony is that it confirms the pattern of deceit. It is not illegal for any man in this country to be a Communist; it is indecent to be deceitful. On this subject, Dr. Withers testified:

". . . they did not usually admit publicly that they were Communists. In fact, officers of the union never admitted that. They attempted to follow a set of policies which presumably would be accepted by liberals generaly. But nevertheless, their policies were always consistent with the Communist party lines. . .

"Senator (Willis) Smith. So the fact that members may not proclaim their identity as members of the Communist party is no indication that they are not working as Communists wherever they are located?

"Mr. Withers. That is true. In fact, it has often been a definite policy of the Communist party to try to disguise membership, particularly in the case of a person who might be regarded as a front for the Communist party. The higher up you are in the educational world, the greater the degree of reputation you have publicly, the less use you are to the Communist party openly."

This statement was not made by a so-called witch-hunter; it was made by a professor of standing and experience who was speaking of his own knowledge. Had these Communistic professors proclaimed themselves, they would have had little influence upon other teachers and perhaps upon their students. They posed as liberals.

Dr. Withers explained to the Jenner Committee the methods employed by these disguised Communist professors:

". . . the theory of the Communist party, as I understood it, in the early days, and I think it still holds good, is that people are put in strategic, what might be called strategic positions. Now, in a sense, a teacher is in a strategic position. He is in a strategic position not simply because he is able to introduce his ideas into class discussions or into his lectures, but he is primarily in a strategic position because after hours, after class hours, he can exercise a very important influence upon the ideas of students who gather around him.

"The typical action of the Communist teacher is to become a popular person with students, to curry favor with the students, to appear to be a courageous person, to appear to be a person who is without sin and is always against sin, to be a person who is constantly fighting for what is idealistic. A lot of young people accept this view that the Communist teacher has of himself, and as a result become a part of what might be called a coterie of the Communist teacher. Then they begin to become active. They are gradually educated into Communist activity, and it is for that purpose that the Communist teacher is most useful to the Communist party . . ."

This is as complete an answer as I have yet seen on this subject.

Russian And U. S. Newsmen Honor Each Other At Party

(The writer of the following dispatch has been Associated Press bureau chief in Moscow for the past 10 years.

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, April 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Soviet Prime Minister Malenkov were toasted with vodka last night at a dinner for American and Russian newsmen.

The dinner, in honor of a group of visiting American newspaper and radio editors, was given at Moscow's famed Georgian restaurant, the Arajvi.

During the evening, Morzeov, editor of the Soviet magazine News, stood and said, "I propose the health of Mr. Eisenhower and the American people." Everyone stood and drank vodka.

Then Eugene Simon, president and general manager of the Valley Daily News of Tarentum, Pa., got up, glass in hand.

"And I propose the health of Premier Georgi Malenkov," Simon said. Again everyone got to their feet.

It was a singular dinner we had at the Arajvi, named after the principal river in the Georgian republic.

In addition to Morzeov, a number of Russian officials were present, including the acting press department chief of the foreign affairs ministry, Sarzov, and his deputy, Vavilov.

Americans present included Jacob Beam, American charge d'affaires, and Elim O'Shaughnessy, counsellor of the American Embassy.

Harrison Salisbury, New York Times Moscow correspondent, and Associated Press Correspondent Thomas P. Whitney were the dinner hosts.

Someone got up and proposed a toast to better understanding between the Soviet Union and the United States and everyone got to his feet.

"This shashlik," said Morzeov, "now begins to taste more tender." Shashlik is a favorite Georgian dish of barbecued lamb.

During World War II we had meetings with the Russians like this, but it has been a long time since there was such an evening.

Between courses I sat down beside the acting chief of the press department and we tossed a few pleasantries back and forth in Russian.

Then he said something in English.

All this time the orchestra was knocking out Georgian tunes in the background.

"You speak pretty good English," I said.

"Well," he said, "I need practice. We don't have very many evenings like this one."

"We should," I said. "During the war, when we were allied against Hitler, we had them."

Simon got up again and said that the touring group of editors had visited many countries.

"And I find the Russian people more like the American people than any people I have ever seen. We should be more friendly."

Morzeov rose to his feet again.

"I will drink to that," he said.

I couldn't believe it. It was what I always remember as a real Russian evening, the kind we used to have during the war.

The evening was indicative of the general atmosphere in Moscow today—an atmosphere of easiness, one of conciliation.

It was an atmosphere that made you hope very much that the things that are happening are going to lead to real developments, to some understanding between East and West.

It is almost too much to hope for. Yet here we were experiencing an evening like tonight, when you sat down with the Russians and their wives and they drank toasts to President Eisenhower and the American people.

Lt. Mayott Named Assistant Training Officer In Guard

First Lt. Robert H. Mayott, 815 Maplewood Lane, has been appointed assistant plans and training officer of the First Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment, Maryland National Guard, according to Randolph H. Millholland, regimental commander.

Lt. Mayott is a veteran of South Pacific fighting with the Army Engineers during World War II. He was recalled to active duty while serving with the Connecticut National Guard and served from September 1951 to July 1952 in Germany with the Infantry.

A native of West Hartford, Conn., he has been assistant industrial engineer at the Amcelle Plant of Celanese Corporation since September.

Col. Millholland also announced several promotions in Company C of the First Battalion which is housed in the State Armory here.

John R. Bull and Earl L. Stevens were advanced to corporal in the rifle company, and George A. Martz to private first class.

Fox Will Give Recital April 27

Virgil Fox, internationally famous concert organist, will appear here on April 27 in recital on a Hammond concert model organ at Fort Hill auditorium. The famous organist of Riverside Church, New York, has drawn capacity audiences on three previous appearances here.

Fox has toured extensively in Europe and Canada during the summer when he can take sufficient time away from his position as organist of the New York Church. He is the only foreigner ever to play a recital in St. Thomas' Church in Leipzig at the organ once played by Johann Sebastion Bach and the only American to play a recital at Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris. His recital in Edinburgh in 1951 was a highlight of the Edinburgh Festival. Selected by the State Department to represent the United States at the International Congress of Church Music in Bern, Switzerland, last summer, Fox played in a concert series featuring the most distinguished organists from all over the world. The concert will be free.

Fire Damages Trailer

Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company was called early yesterday four and a half miles south of Cresaptown on Route 220 to extinguish a fire in the rear right wheel of a Morris Motor Express Company trailer.

It is estimated that it took fish some 250,000,000 years to develop into their present form and learn to swim.

Election Board Submits Budget To The County

The Board of Election Supervisors yesterday submitted a revised budget to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners calling for an outlay of $40,635.35.

An original budget calling for $17,563.25 was presented to the commissioners last Thursday but the board informed Edward P. Kaylor, clerk to the supervisors, that the budget contained no provision for the state primary election scheduled in June of 1954.

The election officials had assumed the primary was set for September of 1954 but a call to the secretary of state cleared up the matter.

This makes the cost of operating the Board of Election Supervisors a total of $23,072.10 more than had been anticipated. The fiscal year starts July 1.

Included in the primary costs are $16,740 for poll workers; janitor service, $170; substitute election supervisors, $100; rent of polling places, $1,170; hauling election booths and materials to polling places, $550; advertising the ballot and polling places in newspapers, $500; and $2,492.50 for printing.

The Upper Potomac River Commission requested $26,454 for the maintenance and operation of the Savage River Dam. This is the same amount as the commission used last year in operating the dam. The letter requesting the funds was signed by Frank A. Wolfhope, auditor for the commission.

The board ordered paid the bills incurred in installing air attack warning sirens and facilities at the Frostburg Fire Hall and at the intersection of Race, Second and Seymour Streets.

The wiring and siren for Frostburg cost $801. Installation costs in Cumberland were $325 and the cost of erecting four, 30-foot poles and siren platform amounted to $133.60.

State Income Tax Due Next Wednesday

The local organization will hold a meeting of the board of directors Friday, April 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the George Williams Room of the YMCA.

Officials announced that the Lions district convention will be held June 3 to 6 at Atlantic City, and the international convention will be held July 8 to 11 in Chicago. Members planning to attend are requested to contact the secretary for additional information.

Lt. Mayott Named Assistant Training Officer In Guard

First Lt. Robert H. Mayott, 815 Maplewood Lane, has been appointed assistant plans and training officer of the First Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment, Maryland National Guard, according to Randolph H. Millholland, regimental commander.

Lt. Mayott is a veteran of South Pacific fighting with the Army Engineers during World War II. He was recalled to active duty while serving with the Connecticut National Guard and served from September 1951 to July 1952 in Germany with the Infantry.

A native of West Hartford, Conn., he has been assistant industrial engineer at the Amcelle Plant of Celanese Corporation since September.

Col. Millholland also announced several promotions in Company C of the First Battalion which is housed in the State Armory here.

John R. Bull and Earl L. Stevens were advanced to corporal in the rifle company, and George A. Martz to private first class.

Guard officials here pointed out there are vacancies for instructors in both Company C and Headquarters Company of the First Battalion.

Especially needed are veterans of the Korean conflict for instructors. There are openings for these men having reserve status in the non-commissioned ranks, Col. Millholland said.

Red Cross Victory Dinner Is Planned

A "Victory Dinner" marking the successful conclusion of the Allegany County drive for American Red Cross funds has been scheduled for Thursday at 6 p. m. at the Central YMCA.

Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, will deliver the main address and Charles L. Kopp, drive chairman, will preside.

Drive officials have announced that the minimum goal of $32,000 has been attained, although details are not yet available.

Customers paid suppliers of electricity $5,640,000,000 in this country in 1951.

Fox Will Give Recital April 27

Virgil Fox, internationally famous concert organist, will appear here on April 27 in recital on a Hammond concert model organ at Fort Hill auditorium. The famous organist of Riverside Church, New York, has drawn capacity audiences on three previous appearances here.

Fox has toured extensively in Europe and Canada during the summer when he can take sufficient time away from his position as organist of the New York Church. He is the only foreigner ever to play a recital in St. Thomas' Church in Leipzig at the organ once played by Johann Sebastion Bach and the only American to play a recital at Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris. His recital in Edinburgh in 1951 was a highlight of the Edinburgh Festival. Selected by the State Department to represent the United States at the International Congress of Church Music in Bern, Switzerland, last summer, Fox played in a concert series featuring the most distinguished organists from all over the world. The concert will be free.

Fire Damages Trailer

Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company was called early yesterday four and a half miles south of Cresaptown on Route 220 to extinguish a fire in the rear right wheel of a Morris Motor Express Company trailer.

It is estimated that it took fish some 250,000,000 years to develop into their present form and learn to swim.

Election Board Submits Budget To The County

The Board of Election Supervisors yesterday submitted a revised budget to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners calling for an outlay of $40,635.35.

An original budget calling for $17,563.25 was presented to the commissioners last Thursday but the board informed Edward P. Kaylor, clerk to the supervisors, that the budget contained no provision for the state primary election scheduled in June of 1954.

The election officials had assumed the primary was set for September of 1954 but a call to the secretary of state cleared up the matter.

This makes the cost of operating the Board of Election Supervisors a total of $23,072.10 more than had been anticipated. The fiscal year starts July 1.

Included in the primary costs are $16,740 for poll workers; janitor service, $170; substitute election supervisors, $100; rent of polling places, $1,170; hauling election booths and materials to polling places, $550; advertising the ballot and polling places in newspapers, $500; and $2,492.50 for printing.

The Upper Potomac River Commission requested $26,454 for the maintenance and operation of the Savage River Dam. This is the same amount as the commission used last year in operating the dam. The letter requesting the funds was signed by Frank A. Wolfhope, auditor for the commission.

The board ordered paid the bills incurred in installing air attack warning sirens and facilities at the Frostburg Fire Hall and at the intersection of Race, Second and Seymour Streets.

The wiring and siren for Frostburg cost $801. Installation costs in Cumberland were $325 and the cost of erecting four, 30-foot poles and siren platform amounted to $133.60.

State Income Tax Due Next Wednesday

April 15 is the final day for payment of Maryland income taxes. All taxpayers are expected to file their returns and make a remittance on their tax by midnight of this date, officials noted.

The tax is computed as always and 15 per cent is deducted.

Lions To Hear Talk On Hagerstown Firm

W. R. Custer, president of the Custer Channel Ring Corporation, Hagerstown, will be guest speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Lions Club to be held Wednesday at 12:15 p.m. in the Green Room of Central YMCA.

Custer's company produces a revolutionary airplane wing, an aeronautical development not well known to the general public. In connection with Custer's talk, the club will show a motion picture of the "Wing" in flight.

The local organization will hold a meeting of the board of directors Friday, April 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the George Williams Room of the YMCA.

Officials announced that the Lions district convention will be held June 3 to 6 at Atlantic City, and the international convention will be held July 8 to 11 in Chicago. Members planning to attend are requested to contact the secretary for additional information.

Bazar Committee To Meet Tonight

A meeting will be held today at 7 p. m. in the library of LaSalle High School for all committee members working on the Men of LaSalle bazar, according to Edward McGraw, bazar chairman.

Plans will be made for the event scheduled Tuesday, April 14, through Thursday, April 16, in the parish hall of SS. Peter and Paul Church, Fayette Street.

OAKLAND — Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Ream of Oakland, entertained Sunday with an Easter dinner party in honor of Mrs. Ream's mother, Mrs. George Montgomery, of Barton, who was observing her 80th birthday. Fifty guests attended.

Kimble, Green Named To Legislative Group

State Senator Robert B. Kimble of Allegany County and Delegate Arthur H. Green of Garrett County have been named to the Legislative Council, a group which studies possible legislation when the General Assembly is not in session.

Local Men Plan To Attend CD School

At least three local representatives will attend a National Civil Defense Training School "Plant Facilities Protection Day" today at Olney.

They are E. M. Pueschel of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory; and S. J. Hornick and A. C. Howard of Kelly Springfield Tire Company.

William G. Barger, county Civil Defense director, said the one-day program will include discusisons of the international situation, organizational setup for Civil Defense in industry; and plant protection from a military and military intelligence standpoint. In the afternoon, Civil Defense progress in the Baltimore metropolitan area and a demonstration of rescue techniques by the staff of the school will feature.

New Avalanche Of Odd Bills Raining Down On Congress

By JERRY KLEIN
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The 83rd Congressional Sweepstakes have just begun, but already there are signs it's going to be a mighty strange race.

Decisions on some awfully queer bills will have to be made before the Congress enters the home stretch. Although some of the weird proposals are contained in the budget submitted by President Truman, many other queer suggestions are being made almost daily by the congressmen themselves.

Old Glory would not be allowed to float over any advertisement under a bill submitted by Rep. Carroll Kearns (R), Pennsylvania. A bill filled by Rep. Eugene Keough (D), New York, would ban the use of the world "White House" in any trademark.

The first Tuesday in March would become "Teachers' Day" according to a resolution proposed by Rep. George Dondero (R), Michigan. And the fourth Saturday of August will be "Children's Day" if Rep. Robert Hale (R), Maine, has his way.

Rep. Usher Burdick (R), North Dakota, wants the federal government to provide uniforms for its employes. He would also have the United States secede from the United Nations.

All Ex-Presidents and vice presidents would become senators-at-large under a proposal by Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. (D), New York. They wouldn't vote but they'd get $25,000 to help them live somewhat in the manner to which they had become accustomed.

Rep. Walter Judd (R), Minnesota, wants Congress to congratulate the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra on its 50th anniversary.

This flood of unusual recommendations started the first day Congress convened. Only about 40 of the 433 congressmen introduced legislation, but they submitted an assortment of 329 bills and resolutions. (One congressman was responsible for 42 all by himself!)

Rep. Charles Howell (D), New Jersey, wants the government to help his constituents build a theater for grand opera. Rep. Emanuel Celler (D), New York, says the salary of Supreme Court judges should be boosted from $25,500 to $35,000. Their pay, really should be raised to $40,000, however, according to a bill submitted by Rep. Paul Cunningham (R), Iowa.

Even without adding any startling recommendations of its own, Congress already faces quite a few in the proposed budget. For example, there's an item of over $3,000 to put a coat of varnish on the chairs in the Senate.

The budget also calls for over $500,000 to study wild birds and beasts. Then there's $420 for the International Whaling Commission. And it will cost $5,300,000 if the Congress tells the mint to go ahead and make one billion new pennies.

There's also a request for over $50,000 for the International Boundary Commission, which tidies up the borders separating the United States, Canada and Alaska.

The Department of Defense wants the Congress to okay a cool $46 billion, partly to finance the department's 900 some-odd committees. Among these are the Usually Traveled Route Committee, the Artic Ionospheric Advisory Committee and the Subcommittee on Vibration and Flutter.

However, don't go into a flutter. Some congressmen actually have made specific proposals for saving money.

For example, Rep. James Auchincloss (R), New Jersey, suggests we cut down expenses by having a private non-profit agency operate the dog pound in Washington. True, that proposal might not cut the cost of government very much—but, after all, it would be a start.

TELLS OF DOUBLE SLAYING—Frederick Walker Pope, 27, according to Police Chief D. V. Long at Washington Court House, Ohio, has related a story of how he and a friend drove 10-year-old Constance Smith, of Greenwich, Conn., cross country last July to Arizona, how his friend killed the girl and he then killed the friend. Pope said his friend's name was either "Jack, Wilson or Walker." Chief Long said Pope told the story after giving himself up Monday night.

GI Loans Total Over $20 Billion, VA Announces

Veterans Administration loans for ex-servicemen and women have gone above the $20,000,000,000 mark since the beginning of the loan program in 1944, VA officials have announced.

As of February, 1953, the Veterans Administration has approved 3,264,180 loans for homes, farms and businesses totalling $20,349,972,750.

Of this total, the VA has guaranteed or insured $10,668,481,419. The loans have been made by a variety of private lending institutions, banks, savings and loan associations, mortagage companies, insurance companies and others.

The largest number of loans approved was for the purchase, construction or improvement of homes. The Veterans Administration approved 2,997,081 home loans to former servicemen, totalling $19,455,299,014.

Business loans approved amounted to $544,040,465 for 201,730 loans while the VA okayed 64,649 loans to veterans who wanted to buy a farm or land or stock, feed and seed, farm machinery and other farm supplies and equipment. These loans amounted to $250,533,271.

Of the total number of loans approved as of February of this year, 3,196,268 amounting to $19,787,793,537 had actually been reported by lending institutions as closed and fully disbursed.

Under the GI Bill of Rights, veterans can obtain guaranteed or insured loans for a variety of business purposes, to start a new business or expand a going concern as well as purchase new homes or farms and equipment or to build a home.

Ike Plans Golfing Trip Next Monday

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP) — President Eisenhower plans to head for his favorite golf course next Monday for a week or more of recreation.

The White House announced today that the president will fly to Augusta, Ga., and take up temporary residence in the white cottage of former golf champion Bobby Jones near the 18th green at the Augusta National Golf Club.

These plans confirm that Eisenhower will not be in Washington to throw out the first ball at the opening baseball game between the Washington Senators and the World Champion New York Yankees next Monday. Eisenhower has delegated this chore to Vice President Nixon.

High Court Will Not Hear Tokyo Rose Case

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—The Supreme Court has refused again to hear an appeal by "Tokyo Rose," the California-born Japanese convicted of treason for broadcasting propaganda over the Japanese radio during World War II.

The woman was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine. She is in the Federal Reformatory for Women at Alderson, W. Va.

The county prize will be $50 and the state winner will receive a $500 prize and an all-expense trip to Atlantic City in June during the State Bar Association convention. The state winner's essay will be read to the assembled lawyers.

The subject of the essay is "The Three Divisions of Governmental Power under the Federal Constitution."

The length of the essay is limited to not more than 1,000 words.

Other members of the committee are Donald W. Mason, John P. Mackey, Leslie J. Clark, and Noel Speir Cook.

National Symphony Orchestra Will Play Here Next Wednesday

The brilliant overture to Wagner's "Die Meistersinger" will open the concert to be given here Wednesday, April 15, by the 90-piece National Symphony Orchestra from Washington under its popular regular conductor, Howard Mitchell.

The program for the evening concert (scheduled for 8:20 at Fort Hill auditorium) was announced Saturday by Mrs. A. N. Golladay, manager of the symphony's local engagement.

Pergolesis' "Concertino for Strings" (No. 2 in G Major) will be played after the overture. The four parts of this seldom heard but melodious composition are: the Largo; Da Capella non Presto; Andante and Largo, and the Allegro finale.

Four excerpts from Tschaikowsky's "Swan Lake" ballet will close the first part of the program, concluding with the admirable Scene and Waltz.

For the symphony part of the concert, Mr. Mitchell has chosen the Sibelius "Symphony No. 1 in E Minor."

The four parts of the impressive Sibelius composition give the National Symphony an opportunity to display its virtuosity and brilliance to the limit.

Advance mail orders have been heavy from all parts of the Cumberland area. The regular ticket sale will open tomorrow at the Syckes Music Store, North Centre street.

Cub Scouts Will Go Native In Observing April Theme

Potomac Council's 17 Cub Scout packs will go native this month as they prepare to observe the theme for April, "Life in the Hawaiian Islands."

Each pack has been presented with a kit of pamphlets on this month's theme through the courtesy of the Hawaii Visitors Bureau, Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association, Hawaiian Pineapple Company and the Hawaiian Electric Company.

Scout officials said area dens and packs are planning many skits on the history of Hawaii, making native costumes, setting up island ceremonies and preparing for the celebration feast.

Cub Scout Feast

A feature of the den and pack meetings will be a Cub Scout Luau. Luau is a Hawaiian feast, a perfect expression of true Hawaiian hospitality and stresses the spirit of thanksgiving for a new home, special visitors, a wedding and even birthdays. Cubs will decorate tables Hawaiian style, load them with fresh pinapple, bananas, coconut and other fruit. Hawaiian music and dancing will also be on the program.

Officials said some packs are planning to have an imu, a roast cooked with vegetables.

Cub skits will include the history of the islands from Kamehameha 1 to its current bid for statehood. Dens are planning to investigate folklore and folkways of the islands and then will plan skits, stunts and story telling, using colorful native costumes.

Boys will have craft projects to do, making models of the eight islands, models of an active volcano, Hawaiian villages with grass huts, native outrigger canoes, flags, cigar box ukuleles and other craft from coconut shells and lets.

Will Wear Costumes

More fun planned by the Cubs is making native costumes. At the den and pack meetings, head chiefs, (Cubmasters, committeemen and Den Mothers, will wear ankle length capes and helmets; lesser chiefs (Den Chiefs) will wear knee length capes and Kahili (standard) bearers (Denners) will wear brown and yellow shoulder capes. Flag bearers (Webelos) will wear shoulder capes of red, white, blue and yellow.

Each den will study one of Hawaiia's industries, sugar, pineapple or tourists and tell about it at the meeting. Other studies the boys will make include geography, nature study, customs and sports. During the meetings Cubs will also play many of the Hawaiian games.

Major Accomplishments Of 1953 General Assembly Are Noted

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 7 (AP)—Here are the major accomplishments of the 1953 General Assembly:

Trimmed nearly two million dollars from a record-high 195 million dollar budget presented by the Administration.

Adopted a 568-million-dollar roads program (overall cost about 900-million) covering 12-year span with limitations to give future legislatures stronger hand in administering program.

Increased teacher's pay $300 and set up $2800-$4600 salary scale in 1955.

Added five new circuit judges.

Increased amount of oyster shells packers must turn over to State from 20 to 50 per cent.

Bond Bill Trimmed

Trimmed the bond bill for capital improvements from $15,200,000 to $15,040,050.

Limited seine hauling to weekdays south of the Bay Bridge and further restricted use of power in handling seines.

Increased the state liquor tax from $1.25 to $1.50 a gallon with 50 cents on each gallon going to the county or Baltimore City where it was sold.

Revised the assessment law to enter reassessments on the books when made instead of waiting until the three-year cycle is completed.

Kept Sunday closing for liquor establishments under local option despite heavy pressure to make statewide.

Tighten Crime Laws

Tightened crime laws, especially regarding violent crimes.

Reduced the recommended real estate tax from 11.29 cents per $100 valuation to 5.67, lowest in Maryland history.

Permitted dog racing in St. Mary's County, subject to the approval of the county's voters.

Authorized pari-mutuel betting for two Saturdays over steeplechase course at Fair Hill, Cecil County, with profits to go to Union Hospital at Elkton.

Reduced State income tax 15 per cent.

Authorized State participation in the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Parkway from Cumberland to Hancock.

The Legislature defeated these proposals to use State surpluses for income and property tax reductions and to increase the State inspection tax on oysters from 2 to 10 cents a bushel.

McKeldin Praises

from McKeldin, rejected a House move to hike the inspection tax on oysters from 2 to 10 cents a bushel. The Senate's Bay and Tributaries Committee recommended cutting the tax to 5 cents, but even that compromise was turned down.

The Tidewater Fisheries department wanted the tax to raise $250,000 from the oyster industry and put the business on a self-supporting basis. That much now comes out of State funds for its maintenance.

Both sides, however, had agreed to increase to 50 per cent the number of oyster shells packers must turn back to the state for replanting. The present law calls for them to turn back 20 per cent and make another 30 per cent available to the State to purchase at the prevailing price.

Boost Liquor Tax

The senate went along with increasing the State tax on liquor from $1.25 to $1.50 a gallon beginning July 1954.

Under the bill, the counties would begin receiving 50 cents from every gallon taxes. So it in turn cuts the State's income from the levy about $800,000.

McKeldin also congratulated the assemblymen on salary raises for public school teachers and State employes and the revamped method of handling paroles.

Boost Teacher Pay

The teachers raise, which becomes effective in full in 1955, hikes the salary scale up to $300 this year and elevates the scale eventually from $2200-3800 to $2800-$4600. The increased cost will be borne jointly by the State and the counties and Baltimore city.

McKeldin also noted favorably the 15 per cent cut in income taxes and the new low on real estate taxes.

Both reductions were initiated by the Legislature. McKeldin in his budget message at the start of the session asked for a property tax of 11.29 cents per $100 valuation. The legislators cut this to 5.67 cents, the lowest in history.

However, the Governor expressed disappointment in the Legislature's failure to revamp the Baltimore City traffic and magistrate court system and to grant more home rule to the counties and municipalities.

Approve Dog Racing

The General Assembly opened the door last night to dog racing for the first time in Maryland, but the proposal requires approval of the Governor and the voters of St. Mary's County, where the dog tracks would be allowed.

The Legislature refused to revamp the State Racing Commission by adding a "czar" and declined to add more days each track is allowed to operate. But it did go along with allowing pari-mutuel betting for two days of steeplechase racing at Fair Hill, Cecil County, with the profit going to an Elkton hospital.

The legislators overhauled a program for giving every county a circuit judge and finally approved a bill to increase the number of jurists to five for counties on the western shore. The Eastern Shore was excluded from its provisions at its own request.

Revamp Assessments

And they revamped the method of assessments. In effect, it calls for each county — and Baltimore City — to be reassessed completely every three years, with one-third being reassessed each year and the new figures becoming effective immediately.

The 1951 Legislature changed the assessment plan from the current five year plan to three years, with the stipulation that none of the assessments would be changed until after the three-year cycle.

The '51 act called for it to go into effect next year, when the third five-year assessment cycle will be completed.

Assembly Passes Many Bills In Session's Final Hours

Increased salaries for a number of Allegany County officials were authorized in bills passed in the closing hours of the General Assembly.

Among those enacted were:

House Bill 837—To increase the salaries of the three members of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors from $900 to $1,080.

House Bill 884—To increase the salary of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. The president of the board will receive $2,000 and the other two commissioners, $1,800 annually. The commissioners currently received $1,500 a year.

Clerk's Salary Hiked

House Bill 899—To increase the salary of the clerk to the Allegany County Commissioners from $2,400 annually to $2,700.

House Bill 371—Sponsored by the Garrett delegation—to require junk dealers to keep books recording the day and hour of purchases, the name and address of sellers and a description of all articles purchased, except in Baltimore City.

House Bill 894—To make the salary of the Allegany County assistant state's attorney not less than $3,000 annually.

House Bill 906—To make the annual pay of the clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court at $5,400 annually.

Approve Rent Plan

Only Allegany County and its incorporated towns, Hagerstown and Baltimore City, will be able to impose rent ceilings if federal controls are lifted.

After shuttling back and forth between the two bodies in the General Assembly last night for amendments, that included delaying tactics in the Senate, enabling authority for rent control was finally enacted for three political subdivisions.

State Senator Robert B. Kimble tacked on the amendment in the State Senate that included this county in the bill.

Workmen's Compensation

Improvements in the state workmen's compensation system are included in House Bill 21, which was passed by the House following Senate amendments.

The bill provides increasing maximum payments from $32 to $40 a week and makes other changes in the workmen's compensation law.

House Bill 325, sponsored by Delegates See, Kelley and Driscoll, was passed finally after amendments. It provides that in appeals to the circuit court, fines levied by trial magistrates shall be held to facilitate reimbursement for those acquitted.

King George II of England established the custom of rising during a performance of the Messiah.

Floyd Grady has been elected chairman of the Service Department of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO).

Guesses On Tax

the city must retire $112,000 of serial bonds, pay $29,880.50 into the sinking fund to retire term bonds, pay $87,500.75 interest on the city's debt and $1,500 interest on a $60,000 street and sewage bond issue sold to finance the Bedford Street sewage ejector station.

The total debt service costs of $230,881.25 will require a debt service levy of about 33½ cents, based on assessments totaling $69,000,000.

May Add Two Cents

This year, the city levied 33 cents to meet debt charges which totaled $227,700.

If the $350,000 traffic bond issue and the $150,000 Boulevard bonds are sold, another two cents must be levied for the estimated $15,000 a year needed to service this extra half million dollar debt. The figure is based on retiring the issue in 20 years at a three per cent interest rate.

The debt service charge should still be less than that paid in 1951-52, when 36¼ was levied.

Tax Limit Advances

The city tax rate could be advanced sharply this year if the Mayor and Council wishes to do so.

House Bill 545, sponsored by the Allegany County Delegation, allows the city to levy not more than $1.25 on each $100 of assessments to meet the costs of operating the city.

This allows a 30-cent increase over the present 95-cent operating levy limitation.

There is no limit, however, on the amount the city may levy for debt service.

The city, however, has always limited this amount by keeping its general debt under five per cent of real estate assessments, which now total about $49,00,000, in order to protect its interest rate and maintain its excellent credit rating.

Major Accomplishments Of 1953 General Assembly Are Noted

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 7 (AP)—Here are the major accomplishments of the 1953 General Assembly:

Trimmed nearly two million dollars from a record-high 195 million dollar budget presented by the Administration.

Adopted a 568-million-dollar roads program (overall cost about 900-million) covering 12-year span with limitations to give future legislatures stronger hand in administering program.

Increased teacher's pay $300 and set up $2800-$4600 salary scale in 1955.

Added five new circuit judges.

Increased amount of oyster shells packers must turn over to State from 20 to 50 per cent.

Bond Bill Trimmed

Trimmed the bond bill for capital improvements from $15,200,000 to $15,040,050.

Limited seine hauling to weekdays south of the Bay Bridge and further restricted use of power in handling seines.

Increased the state liquor tax from $1.25 to $1.50 a gallon with 50 cents on each gallon going to the county or Baltimore City where it was sold.

Revised the assessment law to enter reassessments on the books when made instead of waiting until the three-year cycle is completed.

Tighten Crime Laws

Tightened crime laws, especially regarding violent crimes.

Reduced the recommended real estate tax from 11.29 cents per $100 valuation to 5.67, lowest in Maryland history.

Permitted dog racing in St. Mary's County, subject to the approval of the county's voters.

Authorized pari-mutuel betting for two Saturdays over steeplechase course at Fair Hill, Cecil County, with profits to go to Union Hospital at Elkton.

Reduced State income tax 15 per cent.

Authorized State participation in the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Parkway from Cumberland to Hancock.

The Legislature defeated these proposals to use State surpluses for income and property tax reductions and to increase the State inspection tax on oysters from 2 to 10 cents a bushel.

McKeldin Praises

from McKeldin, rejected a House move to hike the inspection tax on oysters from 2 to 10 cents a bushel. The Senate's Bay and Tributaries Committee recommended cutting the tax to 5 cents, but even that compromise was turned down.

The Tidewater Fisheries department wanted the tax to raise $250,000 from the oyster industry and put the business on a self-supporting basis. That much now comes out of State funds for its maintenance.

Both sides, however, had agreed to increase to 50 per cent the number of oyster shells packers must turn back to the state for replanting. The present law calls for them to turn back 20 per cent and make another 30 per cent available to the State to purchase at the prevailing price.

Boost Liquor Tax

The senate went along with increasing the State tax on liquor from $1.25 to $1.50 a gallon beginning July 1954.

Under the bill, the counties would begin receiving 50 cents from every gallon taxes. So it in turn cuts the State's income from the levy about $800,000.

McKeldin also congratulated the assemblymen on salary raises for public school teachers and State employes and the revamped method of handling paroles.

Boost Teacher Pay

The teachers raise, which becomes effective in full in 1955, hikes the salary scale up to $300 this year and elevates the scale eventually from $2200-3800 to $2800-$4600. The increased cost will be borne jointly by the State and the counties and Baltimore city.

McKeldin also noted favorably the 15 per cent cut in income taxes and the new low on real estate taxes.

Both reductions were initiated by the Legislature. McKeldin in his budget message at the start of the session asked for a property tax of 11.29 cents per $100 valuation. The legislators cut this to 5.67 cents, the lowest in history.

However, the Governor expressed disappointment in the Legislature's failure to revamp the Baltimore City traffic and magistrate court system and to grant more home rule to the counties and municipalities.

Approve Dog Racing

The General Assembly opened the door last night to dog racing for the first time in Maryland, but the proposal requires approval of the Governor and the voters of St. Mary's County, where the dog tracks would be allowed.

The Legislature refused to revamp the State Racing Commission by adding a "czar" and declined to add more days each track is allowed to operate. But it did go along with allowing pari-mutuel betting for two days of steeplechase racing at Fair Hill, Cecil County, with the profit going to an Elkton hospital.

The legislators overhauled a program for giving every county a circuit judge and finally approved a bill to increase the number of jurists to five for counties on the western shore. The Eastern Shore was excluded from its provisions at its own request.

Revamp Assessments

And they revamped the method of assessments. In effect, it calls for each county — and Baltimore City — to be reassessed completely every three years, with one-third being reassessed each year and the new figures becoming effective immediately.

The 1951 Legislature changed the assessment plan from the current five year plan to three years, with the stipulation that none of the assessments would be changed until after the three-year cycle.

The '51 act called for it to go into effect next year, when the third five-year assessment cycle will be completed.

A-Sub "Engineering Force" To Receive Diplomas Soon

By ELTON C. FAY

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho, April 5 (AP)—The school for atomic submariners is getting ready to graduate its first class.

The score or so of hand-picked officers and men in the class will be the "engineering force" for the atomic-powered submarine Nautilus.

When, probably some time next year, the skipper of the Nautilus speaks the old order "one-third ahead," these men will be the first in the world to turn on atomic energy for motive power.

Behind them will be a year and a half of training unlike that any sailors ever sweated through.

Back at Bettis Field near Pittsburgh, Pa., in the laboratory built by the Atomic Energy Commission and operated by the Westinghouse Electric Corp., they began an academic course.

At first it was quite commonplace—such subjects as physics, chemistry, mathematics. Then it began to grow tougher, more intricate. There was the theory of nuclear fission—why neutrons do certain things under certain conditions, why high speed neutrons are absorbed readily by some metals but not by others. Then they studied the blueprints and "mock-up" models of the atomic engine itself.

Eventually they left these primary classrooms at Bettis and came to the "submarine thermal reactor" site at the national reactor testing station about 40 miles from here.

In Washington yesterday the AEC made the first official announcement of what these men were up to: that an atomic power plant to propel a submarine had been placed in operation—on the dry land of its Idaho testing station.

Actually, the crew has "grown up" with the prototype atomic engine like that to be used in the Nautilus.

Upon arrival, members were given a special training course on the power plant as it existed then and as it would be when completed. They were welded into an actual operating crew and they worked with the civilian technicians and construction men of Westinghouse.

This was for two reasons: to teach the Navy men and to reduce the number of civilians who would have to be used on the project.

Comdr. J. J. McGararghan, who heads the Navy contingent at the submarine reactor plant, says every officer and man on the project "takes a personal interest in every nut and bolt" in the plant. Every enlisted man (most of them are rated and chief petty officers) is free to make his own recommendations for changes in the engine—and does.

While the submariners are here they lose their extra submarine duty pay. McGararghan points out this is a measure of their enthusiasm, since they volunteer for this assignment.

The Navy started thinking about crew training almost as soon as it thought about nuclear submarines.

It had two pools of manpower from which to choose. It could select specially skilled surface sailors and create an entirely new unit of atomic submarine experts. Or it could start with men already familiar with conventional submarine operation.

A call was sent out for volunteers. The response was more than satisfactory.

Capt. H. G. Rickover, chief of the naval reactor branch of the AEC, personally interviewed the officers for the first crew.

The enlisted men came from the submarine forces of the fleet, nominated by their commanders.

You can't tell the officers from the men when you see them hurrying in and out of the big concrete cubicle where the atomic engine is housed. Everyone wears rough, civilian work clothes.

And they all talk the weird and now compounded jargon of submariners who have gone nuclear.

Russ Minister Is Ousted Over 'Doctors' Plot'

MOSCOW, Wednesday, April 8 (AP)—Semyon D. Ignatiev has been ousted from the five-man Secretariat of the Soviet Communist party for his alleged role in the "doctors' plot," Pravda announced yesterday.

The official newspaper of the Communist party said Ignatiev had been "released from his duties."

Pravda disclosed yesterday that Ignatiev had headed the Ministry of Security during the time when the charges against the 15 doctors were being hatched.

The doctors were accused of murdering two Soviet leaders and plotting against others. Several of the accused doctors were Jewish. All have been exonerated and released.

(It was originally charged that the alleged "doctors' plot" was a result of Zionist activity in the Soviet Union.)

Ignatiev was elevated to the party's Central Committee Secretariat in a reshuffle of party and government posts which followed Stalin's death.

Pravda denounced Ignatiev on Monday for "political blindness and gullibility," saying he had been taken in by one Ryumin. Ryumin was one of Ignatiev's former assistants. Pravda said it was Ryumin "who directly led to the investigation" of the doctors' case. Ryumin has been arrested.

The doctors were charged with killing Andrei A. Zhdanov and Alexander S. Shcherbakov and trying to kill other Soviet leaders. Zhdanov, a leading member of the party's old Politburo, died in 1949 at 52. Shcherbakov, head of the Red Army's political administration, died in 1945 at 44.

Melt the ends of old candles and add this to some turpentine. The mixture will make a wax for polishing the floors.

500 Apply For SS Benefits

For the first quarter of 1953, the local office of the Social Security Administration received 500 applications for social security benefits, according to James S. Getty, manager.

This was an increase over the first quarter last year which showed 283 applications. Getty said this is attributed to the fact that many self-employed persons delayed making applications until they had two years earnings to report.

Of the total applicants this quarter, 228 were retired wage earners, 86 were wives reaching 65 years of age, 10 were for children under 18 years of age of living wage earners.

Also 79 applications were for lump-sum death payments, 22 for widows over 65 and 41 others for dependent parents, changes of payee, etc.

Over 300 of the 500 applications were from Allegany County, and 50 were from Garrett County. The remainder were from the five counties in West Virginia served by the local field office.

Getty said that of the 500 applicants, 27 had lost benefits by not applying for them when they were first eligible. Total amount of benefits lost was $8,388.80, ranging from a low of $20 lost by one individual to a high loss of $2,017 by another.

Getty stressed that wage earners should call the local office when they reach 65 years of age whether they plan to retire or not. The office is located on the third floor of the Post Office Building.

Negro Mistaken For Marine Deserter Gets 'Plush' Ride

RICHMOND, Va., April 7 (AP)—Fred Goins, mistaken for a Marine Corps deserter, will go back to Pittsburgh, but he'd prefer to go the way he came—by Pullman.

Goins is a 25-year-old Pittsburgh Negro who "just kind of got drafted" into the Marines when Marine guards mistook him for a deserter in the Alleghany County, Pa., jail.

"With 40 years to pull in the workhouse," Goins said, "it didn't seem like bad duty."

"I was in the jail (at Pittsburgh) waiting to be transferred to the workhouse. I was sitting there in my cell Wednesday night and they come up and ask if I'm a fellow named Jackson (a Marine deserter). I just nodded my head and first thing I knew I was on a train with two guards and a Marine prisoner."

But Thursday, Pittsburgh authorities discovered that Goins was not Jackson. A telephone call to Richmond sent a Marine detachment, headed by 1st Sgt. Louis Deleo and Richmond detectives to intercept the train carrying Goins to the Marine Corps air station at Cherry Point, N. C.

The Marine guards on the train were unaware they had the wrong man.

"They turned blue, green and yellow when we told them," Deleo said.

A-Sub "Engineering Force" To Receive Diplomas Soon

By ELTON C. FAY

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho, April 5 (AP)—The school for atomic submariners is getting ready to graduate its first class.

The score or so of hand-picked officers and men in the class will be the "engineering force" for the atomic-powered submarine Nautilus.

When, probably some time next year, the skipper of the Nautilus speaks the old order "one-third ahead," these men will be the first in the world to turn on atomic energy for motive power.

Behind them will be a year and a half of training unlike that any sailors ever sweated through.

Back at Bettis Field near Pittsburgh, Pa., in the laboratory built by the Atomic Energy Commission and operated by the Westinghouse Electric Corp., they began an academic course.

At first it was quite commonplace—such subjects as physics, chemistry, mathematics. Then it began to grow tougher, more intricate. There was the theory of nuclear fission—why neutrons do certain things under certain conditions, why high speed neutrons are absorbed readily by some metals but not by others. Then they studied the blueprints and "mock-up" models of the atomic engine itself.

Eventually they left these primary classrooms at Bettis and came to the "submarine thermal reactor" site at the national reactor testing station about 40 miles from here.

In Washington yesterday the AEC made the first official announcement of what these men were up to: that an atomic power plant to propel a submarine had been placed in operation—on the dry land of its Idaho testing station.

Actually, the crew has "grown up" with the prototype atomic engine like that to be used in the Nautilus.

Upon arrival, members were given a special training course on the power plant as it existed then and as it would be when completed. They were welded into an actual operating crew and they worked with the civilian technicians and construction men of Westinghouse.

This was for two reasons: to teach the Navy men and to reduce the number of civilians who would have to be used on the project.

Comdr. J. J. McGararghan, who heads the Navy contingent at the submarine reactor plant, says every officer and man on the project "takes a personal interest in every nut and bolt" in the plant. Every enlisted man (most of them are rated and chief petty officers) is free to make his own recommendations for changes in the engine—and does.

While the submariners are here they lose their extra submarine duty pay. McGararghan points out this is a measure of their enthusiasm, since they volunteer for this assignment.

The Navy started thinking about crew training almost as soon as it thought about nuclear submarines.

It had two pools of manpower from which to choose. It could select specially skilled surface sailors and create an entirely new unit of atomic submarine experts. Or it could start with men already familiar with conventional submarine operation.

A call was sent out for volunteers. The response was more than satisfactory.

Capt. H. G. Rickover, chief of the naval reactor branch of the AEC, personally interviewed the officers for the first crew.

The enlisted men came from the submarine forces of the fleet, nominated by their commanders.

You can't tell the officers from the men when you see them hurrying in and out of the big concrete cubicle where the atomic engine is housed. Everyone wears rough, civilian work clothes.

And they all talk the weird and now compounded jargon of submariners who have gone nuclear.

Russ Minister Is Ousted Over 'Doctors' Plot'

MOSCOW, Wednesday, April 8 (AP)—Semyon D. Ignatiev has been ousted from the five-man Secretariat of the Soviet Communist party for his alleged role in the "doctors' plot," Pravda announced yesterday.

The official newspaper of the Communist party said Ignatiev had been "released from his duties."

Pravda disclosed yesterday that Ignatiev had headed the Ministry of Security during the time when the charges against the 15 doctors were being hatched.

The doctors were accused of murdering two Soviet leaders and plotting against others. Several of the accused doctors were Jewish. All have been exonerated and released.

(It was originally charged that the alleged "doctors' plot" was a result of Zionist activity in the Soviet Union.)

Ignatiev was elevated to the party's Central Committee Secretariat in a reshuffle of party and government posts which followed Stalin's death.

Pravda denounced Ignatiev on Monday for "political blindness and gullibility," saying he had been taken in by one Ryumin. Ryumin was one of Ignatiev's former assistants. Pravda said it was Ryumin "who directly led to the investigation" of the doctors' case. Ryumin has been arrested.

The doctors were charged with killing Andrei A. Zhdanov and Alexander S. Shcherbakov and trying to kill other Soviet leaders. Zhdanov, a leading member of the party's old Politburo, died in 1949 at 52. Shcherbakov, head of the Red Army's political administration, died in 1945 at 44.

Melt the ends of old candles and add this to some turpentine. The mixture will make a wax for polishing the floors.

500 Apply For SS Benefits

For the first quarter of 1953, the local office of the Social Security Administration received 500 applications for social security benefits, according to James S. Getty, manager.

This was an increase over the first quarter last year which showed 283 applications. Getty said this is attributed to the fact that many self-employed persons delayed making applications until they had two years earnings to report.

Of the total applicants this quarter, 228 were retired wage earners, 86 were wives reaching 65 years of age, 10 were for children under 18 years of age of living wage earners.

Also 79 applications were for lump-sum death payments, 22 for widows over 65 and 41 others for dependent parents, changes of payee, etc.

Over 300 of the 500 applications were from Allegany County, and 50 were from Garrett County. The remainder were from the five counties in West Virginia served by the local field office.

Getty said that of the 500 applicants, 27 had lost benefits by not applying for them when they were first eligible. Total amount of benefits lost was $8,388.80, ranging from a low of $20 lost by one individual to a high loss of $2,017 by another.

Getty stressed that wage earners should call the local office when they reach 65 years of age whether they plan to retire or not. The office is located on the third floor of the Post Office Building.

Negro Mistaken For Marine Deserter Gets 'Plush' Ride

RICHMOND, Va., April 7 (AP)—Fred Goins, mistaken for a Marine Corps deserter, will go back to Pittsburgh, but he'd prefer to go the way he came—by Pullman.

Goins is a 25-year-old Pittsburgh Negro who "just kind of got drafted" into the Marines when Marine guards mistook him for a deserter in the Alleghany County, Pa., jail.

"With 40 years to pull in the workhouse," Goins said, "it didn't seem like bad duty."

"I was in the jail (at Pittsburgh) waiting to be transferred to the workhouse. I was sitting there in my cell Wednesday night and they come up and ask if I'm a fellow named Jackson (a Marine deserter). I just nodded my head and first thing I knew I was on a train with two guards and a Marine prisoner."

But Thursday, Pittsburgh authorities discovered that Goins was not Jackson. A telephone call to Richmond sent a Marine detachment, headed by 1st Sgt. Louis Deleo and Richmond detectives to intercept the train carrying Goins to the Marine Corps air station at Cherry Point, N. C.

The Marine guards on the train were unaware they had the wrong man.

"They turned blue, green and yellow when we told them," Deleo said.

What of the brief military career of Goins, who is serving 40 years for robbery convictions?

"I enjoyed the 400-mile train ride, got a couple of good meals and got to sleep in a soft Pullman bunk," he confided. "I'll sign the papers and go back."

17th Masters Golf Tourney May Draw 75

Snead And Hogan Are Among Favorites

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 7 (AP)—The biggest Masters tournament of all became a reality today as the fading veterans who have dominated post-war professional golf joined the new stars of the tournament trail to make a record field.

By noon more than 65 players had checked in at the Augusta National clubhouse and indications were that about 75 would start play Thursday in the 17th Masters tournament. That would be the largest number ever to play in this event, which ordinarily draws only about 50 handpicked players.

Highest previous number of entries was 72 in the 1934 inaugural tournament, when qualifications were not so stiff.

The Masters is a tournament which makes provisions for the oldsters of the game—fellows like Ben Hogan, Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret, who pick their spots instead of making the weary round of weekly tournaments under stars of other days who have virtually retired from competition.

And on this testing, tree-lined course which places a bigger premium on skill than slugging, the veterans have about as good a chance as anyone.

Most frequently mentioned in pre-tournament speculation were Snead, Hogan and lean Lloyd Mangrum.

Snead, the defending champion, is seeking to win his third Masters title, a feat accomplished only by Demaret, and to become the first golfer to win here two years in succession.

Hogan, the 1951 winner, has been here a week practicing for his first major competition of the year.

Mangrum, twice runner-up in the Masters, is the leading money-winner in pro golf this year and has the best scoring average.

Whirlaway, Winner Of Triple Crown In 1941, Dies In France

"Mr. Longtail" Set Derby Record, Won $500,000 In Purses

PARIS, April 7 (AP)—Whirlaway, the bush-tailed Calumet flier who won the triple crown of American horse racing in 1941 and set the Kentucky Derby record which still stands, died yesterday at Marcel Boussac's stud farm in Southern Normandy.

Boussac's stable manager, F. de Brignac, said death came unexpectedly as the result of a ruptured nerve tissue. He gave no other details. The great thoroughbred was 15 years old.

Bred In Kentucky

Foaled and bred on Calumet Farms blue grass spread in Lexington, Ky., the chesnut champion who thrilled racing crowds with his spectacular finishes was sent to France in 1950, first leased and then sold to Boussac, Europe's lead ing owner and breeder.

Boussac sought the best English, American and French bloods possible and blended them into what he considered premier racing stock.

Whirlaway, son of Blenheim II and Dustwhirl, was entering his third year of stud in France when death came.

Earned $500,000

"Mr. Longtail," as he became affectionately known to horse racing writers and followers everywhere, was the first thoroughbred to earn $500,000 on the track. But in 1943, when he was being pointed for the million dollar mark, the chesnut comet was hobbled by a leg ailment.

It was then that the late Warren Wright, master of Calumet, and his famous trainer, Ben Jones, decided to retire Whirlaway to stud. Wright died in December, 1950.

Pointed for stardom from birth, Whirlaway won seven races as a two-year-old and set the pattern of his greatness in the 1941 Saratoga Special. In that race, he entered the stretch dead last, turned on a blistering burst of speed, streaked home the winner.

Made "Grand Slam"

In 1941 he became one of eight winners of racing's "grand slam"—the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont. His time of 2:01 2-5 continues to stand as the record for the Derby's mile and a quarter.

Whirlaway won 32 of his 60 races and finished out of the money only four times. His total track earnings were $561,161. He was the leading money winning horse from July, 1942, to June, 1947.

"I've never saddled a horse for the derby that I didn't think had some sort of a fighting chance," trainer Jones said recently. "By the same token I've only saddled two horses that I was reasonably sure—barring bad racing luck—would win. They were Whirlaway and Citation."

Citation was another Calumet star, triple crown winner in 1948 and winner of more than a million dollars.

As You Were

Here is one of Lonaconing's best known all-around athletes who excelled in four sports from 1915 through 1926 and coached football, baseball, soccer and track in Allegany county from 1926 until 1949.

The picture was taken in 1915 when he played with the Central High School basketball champs coached by Alex Tennant and the late Dr. Henry M. Hodgson.

Here are some of the highlights of his career:

Basketball—Played at Potomac State in 1921, 1922 and 1923 under Coaches George Parrish and "Doc" Miller, and captained 1923 quint. In 1926 played for Hill Top YMCA of Pittsburgh, runner-up to Erie for state title. Coached and played in the Cumberland City League which included the Caseys, Celanese, South End, Nosset's Snapshots and Company G.

Football—Remembers his first game at Central in which he was tackled by Dr. J. Russell Cook then playing for Beall High. Played three years at Potomac State and captained 1923 team. Jock Sutherland and "Doc" Carlson were his coaches at Pitt from 1924 to 1926. Scored his first touchdown against Johns Hopkins.

Baseball—Started at Central High and thereafter was pitcher, outfielder and first baseman for Cumberland Colts, Frostburg, Bellaire, Ohio; Kelly-Springfield, Lonaconing, Midland, Barton, Westernport, Berwyn, Md.; Damascus, Md.; Keyser, Moorefield and Strasburg, Va., in Shenandoah Valley League. Set strikeout record in 1923 while pitching for Keyser against Baltimore. Whiffed 21 and yielded one hit in nine innings. Played first base in that memorable perfect game pitched at Westerpoort by the late Bob Wilt. Captained Potomac State, in 1922-53 and played freshman baseball at Pitt in 1924.

Track—Represented Central in first state track meet at Baltimore in 1915 on team in charge of "Uncle Bill" Lewis. Earned 31 medals as member of track team at Potomac State in 1921, 1922, 1923. Saptained '23 team and ran on relay team that won prep school championship of U. S. at Penn Relays. At Potomac State he ran dashes, broad-jumped and threw javeln. Went to Pitt on track scholarship in 1924 and in 1926 set two new records—indoor one-lap track mark and javelin throw.

Coaching—Began as junior football coach at Shadyside Junior Academy, Pittsburgh. Never played soccer but took over reins at Bruce High in 1929 and from 1930 on Bruce won 10 county and two state titles. Coached Bruce's Class C state champions in 1949. Also coached baseball and 'track at Bruce and soccer, track and basketball at Barton.

17th Masters Golf Tourney May Draw 75

Snead And Hogan Are Among Favorites

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 7 (AP)—The biggest Masters tournament of all became a reality today as the fading veterans who have dominated post-war professional golf joined the new stars of the tournament trail to make a record field.

By noon more than 65 players had checked in at the Augusta National clubhouse and indications were that about 75 would start play Thursday in the 17th Masters tournament. That would be the largest number ever to play in this event, which ordinarily draws only about 50 handpicked players.

Highest previous number of entries was 72 in the 1934 inaugural tournament, when qualifications were not so stiff.

The Masters is a tournament which makes provisions for the oldsters of the game—fellows like Ben Hogan, Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret, who pick their spots instead of making the weary round of weekly tournaments under stars of other days who have virtually retired from competition.

And on this testing, tree-lined course which places a bigger premium on skill than slugging, the veterans have about as good a chance as anyone.

Most frequently mentioned in pre-tournament speculation were Snead, Hogan and lean Lloyd Mangrum.

Snead, the defending champion, is seeking to win his third Masters title, a feat accomplished only by Demaret, and to become the first golfer to win here two years in succession.

Hogan, the 1951 winner, has been here a week practicing for his first major competition of the year.

QUEEN CITY BREWING COMPANY CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND

By S. D. ROCKWELL
Central Press Correspondent

Neither General Manager Hank Greenberg nor Field Manager Al Lopez will stick his neck out and predict a pennant this year. They have done it before and found it doesn't pay.

However, Greenberg says this: "Our chances of ending the Yankee domination are better than any team in either league."

Lopez adds: "I don't know how much the Yankees have improved this year, if at all, but I am certain we are a great deal stronger than we were last season."

The Indians, if you recall, finished two games behind the New York Yankees in 1952. It is a small difference over a 154-game season and the Tribe chiefs feel that they don't have to tear the team apart to bridge the gap. They think the slightest improvement will do the trick.

"For one thing," Lopez says, "our infield can't possibly be as bad as it was last year. Every man in the infield had his worst season defensively and that also goes for Jim Hegan, the best man in the league behind the plate. I'm sure we'll play better ball in the field."

Lopez continues: "We are much deeper now than we were a year ago. Our bench was pretty weak at the start of last season, but Hank went out and got some good utility players. Guys like Joe Tipton, Hank Majeski, Bill Glynn, George Strickland and Wally Westlake. If they had been with us throughout last season we'd have won the pennant.

"We have some boys coming out of the service and some coming out of the farm system that might help us. Jim Lemon looks like a pretty good hitter and Doug Hansen has really been impressive at second base. And then we have good looking young pitchers—Al Aber, Dick Weik, Ray Narleski, Dave Hoskins and even that kid lefthander, Herb Score.

"I feel very optimistic about Luke Easter. He's in better shape now than in the first two years I managed the club. Last Spring he looked drawn and weak. I think Ray Boone looks better, too. Tony Cuccinello and Red Kress, our coaches, have been working with him and I really think he is going to be a better shortstop.

"Well, that's about the size of it. A lot of things can happen between now and October, but I honestly feel we'll be a much better ball club."

Lopez is counting on Dale Mitchell in left field and Larry Doby in center, but he has no regular right fielder at the moment. Harry Simpson held the job last year and batted .266 but he may have to hit better than that this spring to hold his position. Any one of the following appear capable of unseating him:

Bob Kennedy, 32-year-old veteran back from the Marines; Jim Lemon, 6-foot-4 giant who hit 39 homers at Oklahoma City before being inducted into the Army two years ago; Wally Westlake, former National league slugger; Dave Pope, batting champion of the American association last year with a .352 average at Indianapolis, and Mike Lutz, batting champion of the Eastern league with a .321 mark at Reading.

The only infield position in question now is shortstop. Lopez has decided to give Boone every opportunity to prove he was not as bad as he looked last year. Ray developed aching knees and ankles from infected teeth and had 12 pulled during the course of the season. He became so erratic that Lopez switched to Strickland and then the team clicked. It is felt, however, that George will not hit enough to be the No. 1 shortstop. His lifetime average is a mere .200.

Luke Easter hopes he will hit as well as he did when he came back from Indianapolis last season (.319 in his last 64 games) and Al Rosen points again to a .300 season, with many more homers and runs batted in. All Lopez asks of Second Baseman Bob Avila is that he field his position with a little more gusto. Beto moved too slowly in the field last year.

The Indians have perhaps the stoutest catching department in the American league with Hegan, Joe Tipton and Dick Aylward, a rookie up from Dallas who has impressed Lopez greatly. Hegan gets first call now and Tipton is the No. 1 reserve backstop, but Aylward is making an inspired bid. He is extremely able defensively, but the question is whether he will hit. His .285 mark at Dallas was the highest of his career.

Lopez feels that his pitching will be as good, if not better, than it was last season. The Big Three—Early Wynn, Bob Lemon and Mike Garcia—won 67 games and Al thinks they will win as many this year.

Moreover, Al believes Bob Feller will round out the Big Four. Feller posted 22 victories in 1951 and won only nine last year and the feeling here now is that he will win somewhere between nine and 22. This is his 15th season and he claims he feels "better than I thought I would."

The Indians faced a serious shortage of secondary starters and relief men in 1952, but Lopez thinks now that problem is solved. He is counting on Steve Gromek again as a spot starter and he thinks he will get some help out of this group: Aber and Weik, out of service; Bob Chakales and Ray arleski, up from Indianapolis; Sam Jones, who was ailing last year, and Dave Hoskins, who won 22 at Dallas.

For relief he has Southpaw Lou Brissie, veteran Ted Wilks from the National League and Bob Hooper, acquired from the Philadelphia Athletics in exchange for Dick Rozek.

Lefty Jake Striker, the wonderfully-named rookie, looked quite impressive in an exhibition game against the New York Giants.

"All in all, the outlook is hopeful," Lopez says. "We've got to beat the Yankees. They are the team to beat."

ITEMIZING THE INDIANS — Stellar pitching, deeper bench, improved infield and aid from some new men may turn the trick for the Tribe and spell pennant for Cleveland.

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 6 — (INS) — Here's a letter from an indignant baseball fan who has a few beefs to register and while we can't agree on all he writes, we can at least sympathize with many of his beefs.

"I never liked the double platoon system in football," he writes, "and I like it even less in baseball.

"When I was a kid I used to see ball games where nine men played on each nine, and the game was played in maybe an hour and a half.

"Last year I saw one game where 37 players took part and it lasted darn near four hours.

"I think it's okay to yank a pitcher if he is getting his lumps or subbing for a player who gets hurt but this business of sending in a stream of pinch-runners, pinch-hitters, pinch-pitchers and pinch-fielders is strictly the bunk for my dough.

"Nowadays they even start using these pinch guys in the first two or three innings. What kind of baseball is that?

"One day last year I saw a pinch-hitter sent up. Then the other team yanks their pitcher. The guy gets a hit and when he gets to first a pinch-runner is sent in for him. Then the other side sends in a new pitcher and darned if the hitting team doesn't send up another pinch-hitter . . .

"The whole thing took about half an hour for one out. And when the hitting team took the field, darned if there weren't four new players in their line-up and two others had been shifted in their positions . . .

"Another thing that makes me boil is all the senseless kicking over balls and strikes and decisions on the bases. Seems to me the baseball commissioner could put a stop to that foolishness.

"I never see an umpire change his decision so I don't see any sense in the player holding up the game and wasting a lot of time in an argument he can't possibly win. At times like that I always wish I had gone to a movie or the races or anywhere except a ball game.

"And I can see even less reason for a manager to come out of the dug-out to horn in on the argument. What does it ever get him except maybe a boot out of the ball park? Maybe he too is bored and wants to get away from it all.

"I also get burned up when I see ball parks cut down so as to make some more of those Chinese homers, and I wonder if the club owners think anybody gets a kick out of seeing a pop fly drop in for four bases. They must think we're all nuts."

Do you agree with him?

Musial, Bilko Star

DALLAS, Texas, April 7 (AP) — Stan Musial and Steve Bilko, the new one-two punch of the St. Louis Cardinals, delivered again today as the cards defeated the Dallas Eagles, 6-4, for their seventh straight triumph.

Musial slugged four consecutive singles, driving in one run and scoring two, while Bilko walloped a tremendous three-run homer that cleared a 54-foot high signboard beyond the left field fence some 370 feet from the plate.

IT'S 'COULD BE!' AGAIN IN 1953 FOR CLEVELAND AS STRENGTHENED TRIBE EYES A.L. PENNANT RACE

By S. D. ROCKWELL
Central Press Correspondent

Neither General Manager Hank Greenberg nor Field Manager Al Lopez will stick his neck out and predict a pennant this year. They have done it before and found it doesn't pay.

However, Greenberg says this: "Our chances of ending the Yankee domination are better than any team in either league."

Lopez adds: "I don't know how much the Yankees have improved this year, if at all, but I am certain we are a great deal stronger than we were last season."

The Indians, if you recall, finished two games behind the New York Yankees in 1952. It is a small difference over a 154-game season and the Tribe chiefs feel that they don't have to tear the team apart to bridge the gap. They think the slightest improvement will do the trick.

"For one thing," Lopez says, "our infield can't possibly be as bad as it was last year. Every man in the infield had his worst season defensively and that also goes for Jim Hegan, the best man in the league behind the plate. I'm sure we'll play better ball in the field."

Lopez continues: "We are much deeper now than we were a year ago. Our bench was pretty weak at the start of last season, but Hank went out and got some good utility players. Guys like Joe Tipton, Hank Majeski, Bill Glynn, George Strickland and Wally Westlake. If they had been with us throughout last season we'd have won the pennant.

"We have some boys coming out of the service and some coming out of the farm system that might help us. Jim Lemon looks like a pretty good hitter and Doug Hansen has really been impressive at second base. And then we have good looking young pitchers—Al Aber, Dick Weik, Ray Narleski, Dave Hoskins and even that kid lefthander, Herb Score.

"I feel very optimistic about Luke Easter. He's in better shape now than in the first two years I managed the club. Last Spring he looked drawn and weak. I think Ray Boone looks better, too. Tony Cuccinello and Red Kress, our coaches, have been working with him and I really think he is going to be a better shortstop.

"Well, that's about the size of it. A lot of things can happen between now and October, but I honestly feel we'll be a much better ball club."

Lopez is counting on Dale Mitchell in left field and Larry Doby in center, but he has no regular right fielder at the moment. Harry Simpson held the job last year and batted .266 but he may have to hit better than that this spring to hold his position. Any one of the following appear capable of unseating him:

Bob Kennedy, 32-year-old veteran back from the Marines; Jim Lemon, 6-foot-4 giant who hit 39 homers at Oklahoma City before being inducted into the Army two years ago; Wally Westlake, former National league slugger; Dave Pope, batting champion of the American association last year with a .352 average at Indianapolis, and Mike Lutz, batting champion of the Eastern league with a .321 mark at Reading.

The only infield position in question now is shortstop. Lopez has decided to give Boone every opportunity to prove he was not as bad as he looked last year. Ray developed aching knees and ankles from infected teeth and had 12 pulled during the course of the season. He became so erratic that Lopez switched to Strickland and then the team clicked. It is felt, however, that George will not hit enough to be the No. 1 shortstop. His lifetime average is a mere .200.

Luke Easter hopes he will hit as well as he did when he came back from Indianapolis last season (.319 in his last 64 games) and Al Rosen points again to a .300 season, with many more homers and runs batted in. All Lopez asks of Second Baseman Bob Avila is that he field his position with a little more gusto. Beto moved too slowly in the field last year.

The Indians have perhaps the stoutest catching department in the American league with Hegan, Joe Tipton and Dick Aylward, a rookie up from Dallas who has impressed Lopez greatly. Hegan gets first call now and Tipton is the No. 1 reserve backstop, but Aylward is making an inspired bid. He is extremely able defensively, but the question is whether he will hit. His .285 mark at Dallas was the highest of his career.

Lopez feels that his pitching will be as good, if not better, than it was last season. The Big Three—Early Wynn, Bob Lemon and Mike Garcia—won 67 games and Al thinks they will win as many this year.

Moreover, Al believes Bob Feller will round out the Big Four. Feller posted 22 victories in 1951 and won only nine last year and the feeling here now is that he will win somewhere between nine and 22. This is his 15th season and he claims he feels "better than I thought I would."

The Indians faced a serious shortage of secondary starters and relief men in 1952, but Lopez thinks now that problem is solved. He is counting on Steve Gromek again as a spot starter and he thinks he will get some help out of this group: Aber and Weik, out of service; Bob Chakales and Ray Narleski, up from Indianapolis; Sam Jones, who was ailing last year, and Dave Hoskins, who won 22 at Dallas.

ABC Tourney Faces Deficit Of $30,000

CHICAGO, April 7 (AP) — The American Bowling Congress jubilee tournament in Chicago is heading for a $30,000 deficit because of slack attendance, Tourney Director Charles Treuter said today.

Treuter said the paid attendance for the first 44 days of the 93-day meet was only 25,442.

"At that rate, we'll get a paid total of about 60,000 instead of the 90,000 needed to make expenses," he said.

Numerous appearances of top ranking bowlers in Chicago during the season and late starting times for the tournament's final rounds were reasons given for lack of attendance.

CANCELLED GAMES

Hodges To Rejoin Brooklyn Today

BROOKLYN, April 7 (AP) — Gil Hodges, first baseman for the Brooklyn Dodgers, has recovered from penicillin allergy and will be able to rejoin the club in Washington tomorrow. He has been out of the lineup for 10 days, part of the time being spent in Long Island University Hospital.

Hodges was sent home from Florida because of continued swelling of the ankles and knees. Earlier he had been given penicillin injections for a minor ailment.

Bears Sign O'Connell

CHICAGO, April 7 (AP)—Quarterback Tommy O'Connell of the University of Illinois, one of the nation's top passers last season, today signed a 1953 contract with the Chicago Bears.

Chisox Edge A's

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 7 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox made it two in a row over the Philadelphia Athletics today, 4-3, on the strength of Minnie Minoso's home run in the eighth off right hander Charley Bishop.

Bishop had relieved left hander Morris Martin. A triple by Sam Mele and Chico Carrasquel's third hit of the game accounted for another run in the eighth.

The Sox, after scoring once in the first off Martin, added another on Rocco Kresnick's single, Carrasquel's double to right and R. J. Wilson's single through the box.

McDonald Shows Class

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 7 (AP) — Righthander Jim McDonald clinched a starting berth with the New York Yankees today when he hurled the world champions to a 9-1 victory over the Nashville Vols.

The Bombers scored eight runs in the seventh inning, seven of them unearned because of three errors by the Southern Association nine.

Mickey Mantle returned to center field for the Yankees after an absence of 10 days and made one hit in seven innings, a 420-foot double to deep center which knocked in the last two runs in the seventh.

CHICAGO, April 7 (AP) — The American Bowling Congress jubilee tournament in Chicago is heading for a $30,000 deficit because of slack attendance, Tourney Director Charles Treuter said today.

Treuter said the paid attendance for the first 44 days of the 93-day meet was only 25,442.

"At that rate, we'll get a paid total of about 60,000 instead of the 90,000 needed to make expenses," he said.

Numerous appearances of top ranking bowlers in Chicago during the season and late starting times for the tournament's final rounds were reasons given for lack of attendance.

CANCELLED GAMES

At Wichita: St. Louis (A) vs. Chicago (N), rain.

Hodges To Rejoin Brooklyn Today

BROOKLYN, April 7 (AP) — Gil Hodges, first baseman for the Brooklyn Dodgers, has recovered from penicillin allergy and will be able to rejoin the club in Washington tomorrow. He has been out of the lineup for 10 days, part of the time being spent in Long Island University Hospital.

Hodges was sent home from Florida because of continued swelling of the ankles and knees. Earlier he had been given penicillin injections for a minor ailment.

Bears Sign O'Connell

CHICAGO, April 7 (AP)—Quarterback Tommy O'Connell of the University of Illinois, one of the nation's top passers last season, today signed a 1953 contract with the Chicago Bears.

Chisox Edge A's

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 7 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox made it two in a row over the Philadelphia Athletics today, 4-3, on the strength of Minnie Minoso's home run in the eighth off right hander Charley Bishop.

Bishop had relieved left hander Morris Martin. A triple by Sam Mele and Chico Carrasquel's third hit of the game accounted for another run in the eighth.

The Sox, after scoring once in the first off Martin, added another on Rocco Kresnick's single, Carrasquel's double to right and R. J. Wilson's single through the box.

Crandall Recovers

CHICAGO, April 7 (AP) — Catcher Del Crandall has recovered from a muscle spasm in his neck and will be released from treatment today to rejoin the Milwaukee Braves, the attending physician said. Crandall was sent to Chicago Sunday by the Braves for treatment by Dr. L. L. Braun, Chicago Cubs' doctor. Braun said Crandall's condition was good and he was ready to play.

McDonald Shows Class

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 7 (AP) — Righthander Jim McDonald clinched a starting berth with the New York Yankees today when he hurled the world champions to a 9-1 victory over the Nashville Vols.

The Bombers scored eight runs in the seventh inning, seven of them unearned because of three errors by the Southern Association nine.

Mickey Mantle returned to center field for the Yankees after an absence of 10 days and made one hit in seven innings, a 420-foot double to deep center which knocked in the last two runs in the seventh.

Former Bucs Refuse To Join Minor Clubs

ATLANTA, April 7 (AP) — Two players cut from the Pittsburgh Pirates roster balked today at reporting to minor league farm clubs.

They are Catcher Joe Rossi, obtained from the Cincinnati Reds in the deal for Outfielder Gus Bell, and Rookie Pitcher Eddie Wolfe.

Rossi refuses to report to Toronto in the International League and Wolfe is against joining New Orleans in the Southern Association.

Lonaconing Affair Set For April 25

LONACONING — Rev. John Bailey Jones, pastor of the Methodist Church, Frostburg, Mayor Virgil Alexander, and Principal Jack A. Petry will be speakers at the Central Boosters club sports dinner to be held on Saturday, April 25, at 6:15 p. m. in the Pythian Sisters hall, Lonaconing.

Coach John C. Meyers and his athletic teams of basketball, soccer and baseball; Coach Pauline S. Hamilton and her girls basketball team, scorekeepers and timekeepers of the athletic teams, and the Central High School cheerleaders will be honored guests at the Boosters club dinner.

Tickets are now available from any member of the club. Edward Thompson Sr., is in charge of the dinner committee. A number of posters have been completed by Miss Sara A. Giffin's art club at Central school and now on display in the business places in town.

A large attendance is expected at this Central Boosters club dinner to honor the Lonaconing high school's boys and girls athletic squads. Last year the Boosters club had a similar banquet honoring the boys basketball team after it had won the Class "B" championship at the College Park tournament and the school cheerleaders.

Catholic Youth Banquet Is Set Thursday Night

Football and basketball players of the Catholic Youth League, sponsored by the Knights of Columbus, will be honored at a banquet Thursday night at 6:30 at SS. Peter and Paul parish hall.

Trophies will be presented by Arthur McDade, grand knight of Cumberland Council No. 586, to St. Mary's, winner of the league football title and St. Michael's of Frostburg champions of the 1952-53 basketball league.

Covers will be laid for approximately 220 persons.

K. Of C. To Practice

Members of the Knights of Columbus softball squad of the Rocking Chair League will engage in a practice game Thursday at 5:30 p. m. at Community Park.

Lonaconing Affair Set For April 25

LONACONING — Rev. John Bailey Jones, pastor of the Methodist Church, Frostburg, Mayor Virgil Alexander, and Principal Jack A. Petry will be speakers at the Central Boosters club sports dinner to be held on Saturday, April 25, at 6:15 p. m. in the Pythian Sisters hall, Lonaconing.

Coach John C. Meyers and his athletic teams of basketball, soccer and baseball; Coach Pauline S. Hamilton and her girls basketball team, scorekeepers and timekeepers of the athletic teams, and the Central High School cheerleaders will be honored guests at the Boosters club dinner.

Tickets are now available from any member of the club. Edward Thompson Sr., is in charge of the dinner committee. A number of posters have been completed by Miss Sara A. Giffin's art club at Central school and now on display in the business places in town.

A large attendance is expected at this Central Boosters club dinner to honor the Lonaconing high school's boys and girls athletic squads. Last year the Boosters club had a similar banquet honoring the boys basketball team after it had won the Class "B" championship at the College Park tournament and the school cheerleaders.

Miss Bess Is Married In Keyser

KEYSER — The wedding of Miss Mary Macfarland Bess, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Bess, New Creek Drive, Keyser, and Daniel Patrick Ingram, son of Mrs. Victoria Ingram, Oakland, and the late Widner Ingram, took place Saturday afternoon in the Church of the Assumption, Keyser, with Rev. Kenneth Rizer, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Ernest A. Church played the traditional wedding music on organ and was accompanist for Mrs. Solve Hallqvist, Cleveland, cousin of the bride, who sang: G. Bizet's "Angus Dei"; Franks' "Tanis Angelicus"; and Schubert's "Ave Maria."

The church was decorated with white lilies with the bride's aisle with bows of white ribbon and lilies.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace and tulle fashioned with an off shoulder effect formed by a sheer yoke outlined in beaded embroidery with calla pointed sleeves and a fitted bodice. The full skirt formed a scalloped train. Her full length veil of imported illusion fell from a halo embroidered in beads. She carried an arm bouquet of delicate pink roses.

Miss Joan Bess, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Margaret Bess, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. They wore tulle dresses shaded from aqua to deep turquoise and wore halo of matching tulle.

The flower girls, Linda O'Dea and Joanne Powers, wore white organdy dresses with little flowered halos.

The best man was Joseph Powers, brother-in-law of the groom. Ushers were Walter Garcia, William Guarich, John Alber, John Detter, and John Bosley, all schoolmates of the groom.

Mrs. Thomas Bess, mother of the bride, wore a gray crepe and lace dress with pink accessories and a pink rose corsage. Mrs. Ingram wore a beige dress with pink accessories and pink rose corsages.

Out of town guests include: Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bess, Huntington, W. Va., Mr. and Mrs. Beirne Canterbury, Beckley, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Solve Hallqvist, Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Teachers Take Tour Of New High School At Lonaconing

LONACONING — Jack A. Petry, principal of Central High School, conducted a tour of the new school building recently with a group of the faculty from Barton High School and Central School.

The architecture of the new building received much acclaim by the touring group. The main entrance with flagstones from Vermont and the marquee-style, glass-door enclosure, with trophy window-box attracted the viewers attention.

Petry showed the main floor classrooms, the offices, with public-address system, rooms for vision and hearing tests to be given; the English and foreign language classrooms, the large study hall; the library room with four off-set rooms for offices and conferences; the large auditorium with decorative glass-block windows, projection room, large stage and brick walls; the large gymnasium with middle partition to be used for both boys and girls courts at the same time; health rooms, corrective gym rooms, lockers and shower rooms.

The three wood and metal industrial art shops at the rear of the building were also shown to the teachers. Instrumental and music room with stage front also received favorable comment.

The second floor classrooms were shown to the group with the typing room directly above the main entrance with glass-block architecture lighting, the commercial rooms, science and math rooms along the front of the U-shape building; the home economics department with the kitchens, bathroom, dining and living room arrangements; and the four stairways.

The many different colors used throughout the building present an interesting color scheme. The industrial arts shops are painted a bright pink, and dark green, with the small classrooms yellow. The gym is bright yellow on one wall, green on the other. The auditorium is a light green shade to harmonize with the red-brick.

Numerous visitors go daily to the new school building now that it is nearly completed and it is the subject of much discussion by all those who visit through the large new building. The school is expected to be ready for September, when Barton, Central and Midland pupils will consolidate to make an enrollment estimated at 750.

Council Approves Daylight Saving Time For Piedmont

PIEDMONT — Piedmont will operate on Daylight Saving Time beginning Sunday, April 26, at 2 a. m. and continuing to Sunday, September 27 at 2 a. m. This action was taken at the regular meeting of Mayor Allan L. Hill and the City Council Monday to conform to Allegany County, Md., law which was enacted by County voters last November.

Mrs. Mary B. Wills, manager of the Piedmont Ice Company, was granted a permit to install a gasoline tank on the Jones Street side of the building, becoming effective 10 days after the posting of the application. If any objections are filed a hearing will be granted.

Bernard Houser asked for a four inch sewer line be installed from his property, covering approximately 160 feet. He offered to pay half the price of the pipe and cover the line if the town would pay for digging the trench and the remainder of the pipe. Mayor Hill advised him the matter would be given consideration.

It was ordered that the red lines at the corner of West Hampshire and Gordon Streets be extended.

Potomac State Club To Present Three-Act Play

"Curious Savage" Is Set For April 15-16

KEYSER — "The Curious Savage," a three-act comedy drama, has been tentatively scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, April 15 and 16, by the Potomac State School Players Club, according to an announcement by Kenneth F. Haines, faculty sponsor.

The group presented two one-act plays in January, "Submerged," with an all male cast, and "The Professor Roars," with a completely feminine cast. They have completed cast changes for the latest production, which had a two year run on Broadway and was favorably reviewed by critics.

The play revolves around Mrs. Ethel P. Savage, who will be portrayed by Miss Iris Mankins, of Tunnelton. The contrasting of her insane children in the outside world, with a few eccentricities in a rest home, is most effective dramatically.

Besides Mrs. Savage, other inmates of "The Cloisters," a rest home, are Fairy May, who will be portrayed by Dorothy Hannas; Florence, a deranged mother, Pat Armstrong; Jeff, a neurotic war veteran, John Menefee; Hannibal, violinist, Russell Hedrick, and Mrs. Paddy, a hater of electricity, Alice Jean Davis.

Completing the supporting cast will be James Manley, Wilhelmina Bailey, John Bosley, Daniel Fitzgerald and Jane Carpenter.

Kenneth F. Haines, modern languages instructor, and Miss Sue Webster, dean of women at the college, who are sponsoring the Players Club, will direct the play. Committee chairman are Anna Lee Arnold, makeup; Mary Giffin, properties; Doris Martin, publicity; Norman Cain, business manager; Jane Morehouse, costumes; Geral Martin, set designer, and Samuel Leonette, lighting effects.

Lost: Small bag with draw string containing money. Reward. Call Frostburg 1185-J.

Miss Bess Is Married In Keyser

KEYSER — The wedding of Miss Mary Macfarland Bess, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Bess, New Creek Drive, Keyser, and Daniel Patrick Ingram, son of Mrs. Victoria Ingram, Oakland, and the late Widner Ingram, took place Saturday afternoon in the Church of the Assumption, Keyser, with Rev. Kenneth Rizer, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Ernest A. Church played the traditional wedding music on organ and was accompanist for Mrs. Solve Hallqvist, Cleveland, cousin of the bride, who sang: G. Bizet's "Angus Dei"; Franks' "Tanis Angelicus"; and Schubert's "Ave Maria."

The church was decorated with white lilies with the bride's aisle with bows of white ribbon and lilies.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace and tulle fashioned with an off shoulder effect formed by a sheer yoke outlined in beaded embroidery with calla pointed sleeves and a fitted bodice. The full skirt formed a scalloped train. Her full length veil of imported illusion fell from a halo embroidered in beads. She carried an arm bouquet of delicate pink roses.

Miss Joan Bess, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Margaret Bess, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. They wore tulle dresses shaded from aqua to deep turquoise and wore halo of matching tulle.

The flower girls, Linda O'Dea and Joanne Powers, wore white organdy dresses with little flowered halos.

The best man was Joseph Powers, brother-in-law of the groom. Ushers were Walter Garcia, William Guarich, John Alber, John Detter, and John Bosley, all schoolmates of the groom.

Mrs. Thomas Bess, mother of the bride, wore a gray crepe and lace dress with pink accessories and a pink rose corsage. Mrs. Ingram wore a beige dress with pink accessories and pink rose corsages.

Out of town guests include: Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bess, Huntington, W. Va., Mr. and Mrs. Beirne Canterbury, Beckley, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Solve Hallqvist, Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Teachers Take Tour Of New High School At Lonaconing

LONACONING — Jack A. Petry, principal of Central High School, conducted a tour of the new school building recently with a group of the faculty from Barton High School and Central School.

The architecture of the new building received much acclaim by the touring group. The main entrance with flagstones from Vermont and the marquee-style, glass-door enclosure, with trophy window-box attracted the viewers attention.

Petry showed the main floor classrooms, the offices, with public-address system, rooms for vision and hearing tests to be given; the English and foreign language classrooms, the large study hall; the library room with four off-set rooms for offices and conferences; the large auditorium with decorative glass-block windows, projection room, large stage and brick walls; the large gymnasium with middle partition to be used for both boys and girls courts at the same time; health rooms, corrective gym rooms, lockers and shower rooms.

The three wood and metal industrial art shops at the rear of the building were also shown to the teachers. Instrumental and music room with stage front also received favorable comment.

The second floor classrooms were shown to the group with the typing room directly above the main entrance with glass-block architecture lighting, the commercial rooms, science and math rooms along the front of the U-shape building; the home economics department with the kitchens, bathroom, dining and living room arrangements; and the four stairways.

The many different colors used throughout the building present an interesting color scheme. The industrial arts shops are painted a bright pink, and dark green, with the small classrooms yellow. The gym is bright yellow on one wall, green on the other. The auditorium is a light green shade to harmonize with the red-brick.

Numerous visitors go daily to the new school building now that it is nearly completed and it is the subject of much discussion by all those who visit through the large new building. The school is expected to be ready for September, when Barton, Central and Midland pupils will consolidate to make an enrollment estimated at 750.

Council Approves Daylight Saving Time For Piedmont

PIEDMONT — Piedmont will operate on Daylight Saving Time beginning Sunday, April 26, at 2 a. m. and continuing to Sunday, September 27 at 2 a. m. This action was taken at the regular meeting of Mayor Allan L. Hill and the City Council Monday to conform to Allegany County, Md., law which was enacted by County voters last November.

Mrs. Mary B. Wills, manager of the Piedmont Ice Company, was granted a permit to install a gasoline tank on the Jones Street side of the building, becoming effective 10 days after the posting of the application. If any objections are filed a hearing will be granted.

Bernard Houser asked for a four inch sewer line be installed from his property, covering approximately 160 feet. He offered to pay half the price of the pipe and cover the line if the town would pay for digging the trench and the remainder of the pipe. Mayor Hill advised him the matter would be given consideration.

It was ordered that the red lines at the corner of West Hampshire and Gordon Streets be extended.

Potomac State Club To Present Three-Act Play

"Curious Savage" Is Set For April 15-16

KEYSER — "The Curious Savage," a three-act comedy drama, has been tentatively scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, April 15 and 16, by the Potomac State School Players Club, according to an announcement by Kenneth F. Haines, faculty sponsor.

The group presented two one-act plays in January, "Submerged," with an all male cast, and "The Professor Roars," with a completely feminine cast. They have completed cast changes for the latest production, which had a two year run on Broadway and was favorably reviewed by critics.

The play revolves around Mrs. Ethel P. Savage, who will be portrayed by Miss Iris Mankins, of Tunnelton. The contrasting of her insane children in the outside world, with a few eccentricities in a rest home, is most effective dramatically.

Besides Mrs. Savage, other inmates of "The Cloisters," a rest home, are Fairy May, who will be portrayed by Dorothy Hannas; Florence, a deranged mother, Pat Armstrong; Jeff, a neurotic war veteran, John Menefee; Hannibal, violinist, Russell Hedrick, and Mrs. Paddy, a hater of electricity, Alice Jean Davis.

Completing the supporting cast will be James Manley, Wilhelmina Bailey, John Bosley, Daniel Fitzgerald and Jane Carpenter.

Kenneth F. Haines, modern languages instructor, and Miss Sue Webster, dean of women at the college, who are sponsoring the Players Club, will direct the play. Committee chairman are Anna Lee Arnold, makeup; Mary Giffin, properties; Doris Martin, publicity; Norman Cain, business manager; Jane Morehouse, costumes; Geral Martin, set designer, and Samuel Leonette, lighting effects.

Lost: Small bag with draw string containing money. Reward. Call Frostburg 1185-J.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 7—(INS)—David O. Selznick is in town for only two weeks but he tells me that he and Jennifer Jones will spend the summer in Hollywood. Neither David nor Jennifer wants any part of the 18 months residence abroad to avoid taxes.

David says that "Terminal Station" has broken all records in Italy and has already played in thirty cities. When he comes back he'll bring the picture with him to show to American audiences.

Jennifer is finishing "Beat The Devil" for John Huston—there is about a month to go. He and Jennifer have never been happier and that all those stories that they are having trouble are absolutely without any foundation or fact.

Yul Brynner flies to the Coast to talk with C. B. deMille about playing King Herod in the remake of "The Ten Commandments"—and this role in the super-super religious spectacle will more than compensate for the setbacks the star of "The King and I" has suffered getting his screen career underway.

But Herod or no Herod, Yul leaves Hollywood after three days for a much needed vacation — eight weeks of sunshine and loafing in Acapulco.

Paramount has a commitment with Brynner; he was supposed to do a picture which was cancelled because of the cost.

One thing certain, if "Oklahoma" is brought to the screen it will be done by the new Joseph Schenck Company.

I met both Joe and Mike Todd in Palm Springs and they told me no deal has been made up to now, but they do have an arrangement with Rodgers and Hammerstein for all musical plays not tied up by any other studio. After ten years as a stage play, "Oklahoma" has taken in $29,000,000 and has been seen by 22 million people. I would love to see Rouben Mamoulian, who directed the stage hit, direct the movie.

There are a lot of things popping in the new Schenck Company — a lot of negotiations going on. Joe moves into his new offices this week.

Palm Springs chit-chat: The William Perlberg's party (their resort home is the most popular "club house" in Palm Springs) brought out Greer Garson, Buddy Fogelson, Evelyn Keyes with Mike Todd, Joseph Schenck, Dinah Shore and George Montgomery, the Leo Spitzes, Sam Briskins, Leonard Goldstein and — me.

Bill Perlberg produced Bing Crosby's "Little Boy Lost" and he tells me the first "sneak" will be held in San Mateo.

"I'm inviting Gary Crosby, who attends Stanford, and some of his pals to be among the first to see Bing's picture." Other Hollywood second-generationers from Stanford attending will be Bill Gargan Jr., Joanie Benny (Jack's daughter), Dick Zanuck and Harry Joe Brown Jr.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Mike Todd is more in love with Evelyn Keyes than any girl since he met Joan Blondell.

You'd be surprised if you knew the name of the girl Gene Nelson has fallen hook, line and sinker for.

Although Diana Lynn's show, "Horses In Mid-stream," closed after five days she received wonderful notices.

Rosemary Clooney goes to New York from Chicago to be a bridesmaid at the wedding of Judy Balaban and Jay Cantor.

Some of Dan Topping's love of sports must have rubbed off on Kay Sutton, his ex, who is negotiating to buy the West Palm Beach Indian baseball team.

Wendell Corey, his wife and three children are back from a seven-day Easter vacation in New York. Wendell was master of ceremonies on the show of shows, and did several other TV stints.

Ringsiding at the Mocambo were Doris Duke and Porfirio Rubirosa. That's where Doris' current boy friend, Joe Castro, is playing every night. Joe was the host of the party.

Speaking of Mocambo, Don Loper designed and gave Mary McCarty two beautiful gowns for an Easter gift. Incidentally, she's doing such good business she's being kept for another week.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

My New York

by Mel Heimer

NEW YORK—This was the day; there was no doubting it. A gentleness had come over the city. The sky was clear, cool blue, with only a faint haze over Long Island as if of summer heat, and on the benches by the muddy, swift-flowing river, the men sat in their suit jackets, with their topcoats draped at their sides. A plane lifted into that clear, cool blue, and the older ones sitting on the benches, the ones who had been born before planes thickened the sky, looked at it slowly and felt the eternal faint stirring of the blood at the thought of faraway places.

Spring had come to the city. The man with the book had realized it from the moment he stepped out of his apartment-house lobby. Now he seated himself on a bench, packed and lighted a curved pipe and sat there for a while soaking in the wonder of the day. He was thankful of course; all the older ones walking or sitting there by the river were thankful.

They had come through another winter, another of the city's raw and angry winters, and were once again out in the daylight. There was within all of them, the stupid ones and the bright ones, the heady, intoxicating knowledge that soon the trees would bud and the grass would stir in the ground. They had waited through so many chill and drab weeks for tomorrow to come, and now it had.

Small ones raced by; the man with the book knew that they alone didn't know it was spring, nor were they thankful for the day. To the small ones, every day is a lifetime, complete unto itself, and they never need the sun high in the sky to tell them they are alive. The man with the book put down his pipe and watched them, with a smile.

Then he picked up the book, which was a green-covered edition of a book published in 1935. It was called "Green Hills of Africa," and the man who wrote it was named Hemingway. The book was, in it's writer's words, an absolutely true one, a story of hunting to kill, in the dark continent, and none of the characters or incidents in the book were imaginary. Everything in it, Hemingway said, had happened.

The man had not read this Hemingway book, but he admired other books by Hemingway of 20 years ago, before Hemingway had become an old man trying to remember, so he opened "Green Hills" and began, as he sat there by the river in the warm sunlight of the city's first spring day.

He had not read too many pages before he knew that the book was wrong for this fine day. Beautifully-written, with a minimum of Hemingway's occasional archness, but wrong. This was a day in New York when the clogged stream of life had opened again, a great day in the times and adventures of any man—and on the pages of "Green Hills," the writer told of a lion, "looking yellow and heavy-headed and enormous against a scrubby-looking tree," that started to run away from the humans who had come across him. "I hit him with the Springfield and he went down and spun over and I shot again . . ." the story said.

The man with the book was too old in living to feel ashamed or silly because the thought of a lion with a bullet just below his spine, thrashing to his death on the thick green grass of an African plain, made him sad. If you held to the belief that God turned out this lion, along with the man who shot him, you had to feel sad.

The man with the book read a little more, here and there, but it was of a pattern. "It is pleasant to hunt something that you want very much over a long period of time, being outwitted, outmaneuvered," Hemingway had written.

The man with the book knew that critics had called "Green Hills" a classic, and he thought about that for a little, as he sat there. However, when he got up and started off to walk along the river among the living, the good writing in the book and the violence it told about was out of his head.

He was in the middle of life and there was nothing in the universe around him, except love itself, that could match it. The bringing of death to a live thing, he left to Hemingway — and he was not sorry.

How does "Miss Teen" rate in charm? Here is a quick quiz she can take to find her rating!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

You teenagers are older than you think. In no time at all you are going to be starting on business careers or going away to college, and some of you will be taking on matrimonial responsibilities.

How successful will you be? Much of the success you are going to achieve is determined by what you are and do today. Yes, exactly that — what you are and do right now.

For instance, are you acquiring smart, smooth manners and ways? The kind that will make things easier for you when you leave high? Or are you going to end up this period with grade-school ways, habits that you should have shed some time ago? You can answer that pretty easily yourself, just by taking the little test that follows. See how you rate on these table ways:

Rate Yourself

Are you guilty of:

1. Bringing your mouth to your food instead of your food to your mouth?
2. "Fisting" a fork?
3. Dangling a knife or fork against the edge of your plate instead of resting it neatly across the upper section so that only the handles extend over the rim?
4. Taking several sips of soup or ice cream from the same spoonful instead of just one?
5. Spraying the table with crumbs . . . or, if you smoke, with ashes?
6. Toying with silverware not in use?
7. Fussing with hair or doing a full paint job?
8. Lounging on the table?
9. Gesturing with food in your hands?
10. Attacks or giggles, noisy or argumentative exchanges?
11. Leaving lipstick on glasses or napkins?

Pretty Ways

Now is the time for you to be getting into the habit of pretty ways. In assessing any girl's charm, I can sometimes overlook a raucous laugh or unkempt hair as a temporary slip, but indelicate conduct at the table reflects on a girl's feminine fastidiousness and so always is chalked up against her score.

If you want to be the most popular charmer in your class, the young lady who is most likely to succeed in her chosen career, vow now that you'll start leading the class in manners. When good manners are second nature to you, you'll be free to devote all your time and thought to other things . . . when the laggards will be stumbling and floundering trying to improve theirs!

Tomorrow: Teen Hair practices.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice — one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success — by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness and lack of proper modulation. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 7—(INS)—David O. Selznick is in town for only two weeks but he tells me that he and Jennifer Jones will spend the summer in Hollywood. Neither David nor Jennifer wants any part of the 18 months residence abroad to avoid taxes.

David says that "Terminal Station" has broken all records in Italy and has already played in thirty cities. When he comes back he'll bring the picture with him to show to American audiences.

Jennifer is finishing "Beat The Devil" for John Huston—there is about a month to go. He and Jennifer have never been happier and that all those stories that they are having trouble are absolutely without any foundation or fact.

Yul Brynner flies to the Coast to talk with C. B. deMille about playing King Herod in the remake of "The Ten Commandments"—and this role in the super-super religious spectacle will more than compensate for the setbacks the star of "The King and I" has suffered getting his screen career underway.

But Herod or no Herod, Yul leaves Hollywood after three days for a much needed vacation — eight weeks of sunshine and loafing in Acapulco.

Paramount has a commitment with Brynner; he was supposed to do a picture which was cancelled because of the cost.

One thing certain, if "Oklahoma" is brought to the screen it will be done by the new Joseph Schenck Company.

I met both Joe and Mike Todd in Palm Springs and they told me no deal has been made up to now, but they do have an arrangement with Rodgers and Hammerstein for all musical plays not tied up by any other studio. After ten years as a stage play, "Oklahoma" has taken in $29,000,000 and has been seen by 22 million people. I would love to see Rouben Mamoulian, who directed the stage hit, direct the movie.

There are a lot of things popping in the new Schenck Company — a lot of negotiations going on. Joe moves into his new offices this week.

Palm Springs chit-chat: The William Perlberg's party (their resort home is the most popular "club house" in Palm Springs) brought out Greer Garson, Buddy Fogelson, Evelyn Keyes with Mike Todd, Joseph Schenck, Dinah Shore and George Montgomery, the Leo Spitzes, Sam Briskins, Leonard Goldstein and — me.

Bill Perlberg produced Bing Crosby's "Little Boy Lost" and he tells me the first "sneak" will be held in San Mateo.

"I'm inviting Gary Crosby, who attends Stanford, and some of his pals to be among the first to see Bing's picture." Other Hollywood second-generationers from Stanford attending will be Bill Gargan Jr., Joanie Benny (Jack's daughter), Dick Zanuck and Harry Joe Brown Jr.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Mike Todd is more in love with Evelyn Keyes than any girl since he met Joan Blondell.

You'd be surprised if you knew the name of the girl Gene Nelson has fallen hook, line and sinker for.

Although Diana Lynn's show, "Horses In Mid-stream," closed after five days she received wonderful notices.

Rosemary Clooney goes to New York from Chicago to be a bridesmaid at the wedding of Judy Balaban and Jay Cantor.

Some of Dan Topping's love of sports must have rubbed off on Kay Sutton, his ex, who is negotiating to buy the West Palm Beach Indian baseball team.

Wendell Corey, his wife and three children are back from a seven-day Easter vacation in New York. Wendell was master of ceremonies on the show of shows, and did several other TV stints.

Ringsiding at the Mocambo were Doris Duke and Porfirio Rubirosa. That's where Doris' current boy friend, Joe Castro, is playing every night. Joe was the host of the party.

Speaking of Mocambo, Don Loper designed and gave Mary McCarty two beautiful gowns for an Easter gift. Incidentally, she's doing such good business she's being kept for another week.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

My New York

by Mel Heimer

NEW YORK—This was the day; there was no doubting it. A gentleness had come over the city. The sky was clear, cool blue, with only a faint haze over Long Island as if of summer heat, and on the benches by the muddy, swift-flowing river, the men sat in their suit jackets, with their topcoats draped at their sides. A plane lifted into that clear, cool blue, and the older ones sitting on the benches, the ones who had been born before planes thickened the sky, looked at it slowly and felt the eternal faint stirring of the blood at the thought of faraway places.

Spring had come to the city. The man with the book had realized it from the moment he stepped out of his apartment-house lobby. Now he seated himself on a bench, packed and lighted a curved pipe and sat there for a while soaking in the wonder of the day. He was thankful of course; all the older ones walking or sitting there by the river were thankful.

They had come through another winter, another of the city's raw and angry winters, and were once again out in the daylight. There was within all of them, the stupid ones and the bright ones, the heady, intoxicating knowledge that soon the trees would bud and the grass would stir in the ground. They had waited through so many chill and drab weeks for tomorrow to come, and now it had.

Small ones raced by; the man with the book knew that they alone didn't know it was spring, nor were they thankful for the day. To the small ones, every day is a lifetime, complete unto itself, and they never need the sun high in the sky to tell them they are alive. The man with the book put down his pipe and watched them, with a smile.

Then he picked up the book, which was a green-covered edition of a book published in 1935. It was called "Green Hills of Africa," and the man who wrote it was named Hemingway. The book was, in it's writer's words, an absolutely true one, a story of hunting to kill, in the dark continent, and none of the characters or incidents in the book were imaginary. Everything in it, Hemingway said, had happened.

The man had not read this Hemingway book, but he admired other books by Hemingway of 20 years ago, before Hemingway had become an old man trying to remember, so he opened "Green Hills" and began, as he sat there by the river in the warm sunlight of the city's first spring day.

He had not read too many pages before he knew that the book was wrong for this fine day. Beautifully-written, with a minimum of Hemingway's occasional archness, but wrong. This was a day in New York when the clogged stream of life had opened again, a great day in the times and adventures of any man—and on the pages of "Green Hills," the writer told of a lion, "looking yellow and heavy-headed and enormous against a scrubby-looking tree," that started to run away from the humans who had come across him. "I hit him with the Springfield and he went down and spun over and I shot again . . ." the story said.

The man with the book was too old in living to feel ashamed or silly because the thought of a lion with a bullet just below his spine, thrashing to his death on the thick green grass of an African plain, made him sad. If you held to the belief that God turned out this lion, along with the man who shot him, you had to feel sad.

The man with the book read a little more, here and there, but it was of a pattern. "It is pleasant to hunt something that you want very much over a long period of time, being outwitted, outmaneuvered," Hemingway had written.

The man with the book knew that critics had called "Green Hills" a classic, and he thought about that for a little, as he sat there. However, when he got up and started off to walk along the river among the living, the good writing in the book and the violence it told about was out of his head.

He was in the middle of life and there was nothing in the universe around him, except love itself, that could match it. The bringing of death to a live thing, he left to Hemingway — and he was not sorry.

How does "Miss Teen" rate in charm? Here is a quick quiz she can take to find her rating!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

You teenagers are older than you think. In no time at all you are going to be starting on business careers or going away to college, and some of you will be taking on matrimonial responsibilities.

How successful will you be? Much of the success you are going to achieve is determined by what you are and do today. Yes, exactly that — what you are and do right now.

For instance, are you acquiring smart, smooth manners and ways? The kind that will make things easier for you when you leave high? Or are you going to end up this period with grade-school ways, habits that you should have shed some time ago? You can answer that pretty easily yourself, just by taking the little test that follows. See how you rate on these table ways:

Rate Yourself

Are you guilty of:

1. Bringing your mouth to your food instead of your food to your mouth?
2. "Fisting" a fork?
3. Dangling a knife or fork against the edge of your plate instead of resting it neatly across the upper section so that only the handles extend over the rim?
4. Taking several sips of soup or ice cream from the same spoonful instead of just one?
5. Spraying the table with crumbs . . . or, if you smoke, with ashes?
6. Toying with silverware not in use?
7. Fussing with hair or doing a full paint job?
8. Lounging on the table?
9. Gesturing with food in your hands?
10. Attacks or giggles, noisy or argumentative exchanges?
11. Leaving lipstick on glasses or napkins?

Pretty Ways

Now is the time for you to be getting into the habit of pretty ways. In assessing any girl's charm, I can sometimes overlook a raucous laugh or unkempt hair as a temporary slip, but indelicate conduct at the table reflects on a girl's feminine fastidiousness and so always is chalked up against her score.

If you want to be the most popular charmer in your class, the young lady who is most likely to succeed in her chosen career, vow now that you'll start leading the class in manners. When good manners are second nature to you, you'll be free to devote all your time and thought to other things . . . when the laggards will be stumbling and floundering trying to improve theirs!

Tomorrow: Teen Hair practices.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice — one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success — by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness and lack of proper modulation. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Old Second Guesser

by John Wheeler

On Vacation

John Crosby, who writes the Radio and Television column for The Cumberland News, is on vacation. His next column will appear Monday, May 4.

Florida High Spots

Here we are back in the cooling breezes of New York again. I've been thinking of some of the high and low spots of our recent trip.

John Wheeler

On reviewing my experiences, I feel somewhat chagrined, especially about my wardrobe. We saw some of the finest houses in Palm Beach and Miami, and the owners seemed to be proudest of their closets, many being cedar lined and big enough to hold an elephant plus the belongings of one of the 10 best-dressed women at the same time.

As for myself, I travel "lighter than a straw hat" as Kin Hubbard once said of Will Rogers. I haven't so many suits to begin with, and then I hate to pay excess freight to the airlines. I can hang my clothes in a telephone booth and have room left to sit down and make a toll call comfortably.

To tell the truth, I don't know whether the occupants of these ornate and ostentatious establishments have a lot of fun. They have too much to worry about. We had lunch on La Gorce Island which is the exclusive, fashionable, and stylish section of Miami Beach, just beyond the glare of the neons. Our host was morose.

"What's the matter?" I asked him.

"We've just finished this house, and I have nothing to do here. I don't play golf any more, and the place bores me."

He was supposed to have retired to enjoy life, and here he was champing at the bit to get back to New York. Through the window I could see tied to the dock in the front yard his shining yacht, glistening in the sun with flags flying and gangplank out.

"Why don't you use your boat?" I inquired.

"I'm tired of it. You can't sail around these canals all day like an excursion steamer, and I am fed up with fishing. It gets my goat to see it sitting there with the captain and crew waiting to go somewhere."

We left with the impression we know where you can buy a stylish mansion and a yacht at a bargain if interested.

It was England's boast for the last six hundred years that nobody could insult the English flag and tell the tale in serial form.

There was a time when you couldn't tell the effrontery from the backery. We know that Uncle Sam takes more slapping than a bass fiddle in a night club. He turns the other cheek to get his lumps balanced.

But it was England's boast that an Englishman anywhere in the world was as safe as a chair nailed to the floor.

On Vacation

Florida High Spots

Here we are back in the cooling breezes of New York again. I've been thinking of some of the high and low spots of our recent trip.

John Wheeler

On reviewing my experiences, I feel somewhat chagrined, especially about my wardrobe. We saw some of the finest houses in Palm Beach and Miami, and the owners seemed to be proudest of their closets, many being cedar lined and big enough to hold an elephant plus the belongings of one of the 10 best-dressed women at the same time.

As for myself, I travel "lighter than a straw hat" as Kin Hubbard once said of Will Rogers. I haven't so many suits to begin with, and then I hate to pay excess freight to the airlines. I can hang my clothes in a telephone booth and have room left to sit down and make a toll call comfortably.

To tell the truth, I don't know whether the occupants of these ornate and ostentatious establishments have a lot of fun. They have too much to worry about. We had lunch on La Gorce Island which is the exclusive, fashionable, and stylish section of Miami Beach, just beyond the glare of the neons. Our host was morose.

"What's the matter?" I asked him.

"We've just finished this house, and I have nothing to do here. I don't play golf any more, and the place bores me."

He was supposed to have retired to enjoy life, and here he was champing at the bit to get back to New York. Through the window I could see tied to the dock in the front yard his shining yacht, glistening in the sun with flags flying and gangplank out.

"Why don't you use your boat?" I inquired.

"I'm tired of it. You can't sail around these canals all day like an excursion steamer, and I am fed up with fishing. It gets my goat to see it sitting there with the captain and crew waiting to go somewhere."

We left with the impression we know where you can buy a stylish mansion and a yacht at a bargain if interested.

When I reached St. Petersburg, I ran into another sad character who has little prospect to find a silver lining soon—Fred Saigh, former owner of the Cardinals. He is facing a 15-months jail term for income tax irregularities, and he is pretending to himself. He still talks about "our team" and wears a mask of mock gaiety, but underneath, you can see the lines and creases caused by worry and apprehension.

"You can't help but feel sorry for him," remarked Grantland Rice.

"He'll probably go to one of the best jails and get time off for good behavior," added Red Smith.

"Listen, boys," I said philosophically, "there ain't any good prison. The Danbury sneezer has been called a country club, because of its reputation and the kind of prisoners sent there. A big moving picture producer was a guest for a while because he forgot to put everything down on his tax return. Then there was a banker who evidently kept some of the institution's funds in his pockets during the day and neglected to take them out before starting home one night. When he found them, he headed south, but was caught and landed in Danbury.

"One day I visited the place voluntarily to get a story and look it over. I saw all these distinguished members of the 'country club,' including a couple of moving picture writers who had been in the group known as the 'Hollywood Ten.' The Warden was as proud of his joint as a hotel manager, and he asked me to stay for lunch. We ate the same victuals as the star boarders, and they weren't very tasty. In fact, when I reached home I had a sandwich."

Now here I am back on the old treadmill again.

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks to our relatives, friends and neighbors who were so kind to us in our bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, Lawrence T. STICK TO A GOOD PLAN

A GOOD plan for the defense against a hostile contract is often just as important as a good playing plan for the declarer. If you see that the only chance to beat the contract is to keep the established or establishable cards of your long suit—at the expense of depending on your partner to block another suit—then see that you divide the work between the two members of the pair. Stick to the good plan you originally had, doing the part that only you can do, and hope the man opposite you can do his part.

East's play of the spade 10 on the lead of the 5 was allowed by South to hold, and the A then took the J. Immediately South ran all of the diamonds, on which East had a discarding job to do. On the second of those he put the club 10 and then the 2, the high-low, making it clear to his partner that his side entry for the spades was in that suit.

On the last two diamonds, however, he went wrong by discarding the spade 2 and 4, which left him only two more of his suit. South, having no way to get a ninth trick except by means of a club, then led to the K, which East won with the A. He got his side's third and fourth tricks with his spade K and 7, but then had only a heart to return, so that South got the rest of the tricks to have his game.

West begged East for the cause of his second spade discard, when retaining one more spade would have beaten the contract.

"I felt that I had to keep three hearts to safeguard that suit," he said. West then told him he should not have tried to do everything with his own hand, but should have retained only two hearts while clinging to a vital third spade, since it was likely that West, marked with four hearts since South didn't rebid them, probably could take a trick in that suit if necessary.

Market Breaks Away From Selling Pressure, Advances

NEW YORK, April 7 (AP)—The stock market advanced today in a spirited break away from the selling pressure that has plagued it since the Communists first made their peace proposals more than a week ago.

Gains ran to between 2 and 3 points for favored issues while the downside extended to between 1 and 2 points at the most in key areas.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 70 cents and closed at $109.40. The gain was matched two weeks ago today, but it has not been exceeded for nearly four weeks.

The role the railroads played in the rise was shown by the fact that the railroad component of the average was up $1.40 while the industrial component was up 50 cents and the utilities declined 10 cents.

There were 1,205 individual issues on the tape (50 less than yesterday of which 505 advanced and 434 declined with 8 new highs and 205 new lows for the year touched during the session.

Volume came to two and a half million shares. That compares with 3,050,000 shares traded yesterday.

Packard Motor Car was at the top of the list unchanged at 5⅜ with 39,400 shares traded. It was followed by General Motors up ⅜ at 60⅝, Pepsi-Cola up ¼ at 13½.

(Yesterday's lone gainer), Panhandle Oil up ½ at 9¼, and Baltimore & Ohio up ⅝ at 26¾ (yesterday's most active issue).

Other higher stocks included Atlantic Coast Line Railroad up 2½ at 109, St. Louis Southwestern Railroad up 9½ at 285, Illinois Central 1½ at 77½, Santa Fe 2¼ at 95¾, Southern Railway 2 at 84½, Southern Pacific 1½ at 44¾, Standard Oil (NJ) ⅝ at 70⅝, Pan American World Airways ¼ at 10⅜, American Telephone ⅛ at 155 (after being off 1 point), Union Carbide ⅜ at 67, U. S. Steel ⅛ at 38⅝, Chrysler 1½ at 79⅞, Montgomery Ward ⅞ at 63⅞, Boeing ⅝ at 40¼, and Philco 1¼ at 32¾.

Lorillard was off ¼ at 26⅛. The company announced plans to market a king-size old gold.

Sears Roebuck was off 1 at 57½. The company disclosed plans to offer about a million shares of capital stock to stockholders at a price to be determined.

Among other declining stocks were Consolidated Natural Gas off 1½ at 55, Goodyear ¼ at 52¼, Southern California Edison ½ at 37, homestake Mining ¼ at 39⅝, Dow Chemical ¼ at 37⅞, and Johns-Manville ¼ at 69¾.

Corporate bonds were lower. U. S. Governments in the over the counter market were unchanged to lower.

Senate Cloakroom
by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

The controversial tidelands measure has now been passed by the House and is under discussion in the Senate.

The two measures differ in this degree: the House bill grants title to the states of off-shore submerged lands on the continental shelf; the bill in the Senate would leave the resources on the continental shelf for consideration in another bill.

After prolonged discussion I am sure the Senate will pass the bill and a joint committee will work out an agreement between the two bills. The Eisenhower administration is pledged to restore the states' rights to their submerged lands.

Over the years a lot of confusion and misunderstanding has developed and lawyers have had a field day in testifying about the legal aspects of the controversy. In some areas considerable emotional feeling has developed — and sadly to say the public has been consistently misinformed by the federal propagandists.

Stemmed From Ickes

Basically the controversy developed as follows: The states' claim to the lands were never questioned until Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes reversed his own decision in the early days of the New Deal.

Mr. Ickes reversal was complete and without explanation. The federal government then took the State of California to court and the Supreme Court reversed 52 decisions of the court, established over a period of 150 years, and ruled that the federal government should have jurisdiction over natural resources in the submerged lands.

The important part of the court's decision is, however, that while it did not rule that the states had title to the lands, neither did it rule that the federal government had title to the lands.

Justice Black, ruling for the court, said, "The crucial question on the merits is not merely who owns the bare legal title to the lands under the marginal sea. The United States here asserts rights in two capacities, transcending those of a mere property owner."

In other words Justice Black was saying that the court was not particularly concerned with the rights of "a mere property owner."

Justice Frankfurter in a dissenting opinion commented on Justice Black's ruling by saying: "Ownership implies acquisition in the various way in which land is acquired — by conquest, by discovery and claim, by session, by prescription, by purchase, by condemnation. When and how did the United States acquire this land?"

Not Up To Court

Then Justice Frankfurter proceeded to state the issue now before Congress in a very concise fashion. He said, "Let us assume, for the present, that ownership by California cannot be proven. On a fair analysis of all the evidence bearing on ownership then, this area is, I believe, to be deemed unclaimed land, and the determination to claim it on the part of the United States is a political decision not for this court."

Justice Frankfurter, often considered to be an ardent New Dealer, was saying that in a court of law ownership of land must be established by one of the contending parties and that if the court cannot decide as to who owns the lands, then the land is considered unclaimed.

Arbitrary decision and awarding the land to the federal government, Mr. Frankfurter decided, was not within the jurisdiction of the court. That decision, he said, was a political decision and would be up to the Congress.

The 81st Congress passed legislation reaffirming the states' claim and President Truman vetoed the bill. During this session of Congress, I think the outcome will be quite different. Congress will pass a bill in keeping with the historic claims of the states and the 52 decisions of the Supreme Court. President Eisenhower will sign the bill and the controversy that was started by Harold Ickes reversal of his own decision will be ended.

To Maryland, passage of the bill will mean that our state will retain control of our 1,600,000 acres of submerged land. We will have no fears that the federal government will preempt our lands and regulate our productive fishing industry. The rights of the Free State will be secure.

STICK TO A GOOD PLAN

A GOOD plan for the defense against a hostile contract is often just as important as a good playing plan for the declarer. If you see that the only chance to beat the contract is to keep the established or establishable cards of your long suit—at the expense of depending on your partner to block another suit—then see that you divide the work between the two members of the pair. Stick to the good plan you originally had, doing the part that only you can do, and hope the man opposite you can do his part.

East's play of the spade 10 on the lead of the 5 was allowed by South to hold, and the A then took the J. Immediately South ran all of the diamonds, on which East had a discarding job to do. On the second of those he put the club 10 and then the 2, the high-low, making it clear to his partner that his side entry for the spades was in that suit.

On the last two diamonds, however, he went wrong by discarding the spade 2 and 4, which left him only two more of his suit. South, having no way to get a ninth trick except by means of a club, then led to the K, which East won with the A. He got his side's third and fourth tricks with his spade K and 7, but then had only a heart to return, so that South got the rest of the tricks to have his game.

West begged East for the cause of his second spade discard, when retaining one more spade would have beaten the contract.

"I felt that I had to keep three hearts to safeguard that suit," he said. West then told him he should not have tried to do everything with his own hand, but should have retained only two hearts while clinging to a vital third spade, since it was likely that West, marked with four hearts since South didn't rebid them, probably could take a trick in that suit if necessary.

Market Breaks Away From Selling Pressure, Advances

NEW YORK, April 7 (AP)—The stock market advanced today in a spirited break away from the selling pressure that has plagued it since the Communists first made their peace proposals more than a week ago.

Gains ran to between 2 and 3 points for favored issues while the downside extended to between 1 and 2 points at the most in key areas.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 70 cents and closed at $109.40. The gain was matched two weeks ago today, but it has not been exceeded for nearly four weeks.

The role the railroads played in the rise was shown by the fact that the railroad component of the average was up $1.40 while the industrial component was up 50 cents and the utilities declined 10 cents.

There were 1,205 individual issues on the tape (50 less than yesterday of which 505 advanced and 434 declined with 8 new highs and 205 new lows for the year touched during the session.

Volume came to two and a half million shares. That compares with 3,050,000 shares traded yesterday.

It was significant that not a single one of the ten most active issues ended lower while yesterday only one ended higher.

Packard Motor Car was at the top of the list unchanged at 5⅜ with 39,400 shares traded. It was followed by General Motors up ⅜ at 60⅝, Pepsi-Cola up ¼ at 13½ (Yesterday's lone gainer), Panhandle Oil up ½ at 9¼, and Baltimore & Ohio up ⅝ at 26¾ (yesterday's most active issue).

Other higher stocks included Atlantic Coast Line Railroad up 2½ at 109, St. Louis Southwestern Railroad up 9½ at 285, Illinois Central 1½ at 77½, Santa Fe 2¼ at 95¾, Southern Railway 2 at 84½, Southern Pacific 1½ at 44¾, Standard Oil (NJ) ⅝ at 70⅝, Pan American World Airways ¼ at 10⅜, American Telephone ⅛ at 155 (after being off 1 point), Union Carbide ⅜ at 67, U. S. Steel ⅛ at 38⅜, Chrysler 1½ at 79⅞, Montgomery Ward ⅞ at 63⅞, Boeing ⅝ at 40¼, and Philco 1¼ at 32¾.

Lorillard was off ¼ at 26⅛. The company announced plans to market a king-size old gold.

Sears Roebuck was off 1 at 57½. The company disclosed plans to offer about a million shares of capital stock to stockholders at a price to be determined.

Among other declining stocks were Consolidated Natural Gas off 1½ at 55, Goodyear ¼ at 52¼, Southern California Edison ½ at 37, homestake Mining ¼ at 39⅝, Dow Chemical ¼ at 37⅞, and Johns-Manville ¼ at 69¾.

Corporate bonds were lower. U. S. Governments in the over the counter market were unchanged to lower.

Senate Cloakroom
by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

The controversial tidelands measure has now been passed by the House and is under discussion in the Senate.

The two measures differ in this degree: the House bill grants title to the states of off-shore submerged lands on the continental shelf; the bill in the Senate would leave the resources on the continental shelf for consideration in another bill.

After prolonged discussion I am sure the Senate will pass the bill and a joint committee will work out an agreement between the two bills. The Eisenhower administration is pledged to restore the states' rights to their submerged lands.

Over the years a lot of confusion and misunderstanding has developed and lawyers have had a field day in testifying about the legal aspects of the controversy. In some areas considerable emotional feeling has developed — and sadly to say the public has been consistently misinformed by the federal propagandists.

Stemmed From Ickes

Basically the controversy developed as follows: The states' claim to the lands were never questioned until Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes reversed his own decision in the early days of the New Deal.

Mr. Ickes reversal was complete and without explanation. The federal government then took the State of California to court and the Supreme Court reversed 52 decisions of the court, established over a period of 150 years, and ruled that the federal government should have jurisdiction over natural resources in the submerged lands.

The important part of the court's decision is, however, that while it did not rule that the states had title to the lands, neither did it rule that the federal government had title to the lands.

Justice Black, ruling for the court, said, "The crucial question on the merits is not merely who owns the bare legal title to the lands under the marginal sea. The United States here asserts rights in two capacities, transcending those of a mere property owner."

In other words Justice Black was saying that the court was not particularly concerned with the rights of "a mere property owner."

Justice Frankfurter in a dissenting opinion commented on Justice Black's ruling by saying: "Ownership implies acquisition in the various way in which land is acquired — by conquest, by discovery and claim, by session, by prescription, by purchase, by condemnation. When and how did the United States acquire this land?"

Not Up To Court

Then Justice Frankfurter proceeded to state the issue now before Congress in a very concise fashion. He said, "Let us assume, for the present, that ownership by California cannot be proven. On a fair analysis of all the evidence bearing on ownership then, this area is, I believe, to be deemed unclaimed land, and the determination to claim it on the part of the United States is a political decision not for this court."

Justice Frankfurter, often considered to be an ardent New Dealer, was saying that in a court of law ownership of land must be established by one of the contending parties and that if the court cannot decide as to who owns the lands, then the land is considered unclaimed.

Arbitrary decision and awarding the land to the federal government, Mr. Frankfurter decided, was not within the jurisdiction of the court. That decision, he said, was a political decision and would be up to the Congress.

The 81st Congress passed legislation reaffirming the states' claim and President Truman vetoed the bill. During this session of Congress, I think the outcome will be quite different. Congress will pass a bill in keeping with the historic claims of the states and the 52 decisions of the Supreme Court. President Eisenhower will sign the bill and the controversy that was started by Harold Ickes reversal of his own decision will be ended.

To Maryland, passage of the bill will mean that our state will retain control of our 1,600,000 acres of submerged land. We will have no fears that the federal government will preempt our lands and regulate our productive fishing industry. The rights of the Free State will be secure.

UNDER THE DOME

My office was one of those which closed all day on Good Friday, so that my staff might observe the religious holiday.

McKeldin Praises Accomplishments Of Legislature

Registers Approval Of Road Program

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 7 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin today gave a "well done" to the 1953 General Assembly, but at the same time indicated he did not agree with all its acts and expressed disappointment in the failure of several pet proposals.

He registered prime approval of its adoption—with modifications—of a multi-million dollar roads program "that should give us one of the best state highway systems in the nation."

He didn't refer in any way to the dog-eat-dog scrap that developed in the pre-dawn hours today when the big roads program teetered in the balance of several amendments tacked on by wrathful Democratic senators.

Amendments Fail

The amendments failed, and the revised 12-year roads program went through, but not before Senate Majority Leader Goldstein (D-Calvert) viciously denounced the state roads commission, bond buyers and "big contractors" for, he said, deceiving the counties in what they are supposed to get out of it.

What really aroused Goldstein's ire was the Senate's rejection of a Finance Committee amendment which would have transferred state police expenses from highway funds and to the general fund.

The bitter wrangle in the Senate went on until 6:25 a.m., forcing the time-honored maneuver of "turning back the clock" to remain in the legislative day of April 6—last constitutional day of the session.

And while they wrangled, the House impatiently sat on its hands. Much quicker moving throughout the session, the delegates were cleaned up hours before and didn't hesitate to register their disgust at "the gentlemen's debating society" across the main corridor.

Kill Pet Projects

Finally, at 5:55 a.m., the delegates closed shop and went home, satisfied the Senate could not then undo any of their work.

The strained feelings between the two houses began long before last night. Mostly it was based on the treatment one gave to the other's pet projects.

The House, for example, killed the automatic tax reduction plan, which was mothered through the Senate by the 11 insurgent Democrats.

The plan would have used budget surpluses to reduce taxes on income and property instead of permitting the left-over funds to carry over to the next fiscal year. Majority Leader Logan (D-Caroline), whose Ways and Means Committee gave the Senate bill an unfavorable report, objected to "dedicating for a time the manner in which tax reduction will be effected."

And the Senate, without objection

Police Probe Dynamite Caps Theft At Mine

Authorities late last night continued an investigation to find 96 dynamite caps stolen Monday night from the Hughes Mining Company property, near Midland.

Deputy Sheriff William E. "Scotty" Orr said the possessor of the caps is in much danger. Orr feared that the breaking and entering was committed by youths in that area, and they may not realize the danger in handling the caps.

He explained the explosives are the type which can be detonated when placed near heat. Also they will explode when probed with a sharp instrument or hit by a sharp blow.

The deputy sheriff said in addition to the caps, the thieves also took 25 pounds of carbide, used by miners in their head lanterns for visibility while working. The chemical throws off a combustible vapor when dampened by water.

Investigation last night at the mine showed that the breaking and entering was relative to other thefts occurring at the property several months ago. Orr said the pattern of gaining entrance and footprints indicated youths were responsible.

Orr added that in the past, there have been several breaking and enterings at the Midland mine and that mostly mining tools had been stolen.

Also working on the case is County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya.

Police recalled that two Corriganville boys were fatally injured last year when dynamite caps they obtained at a quarry near their homes exploded. One of the boys was killed instantly and the other died a few days later.

An urgent appeal is being made by police authorities to residents of the Midland area to do everything they can in helping track down the explosives. If they know of any boys who may have been in the vicinity they should attempt to ascertain if they were involved, police stated.

Police said they are not as much interested in finding out who the boys are as they are in trying to prevent a tragedy. The ones who took the dynamite caps are warned to notify police where the explosives are so that no injury or death is incurred by careless handling of the material.

Observer Corps Outpost Set Up At Bedford Road

24-Hour Watch To Be Maintained

Residents of Bedford Road area unanimously voted last night to accept the sixth outpost in Allegany County's Ground Observer Corps, Charles G. Smith, county co-ordinator said last night.

Following a meeting held last night in the Bedford Road fire hall, plans were made to establish the outpost at White's Service Station at the intersection of Lake Gordon Road. The new station in the GOC will be known as State Line post, Smith said.

An enthusiastic gathering attended the meeting as the county's full quota of six units was established. "It gives us a straight shot across the county," Smith added.

Previous plans of the 26th Air Defense Group of the Eastern Air Defense Command at Roslyn Field, N. Y., of which the Allegany County GOC is a part, called for the post to be established in Flintstone, Smith revealed, but because of the shortage of manpower there the county cor-ordinator was able to get permission to move the outpost to another locale and the Bedford Road site was selected.

Ray Deremer, assistant co-ordinator, presented plans for the organization of the outpost to those attending the meeting and the group voted unanimously to accept the position. A movie, "Air Defense," was shown and a question and answer period followed talks by Deremer and Smith.

A meeting will be held at the volunteer fire hall Sunday, April 26, at 3 p. m. to complete organization plans for the new unit, Smith continued.

Attending the meeting from Bedford Road were Frederick Roberts, president of the Fire Company; Frederick Purnell, fire chief; Mrs. Helen Wilson, fire company auxiliary; Mrs. Fred Purnell, representing Union Grove Homemakers; Nelson Robinson, George Ward, Playford Aldridge, Mrs. Eula Mortzfeldt, Mrs. Shirley Ward, Mrs. Mildred Brady, Mrs. Evelyn Borgman, Mrs. Helen Wilson, Mrs. Thorna Tewell, Mrs. Mary Koontz, Mrs. Effie Charles, Mrs. Mary Betts, Walter Brady, David Wilson, Albert Smouse, and Miss Sandy Borgman.

A 24-hour watch will be maintained at the outpost upon its completion, Smith concluded.

Carver School Rec Program To Be Discussed Thursday

Plans for co-ordinating the recreational facilities of Carver School will be discussed at a meeting Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall Auditorium.

Earl L. Bracey, principal of the school, who will act as chairman, has asked city officials, school administrators, preachers, teachers and parents to attend the conference.

There is evidence, Bracey said, that the need for directed activities of the Carver students is very great.

Much grief is bound to come to many homes and the community, he added, if plans are not made for the proper use of leisure time of the young people.

Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, said plans are already underway to expand the city's recreational program for students of the school.

The department plans to station a leader at the Carver School Playground when the Benjamin Banneker Housing Development, the colored public housing unit, opens and creates a need for a summer playground program in the Frederick Street area.

The usual program will be continued at the Pine Avenue Playground.

Plans are also underway, Pence said, to sponsor a Teen Age Club at Carver High chool on Friday or Saturday nights when qualified leaders are available.

Conservation Tour For County's School Teachers Planned In May

A conservation tour which will take Allegany County's nearly 600 public school teachers through much of the county east of Cumberland was planned at a meeting of conservation officials yesterday morning.

The teachers will meet at Fort Hill High School at 9:45 a. m., Saturday, May 9, to begin their tour. Martin M. Gordon, Soil Conservation aide, disclosed that they will leave the school at 10 a. m. and follow a route that will take them over Baltimore Pike, Christie Road, Williams Road and Murley's Branch Road to Flintstone.

Timber Markings

While making this trip to Flintstone the teachers will be shown timber which has been marked for cutting by employes of the State Department of Forests and Parks. They also will see at least three illustrations of serious soil erosion. Practices to counteract soil erosion such as contour strip cropping, pasture management, tile drainage, farm ponds and reforestation will be pointed out to the teachers along with spots of scenic beauty.

At Flintstone High School the touring teachers will stop for a hot lunch at 12:30 p. m. From there they will travel east on Baltimore Pike to the Green Ridge State Forest. On the way they will stop briefly to see a sub-soiling demonstration.

Forest Highlights

In the State Forest the instructors will see wildlife food patches, wild turkeys in mating pens and also the right-of-way along a power line which has been seeded by employes of the State Game and Inland Fish Commission. The tour will end about 3:30 p. m.

Details for the tour were mapped out at a meeting at the Soil Conservation Service office, 37 Washington Street, yesterday morning. Attending besides Gordon were Charles Ellington, extension conservationist; Fred Bull, secretary of the state conservation committee; Byron Ashbaugh of the State Department of Education and Research; Dale Arner of the Game and Inland Fish Commission; Harry Hartman, assistant district forester, and Kenneth M. Stone, soil scientist.

Ellington, Bull, Ashbaugh and Arner will meet with William W. Nace, soil conservationist in Garrett County, at Oakland this morning to plan a similar conservation tour for Garrett County teachers Saturday, May 16.

Four Boys Get Sentenced In Car Theft Case

Two Nine-Month Terms Suspended

Four of six boys, involved in a theft of four autos and wrecking two, were each sentenced to nine months in the Maryland House of Correction yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court on charges of unauthorized use of motor vehicles.

The four sentenced were Joseph Edward Dorsey, 20, of Mt. Savage; John Riley Welch, 18, of RD 1, Oldtown; Richard Lee Gray, 16, of 506 Linden Street, and Richard Lee Spencer, 17, of 303 Decatur Street.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick suspended sentences of two boys, Gray and Spencer, and put them on probation. Dorsey and Welch were taken to Allegany County Jail yesterday.

Two To Get Hearing

Two other 15-year-old youths involved in the case will be given hearings in Allegany County Juvenile Court Saturday morning, authorities said.

The youths were arrested Friday and later signed statements admitting the thefts. Police said the boys had stolen four cars in less than three days and wrecked two of the vehicles while joy-riding.

Arrests were brought about as a result of co-operation between patrolmen and detectives after a rifle target which an officer had given to one of the boys was found in a stolen car.

Working on the case were Detective Leo E. P. Law, Lt. James E. Van, head of the Detective Bureau; Officer Charles W. Thompson, Officer Walter P. Dennison, Detective Roy C. Hawse and Officer Gordon Hite.

Police got their first lead in the case when a car stolen last Tuesday night from Robert Schultz, 38 South Street, was discovered and a paper rifle target was found inside. Officer Thompson had given a batch of the targets of that type to a boy who had asked for them a few days before. Thompson operates a shooting gallery on North Mechanic Street.

One of the youths admitted stealing the car and told police he and three companions drove the auto around Cumberland for several hours before leaving it on North Mechanic Street early last Wednesday. Later police picked up the other boys.

Wreck Auto

Authorities said the boys admitted stealing a 1949 sedan owned by Donald Hite, Corriganville, from a parking lot in South Cumberland Wednesday night.

The group drove to Keyser, W. Va., where they picked up another 1949 car which attracted the attention of a policeman when they drove across the Keyser-McCoole bridge into Maryland without headlights.

Police added that when the officer gave chase, they abandoned the car and returned to the vehicle they had stolen earlier and sped back toward Cumberland.

On the way, the boys said, a tractor-trailer forced them off the road at Pinto while they were traveling at about 95 miles an hour. The car left the road and struck a utility pole. None of the boys was injured but the car was demolished. State Police found it a few hours later and notified the owner.

Meanwhile, the boys had hiked through the woods to Cresaptown where they stole a car owned by Paul Schramm of Cresaptown. One of the boys drove the other youths to their homes in Cumberland and the Mt. Savage area and then turned the car over to another companion.

It was found wrecked at the canal bridge in Oldtown last Thursday.

Korean War Vet Is Injured In Highway Crash

Pfc. Paul Kiddy Taken To Miners Hospital

A Korean War veteran spending a furlough at the home of his brother in Barton was hospitalized yesterday afternoon following an automobile accident near that community.

Admitted to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, was Pfc. Paul Kiddy, 20, who was reported to have suffered two fractured arms. His condition, according to attaches, was "good" last night.

Investigating the accident is Trooper Milton J. Hart of the Maryland State Police. The accident occurred, according to Trooper Hart, at 3:45 p. m. yesterday about one mile north of Barton on Route 36.

Kiddy, who was driving alone at the time, was traveling south toward Barton at a high rate of speed, Hart noted. When the auto apparently got out of control it swerved across the highway, plunged through a guardrail and turned over.

The victim was removed to Miners Hospital in an ambulance from Eichhorns Funeral Home in Lonaconing. Pfc. Kiddy, twice-wounded in action in Korea is spending a 30-day furlough at the home of his brother, Harry Kiddy, in Barton.

He arrived in the United States last Thursday and reported to Fort George G. Meade. Pfc. Kiddy had been overseas for about a year and has been in the service two years. Prior to going into the Army he attended Central High School.

Contestants Group Named For Pageant

History Of Beauty Contest Outlined

The contestants committee for the "Miss Western Maryland" beauty pageant to be sponsored here by the Junior Association of Commerce, has been announced by Miles S. Amick, chairman of the event.

Paul R. Morgan is chairman of the contestants committee assisted by George L. Carney, Jr., assistant chairman; William Lowery, Robert E. Shelley, Eugene McCune, W. Dennis Bobo and Leo McGann.

Committee members are contacting area girls who will enter the annual beauty contest this year.

An impressive array of awards has been obtained by James T. Mattingly and Jack Hicks of the awards committee. They reported that many more prizes will be added.

According to Robert E. Moore, publicity director for the local contest, the "Miss Western Maryland" pageant will be held on the stage of the Maryland Theatre at 8:30 p. m., Thursday, June 18.

Seventh Year

Also this year, for the first time since 1948, the 'Miss Maryland" state beauty pageant will be held in Cumberland. Local Jaycees will not be sponsors of the state contest, but it is being handled by a group of civic-minded business and professional men and women, the Miss Maryland Pageant Inc.

This year will mark the seventh consecutive time that the Cumberland Jaycees have sponsored the local pageant. From 1947 to 1949 the pageant was known as the "Miss Cumberland" contest, and later in 1950 the Jaycees widened their scope and expanded the pageant to include both Allegany and Garrett counties. The pageant is now called the "Miss Western Maryland" pageant.

The first beauty pageant held in Cumberland was in 1947 when the Jaycees sponsored both the Miss Cumberland and the Miss Maryland pageants. Miss Jean Dixon, now employed by Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, not only won the local title but also copped the Miss Maryland laurels as well. Prior to her present job at ABL, she worked in the offices of the Allegany County Board of Education.

As in 1947, the local organization in 1948 sponsored both the local and state pageants. Again a Cumberland girl won both titles. She was Miss Juanita Lookabaugh, now Mrs. Juanita Bucy, who is employed as an operator at the local Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

History Of Pageant

The following year the Miss Maryland Pageant was held in Hagerstown where Miss Nadine Atkinson represented Cumberland after winning the local competition. She is the wife of Woodward Gurley, this city.

Miss Barbara Fulton won the Miss Cumberland of 1950 honors and represented this city at the state contest in Baltimore. Miss Fulton is now Mrs. Barbara Davies and no longer resides in Cumberland.

The first Miss Western Maryland was Miss Patricia Engle who at present is working in Washington. A Frostburg girl, Miss Engle represented both the Cumberland and Frostburg Jaycees in a joint effort in the state competion, but failed to bring home the state title.

Last year's Miss Western Maryland was Miss Lorraine Sager, of Piedmont, who just missed being Miss Maryland when she appeared in the state finals last June. Later last summer, Miss Sager, as special envoy of Mayor Roy W. Eve, traveled several thousands of miles to nearby cities and states to help make the Greater Cumberland Exposition the success that it was.

Jaycees this year anticipate another great year for the Miss Western Maryland contest.

Fire Company Purchases Pump

North Branch District No. 16 Volunteer Fire Company, with its auxiliary, is conducting a campaign this week to raise funds to purchase a new pump for its fire truck, Delbert R. Valentine, secretary, said last night.

The new pump is being installed on the truck in Washington, D. C., Valentine stated, at a cost of $2,100, along with additional lights and other equipment.

The pump is the latest model for fighting fires and is approved by Underwriters, Valentine continued.

When the installation is completed and the truck is finally approved by the Underwriters it will bring a reduction in fire insurance rates to homes and property within a four-mile radius of the fire hall at North Branch.

District No. 16 Fire Company serves a wide area from South Cumberland to Paw Paw, W. Va.

Following the campaign for funds a cafeteria supper will be served at the fire hall at North Branch, April 16.

Allegany Girl Finishes Second

Janet Ridgeley, sophomore student at Allegany High School, tied with Pat Thomas of Westminster for second place honors last night in the Western Maryland oratory contest held in Hagerstown.

Miss Marguerite Boychers of Westminster High School was adjudged the winner in the speaking contest held at South Potomac Street Junior High School auditorium in the Washington County city.

Miss Ridgeley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Ridgeley, 328 Fayette Street.

Miss Boychers will take part in the state semi-finals at Baltimore April 21.

The subject of the orations was "John Marshall," who was a noted member of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Judges for the affair were Miss Rose Zetzer, Baltimore, and Jesse Gawthrop.

Fire Alarm Box Placed In Service

The Fire Department has placed a new alarm box at Jane Frazier Village into service, Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker announced yesterday.

The box, No. 647, was placed on the First Street side of the housing project. It will summon South Cumberland Fire Company on its first alarm.

Chief Parker said a number of auxiliary fire alarm boxes will be installed later and hooked to the master box.

Instructors Are Announced For Regional Fire Schools

Instructors for the two regional schools planned in the Frostburg Fire Department headquarters on April 19 and May 3 have been announced by Robert C. Byrus, director of Fire Service Extension of the University of Maryland.

Class sessions to be held from 9 a. m. to 12 noon will have the following phases of fire fighting and instructors:

Pump Operation, Chief M. E. McBride and Don Battersby, Takoma Park; Rescue Practices, Robert Creaghan, Maryland Civil Defense, Pikesville; Ladder Evolutions, Chief T. Weston Scott, Cottage City.

Hose Evolutions, Cromwell Zembower, LaVale, past state president of State Firemen's Association; Behavior of Fire, W. Thomas Owens, senior instructor, University of Maryland; Use of Gas Masks, Curtis C. Larrimore, senior instructor of the University.

Registrants may select any one of the classes. During the afternoon large scale demonstrations of rescue, first aid, relay pumping and fire fighting will be held.

In commenting on the schools being held throughout the state for the benefit of all firemen, Director Byrus said they are "in the interest of keeping Maryland tops in firemanship training."

Guesses On Tax Rate Premature, Mayor Eves Says

Budget Trimming To Be Requested

What will Cumberland's 1953-54 tax rate be?

Mayor Roy W. Eves says "nobody knows."

Nobody has enough knowledge at present, he adds, to forecast what the rate will be when the levy is set in August.

By law, the city must set its tax levy by August 25 and it is such a thorny problem that it is rare that the final decision is made much ahead of the deadline.

Each commissioner, the mayor said, will be asked to trim his budget as much as possible.

Must Furnish Services

He warned, however, that the city is obligated to furnish certain vital services to its citizens and that the cost of providing these services is increasing on a par with other costs.

The commissioners, he said, are not going to gain the favor of the public by lowering taxes when such economies would be detrimental to the best interests of the city.

The city is committed to find some $15,000 in next year's budget to pay for a new fire truck ordered for South Cumberland Fire Company.

Based on the $69,000,000 assessments within the city, this would amount to about 2¼ cents on the tax rate since one cent raises about $6,900.

Can't Predict Surplus

Mayor Eves said the payment for the truck may not increase the tax rate by that amount if the cost of the equipment is offset by economies in operation.

There is no basis at present, the mayor said, for any exact predictions on the tax rate.

One of the difficulties of speculating on the budget figure, he said, is that nobody knows what the surplus for the current year will be, and will not know until June, when all of the state-shared funds are in.

The city began its present fiscal year with an $88,000 surplus.

Debt Levy Clearer

The picture is clearer for the cost of servicing the city's debt during the coming fiscal year.

Without adding new bond issues authorized by the General Assembly, the cost of debt service will be about the same as last year and about two cents more if bonds are sold for the $350,000 traffic improvement and $150,000 for the Industrial Boulevard.

Here is the debt service picture as outlined by Arthur B. Gibson, city attorney.

During the 1953-54 fiscal year,

Grand Jury May Not End Action Until Thursday

After the Grand Jury for the April term of Allegany County Circuit Court wound up its second day of investigation into county crime shortly before 4 p. m. yesterday, it appeared virtually certain that it will not complete its function before Thursday.

Witnesses have been summoned to appear before the Grand Jury both today and tomorrow. Three or four indictments were returned by the Grand Jury yesterday.

Two Indictments

Two indictments were placed on the open docket yesterday, thereby making them public record.

Indicted for armed robbery is Donald Lee Crabtree, 28-year-old former Cumberlander, who is accused of holding up a store operated by Nick Cyzick at 701 Maryland Avenue last January 22.

Working in the store alone at the time was Barbara Cyzick, 14-year-old daughter of the store owner. The girl told police that a man came into the store and after asking for a package of cigarets, placed one hand into the pocket of his overcoat.

"He pulled out a gun and ordered me to open the cash register," the girl told police. "Why do you want to do that?" the girl asked. She also said she became frightened and placed her hands over her face.

The girl edged towards the rear of the building where her parents were watching television in their living room. When the man again demanded money and threatened to shoot if she didn't get it or if she screamed, Barbara turned quickly and ran for help to her father and mother. She screamed as she got to the living room.

Arrested Quickly

Mrs. Cyzick came to the doorway and saw a slim, dark-haired man rifling the cash register. He took $67.

Crabtree was arrested several hours later at the home of Jo Ann Valentine on Union Street, after she and Crabtree's wife, Mrs. Georgia Crabtree, were intercepted by Officer Roy Hawse as they entered a car which the policeman had under surveillance near the scene of the crime.

Also indicted was Theodore Eugene Brelsford, 23-year old Short Gap, W. Va., soldier, charged with robbery in a purse snatching which occurred February 24 at Virginia Avenue and Fourth Street. Brelsford, a former military policeman who had been AWOL since early January, was caught by South End residents a short time after he allegedly snatched the purse of Mrs. Helen Stallings, 58, of 204 Thomas Street. The purse contained $10.

McKeldin Praises Accomplishments Of Legislature

Registers Approval Of Road Program

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 7 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin today gave a "well done" to the 1953 General Assembly, but at the same time indicated he did not agree with all its acts and expressed disappointment in the failure of several pet proposals.

He registered prime approval of its adoption—with modifications—of a multi-million dollar roads program "that should give us one of the best state highway systems in the nation."

He didn't refer in any way to the dog-eat-dog scrap that developed in the pre-dawn hours today when the big roads program teetered in the balance of several amendments tacked on by wrathful Democratic senators.

Amendments Fail

The amendments failed, and the revised 12-year roads program went through, but not before Senate Majority Leader Goldstein (D-Calvert) viciously denounced the state roads commission, bond buyers and "big contractors" for, he said, deceiving the counties in what they are supposed to get out of it.

What really aroused Goldstein's ire was the Senate's rejection of a Finance Committee amendment which would have transferred state police expenses from highway funds and to the general fund.

The bitter wrangle in the Senate went on until 6:25 a.m., forcing the time-honored maneuver of "turning back the clock" to remain in the legislative day of April 6—last constitutional day of the session.

And while they wrangled, the House impatiently sat on its hands. Much quicker moving throughout the session, the delegates were cleaned up hours before and didn't hesitate to register their disgust at "the gentlemen's debating society" across the main corridor.

Kill Pet Projects

Finally, at 5:55 a.m., the delegates closed shop and went home, satisfied the Senate could not then undo any of their work.

The strained feelings between the two houses began long before last night. Mostly it was based on the treatment one gave to the other's pet projects.

The House, for example, killed the automatic tax reduction plan, which was mothered through the Senate by the 11 insurgent Democrats.

The plan would have used budget surpluses to reduce taxes on income and property instead of permitting the left-over funds to carry over to the next fiscal year. Majority Leader Logan (D-Caroline), whose Ways and Means Committee gave the Senate bill an unfavorable report, objected to "dedicating for a time the manner in which tax reduction will be effected."

And the Senate, without objection

Observer Corps Outpost Set Up At Bedford Road

24-Hour Watch To Be Maintained

Residents of Bedford Road area unanimously voted last night to accept the sixth outpost in Allegany County's Ground Observer Corps, Charles G. Smith, county co-ordinator said last night.

Following a meeting held last night in the Bedford Road fire hall, plans were made to establish the outpost at White's Service Station at the intersection of Lake Gordon Road. The new station in the GOC will be known as State Line post, Smith said.

An enthusiastic gathering attended the meeting as the county's full quota of six units was established. "It gives us a straight shot across the county," Smith added.

Previous plans of the 26th Air Defense Group of the Eastern Air Defense Command at Roslyn Field, N. Y., of which the Allegany County GOC is a part, called for the post to be established in Flintstone, Smith revealed, but because of the shortage of manpower there the county cor-ordinator was able to get permission to move the outpost to another locale and the Bedford Road site was selected.

Ray Deremer, assistant co-ordinator, presented plans for the organization of the outpost to those attending the meeting and the group voted unanimously to accept the position. A movie, "Air Defense," was shown and a question and answer period followed talks by Deremer and Smith.

A meeting will be held at the volunteer fire hall Sunday, April 26, at 3 p. m. to complete organization plans for the new unit, Smith continued.

Attending the meeting from Bedford Road were Frederick Roberts, president of the Fire Company; Frederick Purnell, fire chief; Mrs. Helen Wilson, fire company auxiliary; Mrs. Fred Purnell, representing Union Grove Homemakers; Nelson Robinson, George Ward, Playford Aldridge, Mrs. Eula Mortzfeldt, Mrs. Shirley Ward, Mrs. Mildred Brady, Mrs. Evelyn Borgman, Mrs. Helen Wilson, Mrs. Thorna Tewell, Mrs. Mary Koontz, Mrs. Effie Charles, Mrs. Mary Betts, Walter Brady, David Wilson, Albert Smouse, and Miss Sandy Borgman.

A 24-hour watch will be maintained at the outpost upon its completion, Smith concluded.

Police Probe Dynamite Caps Theft At Mine

Authorities late last night continued an investigation to find 96 dynamite caps stolen Monday night from the Hughes Mining Company property, near Midland.

Deputy Sheriff William E. "Scotty" Orr said the possessor of the caps is in much danger. Orr feared that the breaking and entering was committed by youths in that area, and they may not realize the danger in handling the caps.

He explained the explosives are the type which can be detonated when placed near heat. Also they will explode when probed with a sharp instrument or hit by a sharp blow.

The deputy sheriff said in addition to the caps, the thieves also took 25 pounds of carbide, used by miners in their head lanterns for visibility while working. The chemical throws off a combustible vapor when dampened by water.

Investigation last night at the mine showed that the breaking and entering was relative to other thefts occurring at the property several months ago. Orr said the pattern of gaining entrance and footprints indicated youths were responsible.

Orr added that in the past, there have been several breaking and enterings at the Midland mine and that mostly mining tools had been stolen.

Also working on the case is County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya.

Police recalled that two Corriganville boys were fatally injured last year when dynamite caps they obtained at a quarry near their homes exploded. One of the boys was killed instantly and the other died a few days later.

An urgent appeal is being made by police authorities to residents of the Midland area to do everything they can in helping track down the explosives. If they know of any boys who may have been in the vicinity they should attempt to ascertain if they were involved, police stated.

Police said they are not as much interested in finding out who the boys are as they are in trying to prevent a tragedy. The ones who took the dynamite caps are warned to notify police where the explosives are so that no injury or death is incurred by careless handling of the material.

Conservation Tour For County's School Teachers Planned In May

A conservation tour which will take Allegany County's nearly 600 public school teachers through much of the county east of Cumberland was planned at a meeting of conservation officials yesterday morning.

The teachers will meet at Fort Hill High School at 9:45 a. m., Saturday, May 9, to begin their tour. Martin M. Gordon, Soil Conservation aide, disclosed that they will leave the school at 10 a. m. and follow a route that will take them over Baltimore Pike, Christie Road, Williams Road and Murley's Branch Road to Flintstone.

Timber Markings

While making this trip to Flintstone the teachers will be shown timber which has been marked for cutting by employes of the State Department of Forests and Parks. They also will see at least three illustrations of serious soil erosion. Practices to counteract soil erosion such as contour strip cropping, pasture management, tile drainage, farm ponds and reforestation will be pointed out to the teachers along with spots of scenic beauty.

At Flintstone High School the touring teachers will stop for a hot lunch at 12:30 p. m. From there they will travel east on Baltimore Pike to the Green Ridge State Forest. On the way they will stop briefly to see a sub-soiling demonstration.

Forest Highlights

In the State Forest the instructors will see wildlife food patches, wild turkeys in mating pens and also the right-of-way along a power line which has been seeded by employes of the State Game and Inland Fish Commission. The tour will end about 3:30 p. m.

Details for the tour were mapped out at a meeting at the Soil Conservation Service office, 37 Washington Street, yesterday morning. Attending besides Gordon were Charles Ellington, extension conservationist; Fred Bull, secretary of the state conservation committee; Byron Ashbaugh of the State Department of Education and Research; Dale Arner of the Game and Inland Fish Commission; Harry Hartman, assistant district forester, and Kenneth M. Stone, soil scientist.

Ellington, Bull, Ashbaugh and Arner will meet with William W. Nace, soil conservationist in Garrett County, at Oakland this morning to plan a similar conservation tour for Garrett County teachers Saturday, May 16.

Carver School Rec Program To Be Discussed Thursday

Plans for co-ordinating the recreational facilities of Carver School will be discussed at a meeting Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall Auditorium.

Earl L. Bracey, principal of the school, who will act as chairman, has asked city officials, school administrators, preachers, teachers and parents to attend the conference.

There is evidence, Bracey said, that the need for directed activities of the Carver students is very great.

Much grief is bound to come to many homes and the community, he added, if plans are not made for the proper use of leisure time of the young people.

Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, said plans are already underway to expand the city's recreational program for students of the school.

The department plans to station a leader at the Carver School Playground when the Benjamin Banneker Housing Development, the colored public housing unit, opens and creates a need for a summer playground program in the Frederick Street area.

The usual program will be continued at the Pine Avenue Playground.

Plans are also underway, Pence said, to sponsor a Teen Age Club at Carver High chool on Friday or Saturday nights when qualified leaders are available.

Four Boys Get Sentenced In Car Theft Case

Two Nine-Month Terms Suspended

Four of six boys, involved in a theft of four autos and wrecking two, were each sentenced to nine months in the Maryland House of Correction yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court on charges of unauthorized use of motor vehicles.

The four sentenced were Joseph Edward Dorsey, 20, of Mt. Savage; John Riley Welch, 18, of RD 1, Oldtown; Richard Lee Gray, 16, of 506 Linden Street, and Richard Lee Spencer, 17, of 303 Decatur Street.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick suspended sentences of two boys, Gray and Spencer, and put them on probation. Dorsey and Welch were taken to Allegany County Jail yesterday.

Two To Get Hearing

Two other 15-year-old youths involved in the case will be given hearings in Allegany County Juvenile Court Saturday morning, authorities said.

The youths were arrested Friday and later signed statements admitting the thefts. Police said the boys had stolen four cars in less than three days and wrecked two of the vehicles while joy-riding.

Arrests were brought about as a result of co-operation between patrolmen and detectives after a rifle target which an officer had given to one of the boys was found in a stolen car.

Working on the case were Detective Leo E. P. Law, Lt. James E. Van, head of the Detective Bureau; Officer Charles W. Thompson, Officer Walter P. Dennison, Detective Roy C. Hawse and Officer Gordon Hite.

Police got their first lead in the case when a car stolen last Tuesday night from Robert Schultz, 38 South Street, was discovered and a paper rifle target was found inside. Officer Thompson had given a batch of the targets of that type to a boy who had asked for them a few days before. Thompson operates a shooting gallery on North Mechanic Street.

One of the youths admitted stealing the car and told police he and three companions drove the auto around Cumberland for several hours before leaving it on North Mechanic Street early last Wednesday. Later police picked up the other boys.

Wreck Auto

Authorities said the boys admitted stealing a 1949 sedan owned by Donald Hite, Corriganville, from a parking lot in South Cumberland Wednesday night.

The group drove to Keyser, W. Va., where they picked up another 1949 car which attracted the attention of a policeman when they drove across the Keyser-McCoole bridge into Maryland without headlights.

Police added that when the officer gave chase, they abandoned the car and returned to the vehicle they had stolen earlier and sped back toward Cumberland.

On the way, the boys said, a tractor-trailer forced them off the road at Pinto while they were traveling at about 95 miles an hour. The car left the road and struck a utility pole. None of the boys was injured but the car was demolished. State Police found it a few hours later and notified the owner.

Meanwhile, the boys had hiked through the woods to Cresaptown where they stole a car owned by Paul Schramm of Cresaptown. One of the boys drove the other youths to their homes in Cumberland and the Mt. Savage area and then turned the car over to another companion.

It was found wrecked at the canal bridge in Oldtown last Thursday.

Korean War Vet Is Injured In Highway Crash

Pfc. Paul Kiddy Taken To Miners Hospital

A Korean War veteran spending a furlough at the home of his brother in Barton was hospitalized yesterday afternoon following an automobile accident near that community.

Admitted to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, was Pfc. Paul Kiddy, 20, who was reported to have suffered two fractured arms. His condition, according to attaches, was "good" last night.

Investigating the accident is Trooper Milton J. Hart of the Maryland State Police. The accident occurred, according to Trooper Hart, at 3:45 p. m. yesterday about one mile north of Barton on Route 36.

Kiddy, who was driving alone at the time, was traveling south toward Barton at a high rate of speed, Hart noted. When the auto apparently got out of control it swerved across the highway, plunged through a guardrail and turned over.

The victim was removed to Miners Hospital in an ambulance from Eichhorns Funeral Home in Lonaconing. Pfc. Kiddy, twice-wounded in action in Korea is spending a 30-day furlough at the home of his brother, Harry Kiddy, in Barton.

He arrived in the United States last Thursday and reported to Fort George G. Meade. Pfc. Kiddy had been overseas for about a year and has been in the service two years. Prior to going into the Army he attended Central High School.

Contestants Group Named For Pageant

History Of Beauty Contest Outlined

The contestants committee for the "Miss Western Maryland" beauty pageant to be sponsored here by the Junior Association of Commerce, has been announced by Miles S. Amick, chairman of the event.

Paul R. Morgan is chairman of the contestants committee assisted by George L. Carney, Jr., assistant chairman; William Lowery, Robert E. Shelley, Eugene McCune, W. Dennis Bobo and Leo McGann.

Committee members are contacting area girls who will enter the annual beauty contest this year.

An impressive array of awards has been obtained by James T. Mattingly and Jack Hicks of the awards committee. They reported that many more prizes will be added.

According to Robert E. Moore, publicity director for the local contest, the "Miss Western Maryland" pageant will be held on the stage of the Maryland Theatre at 8:30 p. m., Thursday, June 18.

Seventh Year

Also this year, for the first time since 1948, the 'Miss Maryland" state beauty pageant will be held in Cumberland. Local Jaycees will not be sponsors of the state contest, but it is being handled by a group of civic-minded business and professional men and women, the Miss Maryland Pageant Inc.

This year will mark the seventh consecutive time that the Cumberland Jaycees have sponsored the local pageant. From 1947 to 1949 the pageant was known as the "Miss Cumberland" contest, and later in 1950 the Jaycees widened their scope and expanded the pageant to include both Allegany and Garrett counties. The pageant is now called the "Miss Western Maryland" pageant.

The first beauty pageant held in Cumberland was in 1947 when the Jaycees sponsored both the Miss Cumberland and the Miss Maryland pageants. Miss Jean Dixon, now employed by Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, not only won the local title but also copped the Miss Maryland laurels as well. Prior to her present job at ABL, she worked in the offices of the Allegany County Board of Education.

As in 1947, the local organization in 1948 sponsored both the local and state pageants. Again a Cumberland girl won both titles. She was Miss Juanita Lookabaugh, now Mrs. Juanita Bucy, who is employed as an operator at the local Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

History Of Pageant

The following year the Miss Maryland Pageant was held in Hagerstown where Miss Nadine Atkinson represented Cumberland after winning the local competition. She is the wife of Woodward Gurley, this city.

Miss Barbara Fulton won the Miss Cumberland of 1950 honors and represented this city at the state contest in Baltimore. Miss Fulton is now Mrs. Barbara Davies and no longer resides in Cumberland.

The first Miss Western Maryland was Miss Patricia Engle who at present is working in Washington. A Frostburg girl, Miss Engle represented both the Cumberland and Frostburg Jaycees in a joint effort in the state competion, but failed to bring home the state title.

Last year's Miss Western Maryland was Miss Lorraine Sager, of Piedmont, who just missed being Miss Maryland when she appeared in the state finals last June. Later last summer, Miss Sager, as special envoy of Mayor Roy W. Eve, traveled several thousands of miles to nearby cities and states to help make the Greater Cumberland Exposition the success that it was.

Jaycees this year anticipate another great year for the Miss Western Maryland contest.

Fire Company Purchases Pump

North Branch District No. 16 Volunteer Fire Company, with its auxiliary, is conducting a campaign this week to raise funds to purchase a new pump for its fire truck, Delbert R. Valentine, secretary, said last night.

The new pump is being installed on the truck in Washington, D. C., Valentine stated, at a cost of $2,100, along with additional lights and other equipment.

The pump is the latest model for fighting fires and is approved by Underwriters, Valentine continued.

When the installation is completed and the truck is finally approved by the Underwriters it will bring a reduction in fire insurance rates to homes and property within a four-mile radius of the fire hall at North Branch.

District No. 16 Fire Company serves a wide area from South Cumberland to Paw Paw, W. Va.

Guesses On Tax Rate Premature, Mayor Eves Says

Budget Trimming To Be Requested

What will Cumberland's 1953-54 tax rate be?

Mayor Roy W. Eves says "nobody knows."

Nobody has enough knowledge at present, he adds, to forecast what the rate will be when the levy is set in August.

By law, the city must set its tax levy by August 25 and it is such a thorny problem that it is rare that the final decision is made much ahead of the deadline.

Each commissioner, the mayor said, will be asked to trim his budget as much as possible.

Must Furnish Services

He warned, however, that the city is obligated to furnish certain vital services to its citizens and that the cost of providing these services is increasing on a par with other costs.

The commissioners, he said, are not going to gain the favor of the public by lowering taxes when such economies would be detrimental to the best interests of the city.

The city is committed to find some $15,000 in next year's budget to pay for a new fire truck ordered for South Cumberland Fire Company.

Based on the $69,000,000 assessments within the city, this would amount to about 2¼ cents on the tax rate since one cent raises about $6,900.

Can't Predict Surplus

Mayor Eves said the payment for the truck may not increase the tax rate by that amount if the cost of the equipment is offset by economies in operation.

There is no basis at present, the mayor said, for any exact predictions on the tax rate.

One of the difficulties of speculating on the budget figure, he said, is that nobody knows what the surplus for the current year will be, and will not know until June, when all of the state-shared funds are in.

The city began its present fiscal year with an $88,000 surplus.

Debt Levy Clearer

The picture is clearer for the cost of servicing the city's debt during the coming fiscal year.

Without adding new bond issues authorized by the General Assembly, the cost of debt service will be about the same as last year and about two cents more if bonds are sold for the $350,000 traffic improvement and $150,000 for the Industrial Boulevard.

Here is the debt service picture as outlined by Arthur B. Gibson, city attorney.

During the 1953-54 fiscal year,

Grand Jury May Not End Action Until Thursday

After the Grand Jury for the April term of Allegany County Circuit Court wound up its second day of investigation into county crime shortly before 4 p. m. yesterday, it appeared virtually certain that it will not complete its function before Thursday.

Witnesses have been summoned to appear before the Grand Jury both today and tomorrow. Three or four indictments were returned by the Grand Jury yesterday.

Two Indictments

Two indictments were placed on the open docket yesterday, thereby making them public record.

Indicted for armed robbery is Donald Lee Crabtree, 28-year-old former Cumberlander, who is accused of holding up a store operated by Nick Cyzick at 701 Maryland Avenue last January 22.

Working in the store alone at the time was Barbara Cyzick, 14-year-old daughter of the store owner. The girl told police that a man came into the store and after asking for a package of cigarets, placed one hand into the pocket of his overcoat.

"He pulled out a gun and ordered me to open the cash register," the girl told police. "Why do you want to do that?" the girl asked. She also said she became frightened and placed her hands over her face.

The girl edged towards the rear of the building where her parents were watching television in their living room. When the man again demanded money and threatened to shoot if she didn't get it or if she screamed, Barbara turned quickly and ran for help to her father and mother. She screamed as she got to the living room.

Arrested Quickly

Mrs. Cyzick came to the doorway and saw a slim, dark-haired man rifling the cash register. He took $67.

Crabtree was arrested several hours later at the home of Jo Ann Valentine on Union Street, after she and Crabtree's wife, Mrs. Georgia Crabtree, were intercepted by Officer Roy Hawse as they entered a car which the policeman had under surveillance near the scene of the crime.

Also indicted was Theodore Eugene Brelsford, 23-year old Short Gap, W. Va., soldier, charged with robbery in a purse snatching which occurred February 24 at Virginia Avenue and Fourth Street. Brelsford, a former military policeman who had been AWOL since early January, was caught by South End residents a short time after he allegedly snatched the purse of Mrs. Helen Stallings, 58, of 204 Thomas Street. The purse contained $10.
